Offices: News, Basement, University Hall; Business, Basement, Administration Building.

Telephones: News, L-4841; Business, B-2597.

Published every day during the college year. Subscription, per semester, $1.

Entered at the postoffice at Lincoln, Nebraska, as second class mail matter under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

The organization of the Iowa Daily News is another advance in the general trend to ownership and control of university publications by university students. This seems to be the latest instance of the kind and by the thoroughness of the plans for organization and administration it should meet with the usual success.

Bargains seem to be the popular thing nowadays. The student athletic tickets go on sale today for $4, which—if a student attends every athletic event during the year—is a saving of $14.75! Students should take advantage to be loyal to Nebraska and at the same time, to save their money—for it is an education to learn the ways of economy as well as the ways of the ancients, or the stories of the stars.

An effort is being made to establish a school of journalism at the University of Nebraska, and though there are only a very limited number of journalism courses in the university at present, the list in Wednesday's Nebraskan of well-known editors who will address journalism courses during the year, shows the keen interest and co-operation of the newspaper men throughout the state. They evidently believe an institutional training in journalism to be practical.

Lincoln churches will hold receptions for all university students one week from tonight. This is a custom which is growing in popularity, and which throws light on one more phase of college life.

Most freshmen hypnotize themselves into believing that they are being watched and criticized every minute. They're not being criticized, but they certainly are being watched, and will be until it's been decided whether they are worth the watching or not.

Awaiting In the Line

I've waited for a girl
Put on her party gown,
I've waited for a local
To take me back to town,
I've waited for a room-mate
Bring back a coat of mine,
But that is 2:10 pacing
Besides the registration line.

You begin to wait before you start,
And wait an hour or two
To see just what the registrar
Is going to do with you.
Then wait till your advisor
May decide to come from lunch,
And you stand around his office
While he disposes of a bunch.

You line up before the stenos—
A thirty minute wait,
And when you're there they tell you
"Tomorrow, please, at eight."
You begin bright and early
And bivouac for a stay,
For you can barely see the first one
Three hundred feet away.

You creep along till noonday,
Then hurry home to eat,
And at 2 when you are started
You've forgotten you have feet.
At last you get assignments
And now fees you have to pay;
It's just the same wait over,
For you will spend another day.

I have waited for a dollar
A friend has owed to me,
And a pound box of candy
I never expect to see.
But beside dear Rip Van Winkle
And the Wandering Jew of old,
The registration line
Sure has put such things in the cold.

Chorus
Wait, wait, wait,
From early morn till late;
No move ahead,
Just bring your bed
And camp in style with fate.

SPORT SPARKS

Coaches Stewart and Rutherford are like the famous hounds tugging at their leashes to be off on the scent of another Missouri Valley championship.

The European war will be insignificant in comparison with the battle between the varsity candidates with that Portland trip in sight.

The football season is with us again. With plenty of skinny and big fat men. But the varsity and freshmen will mix and then, The fat will be skinny and the rest will—have been.

If Kansas can prove that they have the best team in the world and we still beat them 30 to 0, what comparison can you make for our team, under the sun?

Corey says that when Nebraska meets Notre Dame all the Irishmen on the two teams will not be playing with the latter. He knows one who will not even be toying with her.

If Coach Stewart does any coaching the first few days he will have to do it by wireless.

The movements of that big fat freshman bunch, accompanied by their grunts and groans, remind us of a line from Grey's famous elegy, "The lowing herd winds slowly o'er the lea."

What's in a name? Just because Jim's last name is Gardiner is no sign that he lets the grass grow around him when he is on the football field.

"Lum" Doyle says that he wouldn't mind the work if they would let him kid around a little.

PRETTY SHOES

Fashion favors pretty shoes and shoes were never prettier than they are this season. Styles that are "youthful"—they make you look youthful and feel youthful to wear them. You will enjoy wearing these beautiful new high shoes.

Fashion says "White Tops" and we have them—the kind that are easily cleaned. We are also showing a new Field Mouse Gray—a gray-brown shade—with white kid laced tops—a very pretty shoe for 7.50 pair.

Fashion says every woman must have at least one pair of colored boots—they need not match the suit—in fact they show to better advantage if they do not. We show a very exceptional selection.

Then we have a handsome boot with black kid vamp and white kid top—and what's prettier, after all, than black and white? We show one style with an exceptionally pretty curved heel at 7.00 pair.

There are a few pairs left of the very special boot with dark brown vamp and white kid tops and covered heel. Very exceptional for 6.50 pair.
