THE ROOMING PROBLEM

Some time ago when there was an apparent scarcity of rooms for women students in Lincoln, some of the papers in the state took advantage of the news to write editorials which were misleading, and harmful to the university.

At first there was some doubt as to the possibilities for ample accommodations, but at present every woman will be able to secure desirable rooms.

Registration should head the list of "tests of a good nature."

The extra edition of The Daily Nebraskan yesterday afternoon is a proof of the efficiency of the staff. This is the first time in the history of the paper that there have been both morning and afternoon editions during registration week. When two editions of a school paper are seen in one day it's a pretty good sign.

The football record of the University of Nebraska is known in every corner of the country, and every year with the coming of new triumphs, there are added perils that would take away the wonderful reputation.

Defeat is the ever-present shadow of success, and it is not too early to begin to prepare for the most important football season ever scheduled.

Freshman caps are worn by the men students in many of the larger colleges and universities in the country, with the result that there is a better unity and friendliness than there would be without. At Nebraska some wear the little green caps, and again, some do not, because of so-called modesty—dislike of being conspicuous. A freshman is the most important person in school and should be conspicuous. Every freshman at Nebraska should wear the cap that will give him a better opportunity to enjoy the best of everything that any education may offer—unlimited friendship.

The University of Nebraska needs a permanent athletic stadium. With the growth of the school and the increased importance that the university takes, each year, in the world of sports, there should be a well-built stadium for the benefit of not only the present generation, but also the ones in the years to come.

No organization should exist if it cannot justify its existence.

The tragedy of a man's ignorance is his ignorance of it.

"A pipe course" seems to be one of those things that everyone is looking for but cannot find.

NON COMPUS MENTIS

Heard in Wyoming: "How far is it between mile-stones?"

Freshman: "What's the difference between open rushing and closed rushing?"

Fraternity man: "Open rushing is when you take a man down town to eat, and closed rushing is when you take him to the house."

Now that summer's over,
And the grind begun,
Some things are beginning,
Others are just done.

No more climbing mountains,
No more swimmin' in the creek—
No more doing daily chores,
This is registration week.

But, there's sittin' on the benches
Rushin' other people's girls,
And there's all the hops and dances
In the so-called social world.

And again there's nights of crammin',
Sessions with the midnight oil,
For the teacher who'll examine
Convolutions earned by toil.

But 'tis thus where e'er we're roamin'
We'll find work and we'll find play,
So just smile and keep a goin'
On this registration day.

If you want something to do, count
the number of times you see a man
shake hands with another man and ask the sensible question, "Oh, are you back?"

LEGISLATION AND BILL DRAFTING COURSES

The Nebraska legislature meets in January. The department of political science and the Nebraska legislative reference bureau offer courses designed to equip students in knowledge of legislative methods, including bill drafting, preparation of material for legislation, and legal requirements in the enactment of statute law. These courses are especially desirable for law students and those planning for public service and active political careers. The following courses are offered:

Pol. Sci. 23. Theory and practice of legislation. Ayisworth, Sheldon. This course covers the literature of legislation, its theories and practical application of them.

Pol. Sci. 41. Legislative bill drafting. Ayisworth, Sheldon. This course gives technical training in the forms and legal requirements used in framing bills for enactment into law.

Am. Hist. 33. Practical legislation: Nebraska problems. Sheldon. This course consists in actual work under the direction of the legislative reference bureau at the State House during the session of the legislature. First meeting of this class will be held the first week in January. It may be registered for now or later in the semester. The class meets from 7 to 9 Thursday evenings for lectures and quiz. Students are required to report at least one day in the work, to be selected by each student, for assignment of research and other forms of practical work connected with the legislative session. It is desirable that students in this course should take courses 23 and 41, if possible, in order to be prepared for the actual work in connection with the legislature.

PROF. HRBKOVA AT BOHEMIAN COUNCIL

Attended Biennial Meeting of Society During Summer

Prof. Sarka Hrbkova of the department of Slavonic languages and literatures, returned to the university Tuesday. At the close of the summer session she went to Cedar Rapids, Ia., there to visit her mother and other relatives. The latter part of her vacation she was in Michigan, and a short time in Chicago. At Alma and Saginaw, Mich., she delivered addresses on "Through Slavic Lands."

In August she attended the biennial meeting of the Bohemian council of higher education, an organization whose purpose it is to assist worthy Bohemian young men and women to gain an education, of which she is vice-president. This organization now has an available loan fund of about $35,000. Several Nebraska students have in the past been given assistance by the council.

PREDICTION MADE BY DAVID STARR JORDAN.

Stanford University, Calif.—That definite plans were outlined at recent conferences between President Wilson and peace advocates for bringing about peace in Europe was the declaration made by Chancellor David Starr Jordan of Stanford university, who has just returned from Washington. According to Doctor Jordan the conference agreed that any one of three plans would be feasible:

1—A congress of executives of neutral nations might take the lead in bringing the belligerents of Europe together.

2—Congress might appoint representatives to meet with representatives of other neutral countries to act.

3—The United States might act independently.

"It is probable," says Doctor Jordan, "that the president and congress will join in a peace movement, which will not come, however, for several months, as the entrance of Greece and Rumania into the war has given hope of victory to the allies."

Doctor Jordan said he looked for peace within six months. The movement for peace he said, must come from the United States.

BACK AGAIN

When September's cooling breezes,
Play thru the yellowing grass;
When the birds soon lose their twitter
And lost is the hot wind's lash;
When the blood needs circulation
And our summer love we've sang,
'Tis time to close vacation,
And go back and see the gang.

To us the joys of meeting
All our friendships warm unfold,
And the love of school and autumn
New and greater friendships mold.
Yet strangers walk about the campus;
Others sit in seats of power,
And the budding blooms of last year
Now have blossomed into flower.

Still there's a note of sadness in it,
There is something that we lack,
'Tis the faces and the handshakes
Of the ones who can't come back;
Gone are those familiar figures,
Each has run his little race;
Only the dim ghosts of remembrance
Haunt the shadows of their place.

So each year brings forth its offering
Of the school joys that we know
Yet there's mingled in this gladness
The fond thots for them that go.
Our time may be next in waiting,
Though the sorrows now we lack;
When autumn's winds again are blowing
We'll be the one's who can't come back.

RUSHING

Girls ain't it awful,
I've found a lot of dope,
How suicide ain't going anything
And we haven't the least hope.
And say, you know the Thetas
Got a bunch of girls hid;
And Alpha Phi was rushing
And got a lot of people hid.
Gee, I heard a Kappa
Tell another on the street,
That they simply had them going
And the girls were awfully sweet.
Honest now, the D. G.'s are saying,
They have got all the class
While Pi Phis are announcing
That they've spiked some dandy lass;
And others in confidential whispers
Pat each other on the back.
If they didn't start for rush week
They'd be sure to hold the sack.
So the maidens all are ready,
And the cellar gang is hid,
While the other's pursue freshmen
To give them the best gang's kid.

TRYOUTS FOR PLACES IN THE CADET BAND

Tryouts for the university cadet band will be held at the Temple theatre, Thursday and Friday evenings at 5 o'clock. New men, wishing to try out, are asked to bring their instruments and report at the time and place mentioned.

Competition for places in the band is expected to be keen, the organization having earned the title of the best college band in the country in recent years. The possibility that the band will make the trip to the Oregon agricultural college-Nebraska university football game at Portland, Ore., October 21, is an added incentive for the men to strive for places.

FRESHMEN MASS MEETING SUNDAY IN THE TEMPLE

A mass meeting for all men in the freshman class will be held at the Temple theatre, Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, under the auspices of the University Y. M. C. A. and under the direct charge of Rev. R. A. Waite, of the First Congregational church of Lincoln, former international boys' secretary of the Y. M. C. A.

The meeting is called for the purpose of getting the freshmen together, helping them in their university problems, and helping them get acquainted with each other. In addition to Reverend Waite, a number of prominent students will give addresses to the men.

New Thermostat

A new thermostat has been installed in the agricultural chemistry department.

UNI DIRECTORY COMING NEXT MONTH

The university directory, containing a complete list of students and faculty for the present semester, giving addresses, telephone numbers, home towns, year in school and college, as well as other affiliations, will be published early in October, according to the Y. M. C. A. cabinet chairman in charge of the publication.

The directory will follow the same general lines of last year's book, a few improvements being made. The price of the book will be 20 cents. Sixteen hundred copies will be printed, but the forms will be held for a few days so that more can be run off if the demand exceeds the first supply.

OPPONENTS OF A DRY STATE AGAIN AFTER PUBLICITY

With publication of The Nebraskan resumed, the mail that has been coming to the editor's desk has again become loaded with publicity matter sent out by various organizations who are opposing the constitutional amendment for the prohibition of the manufacture and sale of liquor in Nebraska, that will be voted upon this fall.

Up to this writing the dry forces have either failed to consider the university vote as large enough to affect the issue, or have preferred not to try to get free publicity through the columns of The Nebraskan, as none of the literature of the different temperance associations has so far been received at the office.

3,000 Visitors

It was estimated that 3,000 people visited the farm campus during fair week.
