CANDIDATES HEARD FROM AS POLITICAL POT BOILS

CLASS PRESIDENTS TO BE ELECTED IN ONE WEEK

Carl Harnsberger First to Make Definite Announcement—Others are Coming Soon

With the election of class presidents but one week and one day away, the simmerings of the political pot are already being heard on the campus, although thus far there has been but one definite announcement of a candidacy. In this issue of The Daily Nebraskan, Carl W. Harnsberger of Ashland, announces that he is a candidate for election to the sophomore presidency.

But the coming week is expected to bring out all of the class statesmen and their henchmen, to line up the students for this or that man. Mysterious conferences of different groups of men about the campus have been noted, and more interesting announcements are said to be on the way.

The rules governing the class elections, as adopted by the university regents in 1912, provide for an election of the four class presidents the third Tuesday of each semester, exclusive of registration week. The regents have also ordered the Australian ballot system to be used. This plan has worked very successfully in the past few years.

Zest in Game

That the political game will be played with as much zest this fall as in the past, with the possible exception of the senior class, seems almost certain. The interfraternity societies are expected to be as active as usual in boosting candidates, getting them elect, and then distributing the plums among themselves.

Iron Sphinx looms up as a factor that must be reckoned with in both the sophomore and junior classes, especially the former. The Spikes ceased to exist, by order of the interfraternity council, a year ago, but the men who were members of the body in their freshman year have clung together with reasonable persistence, and may be expected to have a hand in the junior election battle.

The Ag club, with its strong membership at the state farm is another body that the campaign managers must take into consideration. The Y. M. C. E., which used to be counted a political force, has ceased to try to do anything in this line for several years, and may be counted out.

Girls a Big Factor

With the girls of the different classes exercising an important if not a deciding voice on the final results, it may well be assumed that the candidates will hasten to line up the different leaders among the co-eds for each other. The best plum that can fall to a girl is the chairmanship of the junior play committee, unless the rewards to the deserving ones are given in different fashion than before.

From the mutterings of the henchmen but one official announcement, that of Harnsberger as mentioned above, has come forth, but other names have been whispered about.

Harold Neff of Omaha, is said to have had his eye on the senior class presidency for a year, and friends have been quoted as positive that he will make the race. Neff will draw his support largely from the agricul-

Mrs. Raymond Has Done Much For Music At Nebraska

MRS. CARRIE B. RAYMOND
Director of music at the university

Mrs. Carrie B. Raymond, director of music in the University of Nebraska, first came to Lincoln to take charge of music at the First Congregational church. She became an active worker in the Oratorio society and for eight years was instrumental in bringing important talent to Lincoln and in promoting the May Festival.

Since 1894 Mrs. Raymond has been connected with the university, first as chorus leader and then as director of music. She was the instigator of the May Festivals of which we have had three. The first one was the Minneapolis Orchestra and the last two have been given by the Damosch Orchestra. This year it is probable that the Minneapolis Orchestra will be here again.

In addition to the concerts given by the eastern orchestras, the university chorus appears at the festival each year. Members of the chorus are given free admission. These festivals should have the hearty support of both the students and the faculty, as the productions are backed by the regents of the university and a large expense is involved.

Mrs. Raymond has had charge of the Glee club for the past three years. Tryouts will probably be held next week. This year, as before, the chorus will give a portion of the "Messiah" and next month "St. John's Eve" will be given at convocation. The solo parts are very likely to be given to university students. Musical programs under the direction of Mrs. Raymond, are given every Thursday morning at convocation.

SCRUBS BEATEN, OUTPLAY VARSITY IN FIRST GAME

SCORE OF 13 TO 6 IN SATURDAY'S GRIDIRON BATTLE

Crowd of 500 Rooters Disappointed in First Team, Which Shows Need of Work

Nebraska, 13; Scrubs, 6. Such was the final score of the game between the scrubs and varsity last Saturday. This score does not show the relative ability of the two teams, for it must be admitted that the scrubs put up much the better game of the two. In practically every position the scrubs had a man who outplayed his opponent at least during the first three quarters.

The game was a real one with three officials, a large crowd and a band present. The officials were Halligan, referee; Hugg, umpire; Towle, head linesman—all three "N" men of the past.

The cause of the poor showing of the varsity was thought, by some, to be a feeling of overconfidence. On the other hand the scrubs, right from the kickoff showed a great amount of fight. The first thing that happened was the tackle of the varsity man by two scrubs before he had gone ten yards. From that time on the scrubs broke up varsity plays, and made good gains through the line and around the ends.

Kellogg a Star

The star of the afternoon was Kellogg of the scrubs. This husky is a very brilliant prospect for future years, not being able to play as he is only a freshman. He is fairly heavy, is very fast and has lots of nerve. He hits the line hard and keeps his feet well. His best performance of the afternoon was grabbing a varsity fumble and racing 60 or 65 yards for a touchdown, easily outrunning all the varsity men, one of whom had an even start with him. Another noteworthy performance was catching Riddell from behind after Ted had picked up a fumble and started away with it.

Pushing Kellogg for honors were Hoadley, the two Kositzys and Halbersleben and Selzer. Hoadley showed up especially well in grabbing passes. He got three altogether for a total of 40 yards. He did all this after he had had a collision with Selzer in which he got his head split open. After he had been in to see Jack Best and got it bound up, he went into the game again and immediately became a star.

On defense the three center linemen were a veritable stone wall. The varsity made some gains, either around the ends, or off tackle, but these three men stopped everything that came their way that even looked like a ball. Ralston, Schellenberg, Hubka, Janda and Halles all showed up well on defense.

Rutherford in Game

The prettiest tackle of the afternoon was made by Rutherford, who substituted for Selzer. The victim of the onslaught was Proctor. Just as he got through the line Dick hit him, head on, and sent the ball bounding away. Dick was also on the flipping end of the three scrub forward passes that were successful.

For the varsity, the work of Doyle, Otoupalik, Riddell and Corey was the feature. Riddell played probably the best game of the bunch, spilling plays and getting into the interference on

DRAMATIC CLUB TRYOUTS TUESDAY

CANDIDATES MUST GIVE CUTTING FROM A PLAY

At Least One Play Will Be Presented During the Year by the Club

The annual tryouts for the University Dramatic club will be held in the Temple theater Tuesday night, October 3. Every student from freshman to senior is eligible for the club if they are accepted by the judges and the announcement of the trials brings a large number of applicants each year.

The club has been organized in the university for many years and was at one time almost the only representative body interested in dramatic work. Miss Alice Howell is permanent president and directs the active work of the club. Club rooms are maintained on the third floor of the Temple building, and the use of the Temple theater is given free of charge for any performance.

Meets Every Month

The Dramatic club meets every month and offers at least one play to the public each year. The organization is for social and professional interests and is limited in membership to those who are considered above the average by the judges at the tryouts.

The only rules governing the tryouts are that the selection must be a cutting from a play and the applicant must register for a special hour before the night of the tryouts. Those who wish to try out should leave their names in U-106 either Tuesday or Thursday morning at convocation hour. Additional information and a list of plays in the University library can be obtained at the same time. The time limit for single persons is three minutes and for groups is five minutes.

UPPERCLASSMEN VISIT TWO-THIRDS OF THE FRESHMAN GIRLS

At least two-thirds of all freshmen girls have already been visited by upperclassmen, and the entire number will be called upon before the month is over. The visiting is being done by the Y. W. C. A. committee, of which Bertha Driftmeier is chairman. The plan that is being worked out is to have every out-of-town girl called upon by an upperclassman, who helps do away with the first tinges of homesickness, and can advise the freshman girl on the university problems that come up during the first week of school.

FOGG LECTURES AT LINCOLN HIGH

Speaks on Journalism—New High School Paper Started

A half hundred students and teachers of English in the Lincoln high school, who are interested in the new weekly newspaper, The Advocate, which the school starts this week, were addressed Friday afternoon by Prof. M. M. Fogg, teacher in journalism at the university, on "The Making of a High School Newspaper." Principal Jesse Newton presided.

Professor Fogg discussed what news is and the kind of news appropriate for a high school paper. He urged the systematic organization of the staff in gathering the news, and he emphasized the writing of the news with accuracy at so fact and form and in a style characterized by cleanness, directness and good taste.

After the address Professor Fogg held a round table conference with the members of the staff and with the faculty supervisor, Miss Charlotte Zumwinkle, '08, and the business manager, H. G. Hewitt, '14, law, '17, teachers of English. The Advocate in its new form will be a five-column four-page publication.

HEWITT ELECTED 1916 INNOCENT

Former Member of Body to Fill Axel Swenson's Place

Homer G. Hewitt, an Innocent during the year of 1914-15, now a senior in the college of law, has been elected a member of the Innocents of this year, to fill the vacancy made by the failure of Axel Swenson to return to school.

By the constitution of the Innocents, when a vacancy occurs, it is filled by the election of a man in college who has already served in the honorary body.

Hewitt has been one of the most prominent of the university students during his five years in school. He was a member of the university debating team, has served on the Y. M. C. A. cabinet, held important positions in other class activities, and last year was colonel of the cadet regiment.

THREE CASH PRIZES OFFERED FOR UNI THESIS

The legislative reference bureau and American history department have joined in supervision of a competitive historical study, whose design is to secure the best thesis upon the University of Nebraska traditions, customs, songs and all that body of lore which makes the unwritten law and institutions of the university. A first prize of $25 will be awarded for the best thesis in this contest; a second prize of $10 and a third prize of $5. The time of expiration of this contest and other details are not yet fixed, but will be announced this fall. Students desiring to compete should consult with Prof. H. W. Caldwell or Director A. E. Sheldon.

HOME EC. CLUB MEETING TUESDAY

First Meeting of Girls Organization in Faculty Hall

The first meeting of the Home Economics club, an organization of university girls who are taking work in the home economics department, will be Tuesday evening at 7:30 at Faculty hall of the Temple. Every girl taking work in the department is invited to the meeting.

The Home Economics club of Nebraska was organized November 17, 1915. Its aim is to encourage in a social way the girls who work together in class room and laboratory for the betterment of humanity through the instrument of the home. It also endeavors to give the student a broader view of the entire field of home economics as it exists today.

Although the club is one of the youngest organizations at Nebraska, it is one of the strongest. Last year the club played a leading part in making successful the Farmers' fair, and the girls' vocational guidance conference and Better Babies' week.

BOTANY LABORATORIES CROWDED THIS YEAR

The department of botany is working under a heavy disadvantage because of crowded laboratory sections and inadequate equipment. Together with the exceptionally heavy registration in this department about sixty dental students are taking work in histology, and anatomy. Next year the course in anatomy will be lengthened to four years, so the students are taking advantage of the last year of the present course.

Dr. Walcott thinks that the new quarters may be ready by spring vacation, and so relieve the crowded condition of the department.

LEGISLATIVE REFERENCE BUREAU HAS VARSITY STATE FAIR EXHIBIT

An exhibit of the legislative reference bureau consisting of pamphlets, newspaper clippings and pictures was at the Nebraska state fair, is now in the reference bureau on the third floor of University hall.

MISS GRAHAM AT VESPERS TUESDAY

Miss Mary Graham, dean of women, will speak at the Y. W. C. A. vespers service Tuesday at 5 o'clock. The girls' quartet will furnish special music.

RUSH WORK ON NEW BUILDINGS

BESSEY HALL MAY BE FINISHED IN DECEMBER

Laborers Busy on Third Floor of New Chemistry Building—Soon Under Roof

Work on the new Bessey and Chemistry halls is being rushed to completion as fast as possible. The contractors hope to have Bessey hall ready for occupation by December. Both buildings will have three stories and a basement. About sixty-five men are employed on the Chemistry hall and between seventy-five and eighty on the Bessey hall.

Bessey hall is being closed in and the windows fitted. The plastering is practically finished and the men are at work installing the elevator. The carpenters are busy with the woodwork and teamsters are hauling the maple flooring which will be put down soon.

Chemistry hall is not as near completion as the Bessey building. The men are now working on the third floor, which will be under roof in four weeks. The erection of the inside partitions will be started today.

400 VARSITY GIRLS AT PARTY SATURDAY

MORALITY PLAY, READINGS AND MUSIC ON PROGRAM

Girls' Club and Y. W. C. A. in Charge of Party—Informal Dancing

About 400 girls attended the Girls' club party at the Temple, Saturday afternoon. The girls gathered in the theater about 3 o'clock to hear the program, which consisted of readings, musical numbers, and a "Morality Play" given under the direction of the Y. W. C. A.

Louise Coe, president of the Girls' club, introduced Miss Genevieve Lowry, who in behalf of the Alumni association announced that Ruth Shively, '18, had been awarded the $100 scholarship which the association offered last week. Only seven girls put in their application for the scholarship.

Catherine Pierce, '18, and Lucile Becker, '18, gave readings. Margaret Perry sang two solos. A quintet, Catherine Pierce, Alice Temple, Golden Rule, Marie Boehmer and Rachael Seacrest, played ukuleles and sang several songs.

Gave Playlet

In the play, "Every Student," which was written and given by girls of the Y. W. C. A. under the direction of Miss Drake and Rose Anderson, '17, Gladys Rohrbaugh, '20 had the part of Every Student, who represented a freshman girl just becoming acquainted with the various influences of the university life. Imagination was played by Ethel Hartley, Study by Carol Kimball, Perseverance by Annie Luckey, Sarah Cole represented the Girls' club and Doris Weaver the Y. W. C. A. Francis Whitmore was the Mystic Fish, Helen Loftman the Xi Delta, Lucile Wilcox the Silver Ser-
