SOCIETY

AG CLUB PARTY

An old time party, at which the guests attired themselves in hard-time garb, was held for University students by the Agricultural club in the new Dairy Husbandry building at the state farm Friday night.

Over 200, of whom a large number were freshmen in the college of agriculture, were present at the party. Those who came with stiff collars were asked to remove them. Old clothes were more predominant among the boys, however, than among the girls.

The party was held for get-together purposes. A varied program of stunts formed the principal entertainment of the evening. Cider, doughnuts and pies were served for refreshments.

SILVER LYNX DANCE

Silver Lynx entertained at the Lincoln hotel Saturday evening. Fifty couples enjoyed the program of dances. The chaperons were Prof. and Mrs. George Barlow, Prof. and Mrs. C. A. Robbins, Prof. and Mrs. G. W. Hood and Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Epperson, jr. The out-of-town guests were W. H. Baumann, R. T. Joylins, William Reinhart, W. B. Kavan and R. H. Finley.

Phi Delta Theta Dance

Phi Delta Theta gave a dance at Rosewilde Saturday evening. Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Avery and Prof. Robert D. Scott chaperoned the forty-five couples. Among the out-of-town guests were Beatrice Johnson, Omaha; C. A. Manteze, Boulder, Colo.; Frank C. Buita, Richard Peters and J. A. Burns, Omaha.

Phi Kappa Psi gave a dinner dance at the chapter house Friday evening. Fifteen couples were present. Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Clark chaperoned.

Delta Chi entertained at a house party Friday evening, which was attended by twenty-five couples. Professor A. T. Cavanaugh, assistant principal of high school, and his wife, chaperoned.

by the most brilliant individual runs. He seemed most able to gain consistently, and while he was in the game the ball advanced with almost relentless precision. Not alone around end, but through the line as well, Johnny proved an enigma to the Aggies.

Ted Riddell and Jim Gardiner were the other two Cornhuskers whose work stood out, although Dobson's steady, long and consistent punting entitles him, too, to honorable mention. Jimmie played the same reliable game that makes him one of the most dependable men on the team, and Ted was good at every stage.

Comparison of Teams
In only one department of the game were the Oregon representatives as good or better than their opponents, and that was in returning punts when their total yards exceeded Nebraska's. But in first downs, total yards gained, total gained on punts, and gain made by the use of the forward pass (although but three of Nebraska's were successful) the Missouri valley school was vastly superior to the Oregon team.

The game opened with Corey kick-

Phi Gamma Delta entertained at the chapter house Friday evening. Twenty couples were present. Mr. and Mrs. James Whitney and Dr. Adams chaperoned. Among the out-of-town guests was Norris Tyn of Omaha.

Delta Chi entertained thirty couples at a house dance Friday evening. The chaperones were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Cavanaugh. Among the out-of-town guests was Miss Rita Carpenter, of Omaha, who is the guest of Mrs. Cavanaugh.

The members of the Comus club gave a dance in Music hall Friday evening. Prof. and Mrs. G. W. Hood and Prof. and Mrs. H. S. Young chaperoned the thirty-five couples. Miss Kerl of West Point was an out-of-town guest.

The Paddian Literary society held an enjoyable meeting at the Temple Friday evening. One hundred and twenty-five University students were present. The program consisted of an address by Prof. R. D. Scott on "The Joy of Living," and vocal selections by Charles R. Sherer and Frances Caldwell. Special guests were Prof. and Mrs. O. W. Sjogren, Mr. and Mrs. Brackett and Mr. Woods.

One hundred were present at the first faculty men's dinner in the Lincoln hotel Friday evening.

Prof. L. B. Tuckerman read a paper on "The Discontinuity of Things in Nature," which he defined a little less scientifically as the "jerkiness" of things in nature. The paper considered the relation and arrangement of natural elements, and proposed the theory popularly exemplified by Achilles chasing the tortoise. An informal discussion of the subject followed the reading of the paper.

A series of six more dinners is planned for the University year. Two more will be held this fall, and four next spring.

ing off to the Aggies, who were forced to punt after vainly trying to pierce the line twice, and being thrown back for a loss on an attempted end run. Another exchange of the ball, and the Cornhuskers marched through their opponents, or ran around them, for the distance, the touchdown and the kicked goal.

The quarter ended Nebraska 7, Oregon Aggies 0.

In the second quarter Oregon made their lone score, enough, however, to keep the game tied up until the last period.

With Nebraska ever on the attack, and the ball consistently in Oregon territory, the Cornhuskers were finally able to push it close to the enemy line. Caley was taking the ball over from about the four-yard line when he fumbled. Conn was on the leather in an instant, and he sped down the field, several Nebraska fans in hopeless pursuit, and the stands howling their excitement.

Aggies Make 7

Conn downed the ball between his goal posts. Then he kicked goal, and the count was even for the two teams.

The second quarter ended, Nebraska 7, Oregon Agricultural college 7.

Between halves the Nebraska University band, which has proved a stellar attraction on the western trip, did itself proud by parading the field and serenading Oregon. The teams trotted back upon the field for the final clinch.

The third feature was featured by the brilliant work of Cook, who had replaced Caley late in the second quarter. On his first play Cook made seven yards through the line. On his second he bucked off tackle for four. After an intermission to have his trousers repaired, Cook made four around end and three more through the line. In the third quarter he gained with equal consistency around the end or through the line, or on the receiving end of a forward pass.

The final scores for both teams were made in the last period.

Corey ran the count up to ten by place kicking a goal from the thirty-yard line. After both teams had tried forward passing, with changing luck, Caley ran twenty yards for Nebraska's last count, and Corey kicked goal again.

With Nebraska started upon another march for a touchdown, Caley made his second fumble that nearly proved costly. He was able to down his man before the line was crossed, however, and the Aggie hopes were dashed to earth, not to rise.

Final score, Nebraska 17, Oregon Aggies 7.
