The Woman's Point of View

The running expenses of the ordinary college woman have long been a subject for much speculation. The exact amount on which a woman can go through college cannot be accurately determined as no two people have exactly the same needs. A fact that makes any attempt at accuracy almost impossible is that many girls get a definite monthly allowance, but their parents buy most of their clothes and often give them extra money. Of these extras, they have no idea as to the amount paid out.

The current idea seems to be that the sorority element spends much more in proportion than the non-sorority element. A close investigation of conditions will show that the scale of expenditure is as varied in the sorority house as it is on the outside. Girls whose families are able to give them a larger allowance naturally spend more, while those who come from the less wealthy homes, vary their expenditures accordingly. The right to spend as little or as much as you wish can be exercised just as freely in the sorority house as anywhere else.

The majority of the girls in university are living on between $35 and $40 a month. They have most of their clothes when they come to school and buy a few clothing necessities out of this sum. Two very prominent sorority girls went through college on $28 a month each. This, however, is almost incredibly low as the very lowest board and room costs $25 a month. This leaves just $3 for books, registration and incidentals.

From this minimum of $28, the monthly expenses of girls in the University of Nebraska range to $85 and $90 and perhaps higher. Girls who spend over $50 and $60 are really squandering money and could well help some other girl who is having things a little harder.

There should be more incentive among college girls to think about specific college problems that are theirs alone to solve. The students themselves are the only ones who can solve certain college problems and just a few do the solving and the others take things as they find them.

Sit down and think whether or not you have ever done anything to really help your school. Have you just been riding along with the crowd or have you been helping pull the wagon?

CHICAGO MOURNS LOSS OF BIG EX-CAPTAIN

Chicago.—The loss of Pete Russell left a hole in the University of Chicago team that Coach Stagg believes will be most difficult to fill. Graduation of the brilliant captain left the eleven without a leader, without a punter of more than ordinary ability and without the main cog in the elaborate forward pass attack evolved by Stagg.

Offsetting the loss of Russell and Fullback Ford, however, is the news that the line will be heavier than that which sometimes failed to hold its own last year and that there will be a large number of available forwards. The backfield will be the same as that of last year, except for the losses noted, and it will be remembered that two complete sets of versatile ground gainers were at the command of the Maroon mentor last fall.—Exchange.

FROSH CAPS IN EVIDENCE

Between 925 and 957 freshmen have class caps at the University of Michigan. Ann Arbor merchants, who have been in the business for two or more years, report the sale of caps this year as on a par with that of last, instead of growing larger with the increased freshman population.—Exchange.

MONTANA FOLLOWS SUIT

Missoula, Mont.—Plans for the formation of a cosmopolitan club to meet on the university campus every week are being discussed by the students from foreign countries who are attending the university this year. According to temporary plans, the club will meet and discuss questions of international interest.

Attending the university this year are students from all parts of the world. China, Cuba, Russia, England, Ireland, Germany, Spain, France and the Philippines are all represented at the state institution this fall.—Exchange.

CO-EDS SPEND $765

The average co-ed of Smith college spends only $765.55 during the college year, according to the statistics of student expenditures recently collected by the dean of Smith college. Moreover, 87.6 per cent of the average Smith girl's money is spent for necessities, while 8.2 per cent goes for pleasure.—Exchange.

DARTMOUTH HAS MANY ACTORS
Dartmouth college has a dramatic association with a membership of 200 men. The association presents a play every three weeks with an entire change of cast.—Exchange.

VILLA'S BROTHER

Pancho Villa's brother was educated at Michigan. His wife is now in Detroit, but she says that she has little use for her brother-in-law.—Exchange.

PRIZE COLLEGE YELL

One of the professors at Hope college recently offered a prize for the best new college yell.—Exchange.

NEW CUT SYSTEM AT YALE

A half cut system has been instituted at Yale, and has worked with marked success. By this new arrangement a student who is unprepared and does not recite is given a half cut. Thus those who would otherwise remain away from class are encouraged to attend and get the benefit of the lecture.—Exchange.

Beta Theta Pi had as special luncheon guests, Saturday, Mr. and Mrs. Spencer and Mary Melville, who were playing at the Orpheum.

Ralph M. Garrett, '14, was in Lincoln during the week end. Mr. Garrett, who has been in Kansas City since graduating, will go to Tulsa, Okla., next week, to be in the legal department of a large oil company.

ALUMNI NEWS

Richard H Phillips, formerly a resident of Lincoln, and a graduate of the forestry department of the University, spent three days in Lincoln last week visiting his mother, Mrs. Caroline Phillips. Mr. Phillips has been in the government forestry service in South Dakota, and this was his first visit home in three years. He left Lincoln Friday to resume his work, returning by way of Omaha and Sioux City.

Adda M. Post, '99, secretary of the University of Nebraska club of Southern California, has written the secretary of the alumni that the club meets once each month at a luncheon at the club's headquarters. Every third month an evening dinner is given. She has invited all University people who are in Los Angeles to visit the headquarters, which is in the Pin Ton building.

Robert H. Talbot, '16, of Fairbury, spent the week end with his parents at their home in Lincoln.

John Miller, ex-'16, of Beatrice, was a week end visitor at the Alpha Tau Omega house.

Reavis Gist, '13, has a position in a bank at Humboldt, Neb.

Ernest Kretzinger, '10, is practicing law with his father, Judge Kretzinger, at Beatrice.

Joel D. Pomerine, law, '13, is practicing law at Portland, Ore.

Harold J. Schwab, '16, who has been selling insurance in Wyoming, will return to Nebraska soon.

Homer A. Noble, '16, who majored in botany and geography, has returned to school and will work for his master's degree.

Madison, Wis.—Little chance for a conference football championship is seen at Wisconsin this fall. The squad, which includes a number of men of brief experience in actual battle though they have been on the gridiron for some time, lacks, it is said, that quality known to football fans as class.

Paul Withington, successor to Bill Juneau as head coach, will find the squad sadly in need of elementary drill, it is predicted, but with that drill properly instilled under the new coaching system he expects to adopt, the Badgers should make a fair showing.

Some of the stars of last year will answer the first call. They are Captain Meyers, right end; E. Simpson, quarter; Glenn Taylor, quarter; Howard Hancock, left guard; Robert Flitzer, right tackle; Milton Gardner, guard; and Louis Kreuz, full back, all W men. Simpson probably will do the punting and Taylor the drop kicking. Other veterans expected are Max Berg, full back; Otto Rohsenberg, left tackle; Herbert Cramer, left end, and Borge Gunderson, center.—Exchange.
