CORNHUSKERS IN SNOW AS TRAIN CROSSES STATE LINE

ALUMNI GREET FOOTBALL TEAM AS STOPS ARE MADE

Practice Held at Julesburg, Col., and Laramie, Wyo.—Everybody Happy, Says Thomas

BY DWIGHT P. THOMAS.
(Special Telegram to The Daily Nebraskan.)

Laramie, Wyo., Oct. 18.—From the warmth of the greatest sendoff ever given a Cornhusker football team to six inches of snow at Julesburg, Col., Coach Stewart's team has finished the first lap of its cross-continent trip to the enemy's country.

Everybody is happy. Pride in their school, the pure fun of the trip, hope of a victory over the best team on the coast next Saturday, are all uniting to make the University's band, football team, rooters, coaches, and business men making the trip, feel in the best of spirits.

A Triumphant March

The westward progress of the special train has been in the nature of a triumphal march, crowds turning out at each town on the itinerary to greet the Cornhuskers, and wish them luck. Alumni of the University, who have in a measure lost touch with their alma mater, have seized the opportunity to get again a taste of Nebraska University spirit, and to join again in the varsity yells and songs.

Crowds at North Platte met the train and exchanged greetings for a few minutes while the train crew were receiving their orders. At Sidney, Neb., the high school students acted as the reception committee. It is safe to say that every one of the high school pupils made the mental resolve that he would not cease his school days until he had come to the University of his state.

Overcoats Hauled Out

As the train cleared the Nebraska prairies, and got into the high plains of Colorado, the change in temperature became marked. Overcoats were hauled out of suitcases, and the football men donned their sweaters not only for the proud display of their colors, but to keep warm as well. At Julesburg the thermometer read 38 degrees above zero, and snow six inches deep lay on the ground.

The first practice of the football team on the road trip was held in the streets of Julesburg. Clad in light running trunks and jerseys, the twenty-three varsity men limbered up before crowds of Coloradans, running through signal practice, and drilling upon the formations to be used against the Oregon Aggies next Saturday afternoon.

Men in Fine Fettle

The men were in fine fettle, and went through their paces with snap and vim.

The cadet band gave its first concert in Julesburg while the team was practicing. With every instrument polished to the highest degree, every uniform in best of trim, and their scarlet sashes proudly declaring the colors and name of their school, the band tooted enthusiastically and thrillingly the Cornhusker hymns, as well as some of their long repertoire of stirring pieces.

One of the Julesburg druggists, knowing student nature, and declaring that he had never listened to a better band, produced a five-pound box of candy which was taken to the train and soon disposed of, the coach keeping his eye on the men lest they partake too freely of the sweets. Little danger of that, however, among the hungry mob.

Julesburg to Laramie

From Julesburg the train sped on to Laramie, where the stop is being made now. The team got into track suits here, and have been running through their formations again under the prod of Stewart. No matter what lineup starts the game Saturday, every man will be ready to fulfill the pledge made at the great rally Tuesday night, "For Nebraska, we will."

Coach Stewart has been improving the time during the trip with informal talks over the Saturday game, and after lunch today he gave a blackboard talk to the men, instructing them on the formations that would probably be met, and showing them how to break up the opposition plays.

TWO QUALIFY FOR SEMI-FINALS OF TENNIS PLAY

Louventhal and Line have qualified for the semi-finals of the University tennis tournament by defeating Gary and Power. The Louventhal-Gary match started off with rare possibilities, but Louventhal got the upper hand before the second set was over and won the last in love, as follows: 7-9, 6-2 and 6-0. Line disposed of Power in an interesting but average match, 6-2, 6-4.

The finals of the tournament may be played next Saturday, although it is possible the tournament will be extended over into next week.

SORORITIES AND FRATS STUDY BIBLE

WEEKLY CLASSES TO BE HELD, STARTING TONIGHT

Girls Select Life of Paul for Intensive Study—Four Fraternities So Far Entered

The life of Paul the apostle will be the subject of a series of six meetings to be held once a week beginning today among the girls of the University. Every Thursday evening from 7 to 7:45 o'clock, the girls divided into groups of two, preferably from a sorority house and rooming house, according to their location, will meet, the first week at the sorority house, the second week at the rooming house, and the third week at the University Y. W. C. A. rooms in the Temple. In this way every girl in the University will be given an opportunity to join the classes which will study the life of Paul from a historical standpoint.

The study is under the direction of the University Y. W. C. A. and is purely optional for everyone. The first, second, fourth and fifth weeks, the meetings will be held in the local houses. The third and sixth weeks, the meetings will be in the Y. W. C. A. rooms under the direction of a special teacher. The enrollment for the classes has been exceptionally large.

Four fraternities have signified their wishes to conduct a like study among the men, but the plan has not been passed upon by all, as yet.

OMICRON NU TAKES 17 NEW MEMBERS

Home Economics Sorority Holds Annual Fall Initiation

Omicron Nu, honorary home economics sorority, initiated seventeen new members last evening at the home of Ruth Rush, '17. The initiates are: Elizabeth Boehr, '17, Gertrude Stewart, '17, Mary Haller, '17, Dorothy Carne, '17, Esther Ord, '17, Mae Youngs, '17, Eunice Taylor, '17, Ethel Richert, '17, Pearl Woolford, '17, Mabel Webber, '17, Vivian Purinton, '17, Florence Schrenleider, '17, Della Kolb, '17, Janet Thompson, '17.

Teachers of the department: Miss Louise Meredith, Miss Leta Linch, Miss Esther Warner, Miss Julia Vance, Helen Pogge, '17, was transferred from the chapter at Ames, Ia.

The Omicron Nu chapter here is now one of the largest of all its chapters. The requirements for membership are very high. Not only scholarship, but the personality of the girl is considered.

The article is illustrated and detailed accounts are given of the various construction features of the whole project, and more will appear in a future issue of the same magazine.

TEN MORE DAYS TO REGISTER

VOTERS HAVE UNTIL OCTOBER 28 TO GET UNDER THE WIRE

No One Can Vote this Fall Who is Not Registered—Register at City Hall

University students who wish to vote at the coming election must register not later than October 28. Registration books are open at the office of the city clerk in the city hall at Ninth and O streets, and one may register at any time.

Students who registered and voted at the spring election do not have to register again unless their address has changed. If they are living at a different place, they will have to register.

Important Election

The coming election is one of the most important held in the state, for besides the state and county officers, the voters will express their preferences for president, senator and congressman.

The question of statewide prohibition will also be submitted, the proposal being to amend the state constitution so that after May 1, 1917, the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquor for other than medicinal, scientific and mechanical purposes shall be prohibited within the borders of the state.

The Purdue Military band will take part in the Indiana state centennial celebration at Indianapolis next Saturday.—Exchange.

AG. CLUB FIRST MEETING TONIGHT

Faculty Members to Speak—Movies of State to Be Shown

The Agricultural club of the University will hold its first meeting of the year at the Temple tonight.

Dean Burnett, Dr. Condra and A. E. Sheldon, director of the legislative reference bureau, will speak. Moving pictures showing Nebraska's resources will be displayed.

Every student of the agricultural college is invited to come to this meeting tonight. The club is planning the busiest year of its existence at the University.

MAKE RAPID PROGRESS ON VARSITY BUILDINGS

END IN SIGHT ON CITY CAMPUS HALLS

Mill Work Will be Delayed—Dairy Husbandry Building Soon Ready

Work on the new buildings of the extended city campus and at the farm had progressed rapidly since the opening of school. The Dairy Husbandry building at the farm will be ready for occupation, fully equipped, within a month. The Bessey building is completed save for interior decoration and finishing. The contractors on Chemistry hall will start on the roof shortly.

The departments at the farm which will use the Dairy Husbandry building have been badly cramped for space, and they will welcome their new quarters gladly. The contract for the architectural engineering, also badly needed by the college of architectural engineering, has not been let because of material prices.

Downtown work has been hampered somewhat because of the scarcity of material. Although the interior fixtures and finishings for Bessey hall have long been contracted for, the factories have been unable to make deliveries on all of it, and it may be some time yet before the building is ready for occupation. It is probable

DEAN MARY GRAHAM TO GIVE INFORMAL TEA THIS AFTERNOON

Dean Mary Graham will give a tea for all University girls in Art hall this afternoon from 4 to 5:30. This is the third reception given by Miss Graham, who holds the parties to bring the girls together, since the fall term began. They are continued throughout the university year.

UPPERCLASS GIRLS WIN IN SOCCER

DEFEAT UNDERCLASS TEAM BY SCORE OF 3 TO 0

Beginning Girls Have Not Been Able to Score as Yet—Star Players

The upperclassmen defeated the lower classmen by a score of 3 to 0 Wednesday morning in one of the best played soccer games since the game has been taken up by Nebraska coed athletes. The score is the same as that of last Monday. So far the lowerclassmen have not been able to get the ball past the upperclassmen defense.

The co-eds have taken up the game with an enthusiasm that rivals basketball, which heretofore has been the most popular sport for the girls. At the first few practices the ball ran that inside material for the Chemistry building will be here by the time the builders are ready for it, in which case the hall will be finished almost as soon as the Bessey building.

Revising Plans

Coolidge & Hodgdon of Chicago, University architects, are now revising the first plans that were submitted to the regents for the Social Science building. Estimates on the cost of erecting it as originally planned exceeded the appropriation and it was found necessary to cut it down in size. This will eliminate two departments from quarters in the new structure—philosophy and rhetoric.

The Social Science building will probably be placed at Twelfth and S streets, across from the Armory, although on one of the plans for campus extension up before the board of regents for approval this summer, it was to be situated across Twelfth street.

The general outline of the extended city campus is gradually becoming visible with the progress of work on the first two structures which marked the initial building campaign, Chemistry and Bessey halls. They form the first cornerstones of the metamorphosed campus which in ten years will have entirely obliterated the present picture. With most of the structures entirely new or largely rebuilt and artistically arranged, the future campus will present a picture in keeping with the progress of the University along intellectual lines.

SORORITIES VOTE ON HOUSE RULES

RIGID REGULATIONS BEING CONSIDERED BY CO-ED SOCIETIES

Little Change from Last Year's Schedule—Same Old Dating, Calling and Eating Plans Suggested

Local rules governing sorority life at Nebraska have been printed and sent to the different houses for consideration, and will be voted upon within the next few days. The regulations are strict and the supervision of the life of a sorority member is rigid. The following are the rules proposed:

1. The chaperon must be approved by the dean of women and will be held responsible to her for house conduct.
2. Men calling may be received on Friday, Saturday or Sunday evenings only. Callers shall not remain later than 10:30 p. m.

For Parties

3. Parties may be given on Friday and Saturday evenings only, and must close not later than 12 midnight.
4. Every girl shall be in the house at 10:30 p. m. unless at a party or theater. The door shall be locked at 10:30 except Friday and Saturday evenings. Girls shall return to house immediately at the close of parties.

STIEHM STRUGGLES TO BUILD UP TEAM

PROSPECTS BRIGHTER FOR NEXT YEAR, IS REPORT

Whisman and Lowman, Assistant Coaches, with Cohn, to Teach Athletics

Bloomington, Ind., Oct. 18.—Indiana university is starting the athletic year with both bright and gloomy prospects—this apparently contradictory statement being explained by saying that while the immediate prospects are discouraging there is every reason to feel encouraged over the future.

The University has engaged Ewald O. Stiehm, of the University of Nebraska, as director of athletics. He is at present hard at work trying to build up a football team from more or less mediocre and inexperienced material and is struggling against the misfortunes of injuries and sickness in the team.

On the other hand, the freshman football material is of the highest order and frequently holds the varsity team to close scores. Thus the prospects for next year are bright in this great college sport.

Stiehm's Able Assistants

Assisting Mr. Stiehm are several new men of experience and ability. One is Ray M. Whisman, halfback,

T. S. YOUNG, FATHER OF FORMER STUDENTS DEAD IN IOWA

T. S. Young died yesterday morning at his home in Macedonia, Ia., Mr. Young was the father of Lenora Young, ex-'17, Florinda Young, ex-'17, and Nason Young, ex-'18. Among those who will attend the funeral are Lulu Mitchell, '18, Kathryn Mellor, '18, and Laura Pratt, ex-'16. Lenore and Florinda Young were in Lincoln for the week end and motored home Tuesday afternoon.

CROWNOVER WRITES ENGINEER RECORDS

Alumnus Describes Construction of the Kechelus Dam

C. E. Crownover, C. E., '97, has an important article in the October issue of the Engineering Record, published in New York, on "The Construction of Kechelus dam, Washington." Mr. Crownover is in direct charge of construction on the Yakima storage project, being construction engineer in the United States reclamation service, Meadow Creek, Wash.

The project will furnish water for about a half million acres and Kechelus lake stores over 150,000 acre-feet. Every possible precaution was observed to make the reservoir watertight; the impervious foundation, watertight connection to the embankment and inclosed stilling pond are features of the dam.

THOMAS SENDS SPECIAL TELEGRAMS ON CORNHUSKER TRIP TO THE NEBRASKAN

Dwight Thomas' first news story from the Cornhusker special train is printed in this issue of The Daily Nebraskan. With its own sporting editor sending special telegrams nightly to The Nebraskan, University students are receiving the news of the great road trip in their own publication, by a member of their own student body—a service unexcelled by any newspaper in the state.

Thomas' special stories to The Daily Nebraskan, including his account of the Oregon Aggie-Nebraska University football game on Saturday, will continue until the trip is brought to a happy end next week.

This is but a part of the general policy of The Daily Nebraskan to be first in all that pertains to the State University life. The Daily Nebraskan is indeed "the best university newspaper in the world."
