ARE YOU A MAMMOTHPREPT?
 "You impudent mammothrept?" That's what a southern girl called Jack Donovan, an amateur photographer who bet he could snap six of the prettiest young women in the Harvard summer school within two hours.

The picture man's first victim was a pretty blond from Alabama. He sighted her lense and fired. The beauty sighted her flashing orbs and returned the first doublefold.

"You impudent mammothrept!" she cried. Disabled, but with exposure No. 1 in his possession, the photographer retreated, not knowing what he had been called but fearing for the worst.

Whereupon he consulted several authorities and finally found in a dictionary this: "Mammothrept—a child reared by its grandmother; a spoiled child."—New York World.

While waiting for a train in one of Iowa's thriving villages this summer, we noticed that the station sheltered the village postoffice and the store. The "jack of all trades" was sending a telegram, when a lady arrived. She began to fire questions at the head of the modern Caesar. She said, "Mister, when does the next train arrive, and when does it leave? How deep is the mud out there and how much are oranges?"

The operator kept his machine going at full tilt and did not look up. "Tick, tick" in at eight, tick, out at nine; tick, tick, ankle deep and three for a dime."—Daily Iowan.

CO-EDS TO LEARN FOOTBALL

In order that the co-eds might have a better understanding of football, Coach Whiteside of Earlham has decided to offer a series of lectures on football to the girls. He will deal first with the simple rules and fundamentals of the game, the various plays and terms, and later will explain the penalties and more complex rules.—Exchange.

TEXAS STATE CO-ED RULES SIMILAR TO THOSE HERE

Texas State University, according to the "Daily" allows her co-eds three "dates" a week. On these nights the callers are required to observe the 10:20 rule. Another rule is that all picnic parties including auto parties, must be chaperoned.—Exchange.

STUDENTS ENTER ORPH

Owing to the fact that the leading lady in one of the big acts scheduled for the Orpheum at Illinois this last week was ill, four students took the place on the bill. They were announced as the famous Illinois Imperial Quartet of the University of Illinois and according to the Orph. fans, "The act went big."—Exchange.

WIRELESS AT TEXAS

A semester credit is being given to students at the University of Texas who enroll in a new course in wireless telegraphy. Practical experiences as well as the theoretical side will be given.—Exchange.

HARVARD HAS MILITARY DEPT.

In connection with the petition recently drawn up here asking that Military Instruction be given the students, it is interesting to note that Harvard University announced in a pamphlet issued several days ago the organization of a military department of the university, organized under the provisions of the army bill to provide reserve officers' training corps, passed by congress last June.

This year one course in military science and tactics is offered, and the instruction will be both theoretical and practical.

This course is open to, and may be counted for a degree by all physically fit students of Harvard College excepting freshmen.—Exchange.

ORGANIZE FENCING CLUB

A fencing club was organized at K. U. Wednesday, in response to the request for this form of exercise. Membership in the organization, known as the University Fencing Club, is open to all students interested in this branch of self-defense.—Exchange.

NO MORE "PROFS" AT HAYS

Hayes, Kan., Oct. 7.—There are no longer any "professors" at the Fort Hayes Kansas Normal school as far as official student publications are concerned. Hereafter the instructors of the school will be known as plain "Mr." and "Miss" or "Mrs." Not only will the school paper, the Leader, follow this in its reportorial style, but it will wage a campaign against the students calling the instructors by the title of "professor" or "prof." The reason given by the board of control is that the term has degenerated into a byword in many instances and that students do not use discretion in applying the title.—Exchange.

FALL BASEBALL PRACTICE USED BEFORE BY DISCH

Fall baseball practice has been inaugurated at Wisconsin university. Candidates for next spring's Badger nine have been at practice on the northern school's diamond for the past two weeks, and will continue their daily workouts with the bat, ball and glove until driven indoors by the cold weather. In pursuance of the policy—one that gave birth to spring football training—of giving college students as much exercise as possible in the sport in which they are most proficient, the athletic authorities of several northern and eastern universities are planning to follow Wisconsin's example.—Exchange.

PROTEGE OF J. D. BECOMES RICH BY OWN INGENUITY

How a poor student of chemistry, who came here from Germany in 1868, attracted the attention of John D. Rockefeller, became the chief chemist of the Standard Oil company, and by his ingenuity massed a fortune of $10,485,828, is disclosed by an appraisal of the estate of the late Herman Frasch of this city.

After attaining success as a chemist, Mr. Frasch undertook to develop a sulphur mine in Louisiana, which had passed through the hands of four companies that were unable to make it pay. The sulphur lay 800 feet below the surface. Mr. Frasch devised a method of conveying super-heated water into the mine, melting the sulphur and then pumping it out through a pipe.—Exchange.

STUDENT BALKS ROBBERS

Rush Gibbs, a sophomore at DePauw university, was knocked unconscious by two burglars who entered the D. K. E. house with the apparent intention of stealing silver trophies. Gibbs surprised the men as they entered and in the resultant scrap was knocked unconscious. Other members of the fraternity heard the noise and their coming frightened the burglars away.—Exchange.

NEW FROSH HAT AT OHIO

The size of the freshman headgear at Ohio state has been changed from the traditional "postage stamp" to a full grown green hat. The new hat has been declared to be a "great improvement" by the Sophs.—Exchange.

NEW PRESIDENT

Preparations for the inauguration of E. M. Hopkins as Dartmouth's eleventh president are now well under way. The inauguration will be held October 8. A large celebration with many features has been planned by the student body.—Exchange.

Purdue is having a hard time getting men to run for various class offices. Election day is two days off and as yet there are several offices for which there are no applicants.—Exchange.

HARVARD FOOTBALL CANDIDATES PRACTICE

ON THE FIELD FOR FIRST PRACTICE.

A long list of men reported on Soldiers' field, Cambridge, Mass., for the first fall practice. Among the most noted of those reporting is Captain Dadmun, the husky linesman of the famous "Eddie Mahan's" 1915 team. It will be a hard task for the coaches to whip up a winning team this year, since Dadmun and Harte are the only veterans eligible for this year's lineup; the others are out of the game either due to graduation or to scholastic difficulties. It will be the task of the coaches Haughton and Leary to build a new team around Captain Dadmun.

The photo shows the men as they came out of their locker rooms on the field for their first practice. The insert is Captain Dadmun.

WILL BANISH SECRET PLAY

Coach Folwell of University of Pennsylvania Announces Radical Program for Season.

Bob Folwell, who will endeavor to restore football supremacy to the University of Pennsylvania, has announced a program that is radical. He says that all students and others will be welcome to witness the practices of the eleven, that the training and coaching systems will be open and above board and that if the team fails it will be his fault and not the fault of the material, a manly, if not always rational, point of view to take.

"My plans for preliminary work are all completed," he said. "There need be no curiosity about my training and coaching system—it will be exactly the same as that which I used at Lafayette and Washington and Jefferson. It's different from any other system—"

Coach Bob Folwell.

It's my own, in other words. I don't believe in overworking my players, and I shan't do it at Franklin field. There'll be no moonlight scrimmages, either. I'll be master, and I'll decide how much drudgery is to be done. It won't be enough to kill the team.

"There is another important fact that I wish to emphasize and it is that there will be little secret practice this season, and the gates will be open at all times to the undergraduates and the public. My practices will be something unique, for I guess I am somewhat of a driver. There will probably be short games between the varsity and the scrub daily, but while the games will be played with all the vigor of a real match, they will be extremely short.

"The spectators are welcome to witness these battles."
