GIVES SOME NEW REASONS FOR FAVORING AND SUPPORTING THE MOVEMENT FOR PAVED ROADS

I expect to vote for the highway bonds. This is done not because I will thereby have money put in my pocket, not because the value of my property will be enhanced, not because a saving to the producers of farm products will eventually be a saving to me, not for any mercenary motive whatsoever.

I expect to vote for the bonds because I believe Lancaster County can afford better roads than she now has. When a man can afford better things he usually buys them. We do not live in log and sod houses, as our pioneer fathers did, we do not walk on bare floors as they did, nor do we put up with a fireplace in the end of a shanty. We could deprive ourselves of hundreds of conveniences and put ourselves back to the same plane that necessity required of them. And, while we might not save as much, it certainly would be cheaper than building brick or frame houses, cheaper than buying carpets and rugs, cheaper than furnace heat, electric lights, telephones, daily papers and automobiles. But we have no desire to return to those conditions, to the ox team method of travel, to the wearing of moccasins, or to the borrowing of fire from one's neighbor. We prefer the comfort and pleasure of living according to modern standards.

So with roads, Lancaster County can afford as good roads as any county in Ohio, in Indiana, in California or in any other state. Then why not have them? Our pleasure, our comfort, our happiness, our health and the welfare of our children are just of as much importance to us as theirs is to them.

I expect to vote for the highway bonds. Very truly yours,
GEO. R. CHATBURN.

THE BIG NEBRASKA-OREGON GAME BROUGHT TO YOU

With all the expense and worry of a 4,000 mile trip eliminated and replaced by the comfort and convenience of a modern theatre, Nebraska University students are to be given the opportunity of seeing in all its realistic details, the greatest football struggle of 1916.

The Acme Amusement Co., at enormous expense have photographed every detail of the famous Nebraska-Oregon trip. The picture starts with the departure of the team from Lincoln and shows every detail of interest, such as the various workouts at Julesburg, Colo.; Laramie, Wyo., and Pocatello, Idaho. The arrival at Portland is shown with the enormous parade. Then comes the game and probably never before was a football game shown in more detail or by clearer pictures. The return trip is pictured, fully showing all the stops, the little human interest details, and in fact there is not a real interesting point overlooked.

Through the entire length of this picture familiar faces are intermingled with interesting scenes, and every student with true Nebraska spirit surging through his veins should see these pictures of the greatest football trip in history.

The pictures will be shown at the Orpheum starting Monday and continuing until Thursday. These will be in addition to the regular big five-act Orpheum program. Prices, matinee 2:30, 15c; evening 7:15 and 9, 25c. It is advisable to attend the first evening performance in order to obtain seats.

ARE YOU MAKING YOUR OWN EXPENSES AT COLLEGE?

Many students are either making their way through college or are paying a part of their expenses by outside work. The writer was successful in paying his own expenses in a mid-west state university and believes that he has an excellent plan to suggest to students who find it necessary to work a few hours each day in order to defray a part or all of their expenses. This plan will pay an energetic person at least one dollar for every hour one can afford to give to the work daily and the work will appeal to young women students as well as to the men. Drop a card to the firm mentioned below. The plan will be submitted to you by return mail. At least investigate the proposition if you are working your way through school. Address Herald Company, Fremont, Nebraska.—Adv.

The Yale football management, expecting a record breaking attendance at the coming Yale-Harvard game, has decided to erect 8,000 more seats. The Bowl, whose capacity is now 60,617, is the largest in the world. Harvard has already asked for 25,000 seats for the coming game.—Exchange.
