

The Daily Nebraskan

VOL. XVI. NO. 33.

UNIVERSITY OF NEBRASKA, LINCOLN, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 27, 1916.

PRICE FIVE CENTS

ALUMNAE WILL WORK FOR GIRLS DORMITORIES

LINCOLN ASSOCIATION OF COLLEGIATE ALUMNAE FOR THEM

Mrs. Sheldon Declares Active Work Will Begin at Once—Co-operation of Undergraduates Needed

A resolution favoring the establishment of women's dormitories at the University of Nebraska has been unanimously adopted by the Lincoln Association of Collegiate Alumnae.

Mrs. A. E. Sheldon, chairman of the committee which is investigating conditions that will bring about the establishment of the dormitories, presented the resolution, "Resolved that we favor the establishment of dormitories for women at the University of Nebraska and pledge our unremitting efforts to secure them."

Organized for Work

"The committee is organized for work," Mrs. Sheldon stated yesterday, "and recommendations will be made as soon as we have completed our investigations." The members of the committee are, Miss Kate Fields, Mrs. E. H. Hinman, Prof. Alice Howell, Mrs. Louis Horsmeyer, and Mrs. Sheldon.

Mrs. Sheldon emphasized the fact that in order to secure the dormitories sound sentiment must be created over the state. She stated that the A. C. A., which is composed of the graduates, would need the co-operation of the undergraduates if they are to succeed.

"We are very desirous for all who are interested in this to work with the committee," Mrs. Sheldon concluded.

SIGMA DELTA CHI ANNOUNCES PLEDGES

Four New Members to Be Taken Into Journalistic Fraternity

Sigma Delta Chi, journalistic fraternity, has announced the pledges of the following men:

Carlisle L. Jones, '18, Ord.
Fred Seacrest, '18, Lincoln.
Joe Seacrest, '18, Lincoln.
Dwight Thomas, '18, Lincoln.

The fraternity has been one of the professional organizations that has endeavored to keep its membership limited to those who intend to enter the profession for which the fraternity stands.

The society this year is publishing The Awgwan, the humorous monthly magazine, and under its control, with Ted Metcalfe as editor, The Awgwan has been greatly improved.

The new pledges will be initiated in a short time. With them the society now numbers sixteen men.

Sigma Delta Chi two weeks ago entertained the newspapermen who traveled with the Hughes' special train, at a reception and dinner at the Lincoln hotel.

DR. A. R. DAVIS BOTANY PROFESSOR

HAS CHARGE OF CERTAIN WORK AT THE FARM

Studied and Worked at Missouri Botanical Garden, Pomona College and Washington Uni

Dr. Alva R. Davis recently took up his work as assistant professor of agricultural botany. Dr. Davis received his A. B. degree from Pomona college, California, in 1912, and his Ph. D. from Washington university in 1915. During the years 1912-1915 he held the Lackland research fellowship in botany at the Missouri botanical garden and during the year 1915-1916 was research assistant in charge of the research laboratory of the Missouri botanical garden. During the summers of 1913 and 1914 he was instructor in plant physiology at the Woods Hole marine biological laboratory.

His thesis for the doctorate was a study of "Enzyme Action in Marine Algae." This was published in the

(Continued to Page Four)

SCRUBS SCORE ON VARSITY IN LONG SCRIMMAGE

PORTER MAKES FEATURE RUN FOR TOUCHDOWN

Caley in Center—Moser's Side Still Keeps Him Out of the Game

With the effects of the long trip to Portland plainly visible, the varsity lined up against the scrubs in a long, fierce scrimmage on Nebraska field last evening preparing to meet Wesleyan Saturday.

The scrubs started out with a whirlwind rush, and from the kickoff hurried the ball down the field for a touchdown without the slightest resemblance of a halt.

Porter, Selzer, Schellenberg and McMahon, the scrub backfield, were the stars. They sprinted around the ends or bucked off tackle for large gains on every play. The most sensational play was Porter's twenty-yard, zigzag run for the touchdown.

On the next kickoff the scrubs started the same tactics. From the middle of the field, a thirty-yard run by "Muskrat" Hoadley, put the ball on the varsity's twenty-yard line.

Varsity Held

But here the varsity got together and held the scrubs for four times. On the first play Cook bucked tackle, slid into a clear field and ran fifty yards before he was downed. Dobson, Cook and Rhodes covered the remaining thirty yards in three downs with bucks off tackle.

The scrubs were given the ball on their twenty-five-yard line and after a few exchanges of punts Munn tried a goal from the forty-yard line, which was not much good. But, thinking he was too close, after the varsity had punted, he tried another from the 60-yard mark and missed by one foot.

The varsity suddenly took a brace at this point and scored four touchdowns in rapid succession. The first came as the result of a seventy-yard buck off tackle by Dobson. It was the best run of the evening. "Dob" sidestepping the entire scrub backfield and then distancing them.

Corey Passes
A long pass from Corey to Riddell, which made fifty-five yards, brought the next score. Several successful forward passes and line bucks by "Otie" and Dobson counted another.

(Continued to Page Three)

ALPHA KAPPA PSI PLEDGES FOUR

Commercial Fraternity takes in New Members—Fred Clark Reports on Convention

Alpha Kappa Psi, honorary commercial fraternity, pledged four new men to membership at the second meeting of the year Wednesday evening. The new men, all juniors, are: Frederick T. Cotter, Omaha; Rodger A. Enkins, Lincoln; Leslie W. Ellis, Wayne; Paul Connor, Stratton.

Fred Clark, delegate to the national convention in Chicago this summer, gave a report of the meeting and brought back suggestions for the year's work.

UNIVERSITY AT TEACHERS MEET

MANY FACULTY MEMBERS APPEAR ON PROGRAM

Dean Luckey is President—Alumni Take Part in Gathering at Omaha

A complete list of representatives from the University of Nebraska, who participate in the program of the Nebraska State Teachers' association, to be held in Omaha, November 8, 9 and 10, is given below:

Chancellor Avery speaks at the general session Friday morning on "Educational Tendencies."
G. W. A. Duckey, dean of the graduate school of education, is president of the association.

The following members of the faculty, graduate students and recent alumni, appear on the program or hold offices in the sectional meetings:

Prof. M. M. Fogg, "Possible Improvements in the League" (Argumentation).

Dr. R. J. Pool, "Suggestions with Reference to Introductory Work in Botany."

Dr. J. E. Weaver, "What Shall We Teach in High School Botany?"

Dr. F. D. Barker, "Vitalizing Our Teaching" (Biology).

School Consolidation
Prin. Harry E. Bradford, "The Consolidation of Rural and Village Schools."

Dr. James E. Le Rossignol, "The Work of the School of Commerce of the State University."

Prof. Oscar R. Martin, "The Modern Presentation of Bookkeeping."

Prof. H. K. Wolfe, "The Field of Work for the Teachers of Education."

Dr. H. B. Alexander, "Education in Taste."

Prof. Lawrence Fossler, "Are High School German Classes Obtaining Satisfactory Results?"

Prof. Paul H. Grummann, "Scientific Teaching of Vocabulary."

Prof. Hattie Plum Williams, "The Relation of Teaching Household Arts in Our Public Schools, to the Development of Civilization."

Prof. Louise Pound, "Folk-Song in Nebraska."

Prof. A. E. Bunting, Discussion. (Manual Training).

Mr. Lew T. Skinner, "Boys' and Girls' Clubs in Nebraska."

Prof. N. A. Bengston, "Agricultural Progress."

Prin. C. W. Taylor, "How to Select the Home Team" (Argumentation).

Miss Anna Laura Hinterlong, "Geology—Its Importance and Relation to Geography in the Public Schools."

Prof. Herbert Brownell, "The Purpose of Physics in the High School Course and Methods Adapted to the Purpose."

Prof. C. E. Pevsinger, president of History section.

Dr. Grace E. Munson, president of Child Study section.
Dr. Rose Yont, "The Value of Music in Education."
Mr. F. C. Jean, vice-president of Biology section.

(Continued to Page Three)

DR. BARKER WRITES FOR THE AMERICAN MICROSCOPICAL SOCIETY

The department of zoology has reprinted from the transaction of the American Microscopical society an article by Dr. Barker on "A New Genus and Specie of Parasitic Worm from the Muskrat." The reprint is numbered contribution 115 from the University of Nebraska laboratory.

In his paper Dr. Barker gives a key to the parasites of the American muskrat and out of the nineteen known species, fifteen have been discovered and described by Dr. Barker and the graduate students in this department.

SECOND BEETHOVEN SYMPHONY PLAYED

Several Hundred Hear String Quartet at Convocation

Several hundred people gathered in Memorial hall yesterday morning to hear the Second Beethoven Symphony, Mrs. Carrie B. Raymond, under whose direction these symphony programs given, played the organ. The others who played were Edward G. Walt, first violin; Ernest Harrison, second violin; Wm. T. Quick, viola, and Mrs. Lillian Eiche, the cello.

The following interpretation was written by Prof. W. F. Dann:

The year 1802 is the date of this composition, and by this time Beethoven's growing deafness, manifestations of which had appeared several years previous, gave him grave anxiety, and occasioned in him periods of deepest depression. But genius in its highest phases is above mere personal feeling, and the brilliancy and masterfulness of this symphony is noteworthy, especially in view of the distressing circumstances attending its composition.

The prelude opens with a single note fortissimo, as if to call for "sacred silence"; then a short placid strain, thoughtful but hardly pathetic. Again the single note, and again the quiet phrase. It passes on without development, and the strings climb in trilling cadences to find themselves at the top in a new key and with a new motive. What follows, though put together with consummate knowledge and skill, is purposely vague and uncertain, the sleeper is yet in dreamy mood; he stirs, but without conscious intent; voices speak, but without definite meaning. At last, however, he awakes and a swift rush downward leads directly to the Allegro con Brio.

A Sturdy Motive

The short, sturdy motive of this part is definite and firm, for the day's activities have begun. The basses first give out the theme, the other instruments take it up, and it swings along briskly till suddenly appears the countertheme piano—a kind of hunter's song, reminiscent of the Wald and the chase with its stirring bugle notes. Then, as usual, the two themes are "worked out," a bit here, a bit there, diverging and varying from the original form as the composer's fancy may dictate, but never causing the attentive listener to lose the guiding thread, till finally the original themes again appear, this time homeward bound, and the movement comes to an end in big, plunging chords.

The Larghetto that succeeds is one of Beethoven's best known and most admired productions. It is as simple and moving as a folk-song, which form, indeed, it much resembles. Its serenity is in marked contrast to the tumultuous and tragic emotions of his well-known "Will" which he wrote about this time. One passage, to be sure, introduces a kind of dialogue between two voices, in which anxious query and stern, unyielding response seem to alternate; but if serious it is not sad, and the movement closes as

(Continued to Page Three)

STUDENTS WELCOME HOMECOMING HUSKERS

IMPROMPTU PARADE AND CELEBRATION RALLY YESTERDAY

1,000 Students Out—Captain Corey and Coach Stewart Tell How It Was Done

The football team, returning yesterday noon from their victorious journey to Portland, was greeted by one of the largest spontaneous demonstrations in Nebraska football history. Although there were no definitely arranged plans for receiving the, over 1,000 students gathered at the Burlington station to greet the train upon its arrival, to march behind the team and band down O street, and to overflow the Army in an impromptu rally which for enthusiasm rivaled the memorable occasion one week ago when the team was sent on its journey of conquest.

The Innocents had arranged a big meeting, but when the team decided to take one more day to the trip it upset arrangements. No word was issued from the office of the executive dean that 1 o'clock classes were to be dismissed yesterday, and plans were somewhat up in the air. Without definite guidance, a mob of students collected at the station and put on an impromptu parade down O street. Marching up to the campus, the little chapel was packed to capacity.

Corey Told How
"Dutch" Garret took the platform and after asking for a yell or two, introduced Captain Corey, who proceeded to tell the assembled student body "how they did it." "There was no getting beat about it," said the big captain. "We all wanted to come back to Nebraska again, and there was no other way out of it."

Dr. Stewart was then introduced. "Much of the credit for Nebraska's victory belongs to you," he said to the crowd before him. "It was only necessary for me to remind the boys of the thousands at home waiting to hear the first news of victory to put the necessary fight in them." That they did have the fight and the necessary punch Dr. Stewart admitted, adding that the game was one of the hardest fought he had seen in years. Enthusiastic cheers greeted the statement of the coach that Nebraska spirit had been such a factor in the victory achieved in a strange land. Dr. Stewart gave the band a good share of the credit for the victory.

Following the speech of Dr. Stewart, the band played three or four of the favorite pieces, and the crowd was dismissed in time to meet 2 o'clock classes.

FORM TREASURERS-MANAGERS CLUB

PERMANENT ORGANIZATION OF BUSINESS MANAGERS

Walter Blunk, President—Lesh and Cotter Officers—Martin Speaks

The Treasurers and Managers club was organized yesterday at a meeting of all the treasurers and managers of school organizations for the purpose of co-operating with the student activities office in building a uniform system of accounts and in bringing the financial department of each organization under one head.

The following officers were unanimously elected:

President, Walter Blunk, '19, of Grand Island.
Vice-president, Charles Y. Lesh, '17, of University Place.

(Continued to Page Four)

DECORATE ARMOY FOR HALLOWE'EN

SCOTT'S ORCHESTRA TO FURNISH MUSIC FOR DANCE

Hallowe'en Stunts—Old Fashioned Food—No Rally Over Victory

The University Armory was decorated last night by the mixer committee in preparation for the Hallowe'en party tonight. The order has been sent to the cider mill for gallons and gallons of cider, and to the baker for hundreds of doughnuts and hundreds of punkun pies.

Clifford Scott and his hired hands will have their justly celebrated orchestra in tune for the party, and the dancers will hear the latest syncopated melodies.

The committee that has planned the entertainment tonight, a part of

(Continued to Page Four)

THE NEBR.-KAN. BATTLE MAY BE DECEMBER 15

TENTATIVE DATE SET FOR DOUBLE DEBATE

Exact Wording of Submarine Question Not Fixed—Fo Callsgg Calls Out Candidates

The Nebraska-Kansas battle of will be fought probably on Friday evening, December 15. The second annual double-header intercollegiate debate will be held then in Lincoln and at Lawrence.

Submarine warfare on commerce will be the pat and timely subject that will be threshed out by two picked teams of Cornhuskers and Jayhawkers. The exact wording of the submarine question has not yet been fixed. The debating boards of Nebraska and Kansas universities are in correspondence on the question.

All candidates for membership on the seminar in argumentation and debate and one the two teams to represent the University were called out yesterday by an announcement on the intercollegiate debating bulletin board on University hall by Professor Fogg. He wishes all students interested intending to compete to get into communication with him at once. He wishes to get their names and street addresses and other information, and will be found in his office in University hall, 206.

Nebraska won a double victory over Kansas last year on both sides of the question of increasing the armament of the United States.

A large number of candidates are expected for the two teams. The wheels will be set in motion right away. Further announcements are expected today and tomorrow, and will be made on the bulletin board.