Entered at the postoffice at Lincoln, Nebraska, as second class mail matter under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

Tomorrow is Home-coming day. The alumni will be coming all day today and tomorrow. The campus will have many visitors who will be anxious to see the old buildings and their old professors. They have been looking forward to it, planning on it, seeing it, and for many it will be their first return to the school for years.

The annual battle between the Jayhawks and the Cornhuskers will be fought on the field, Saturday afternoon. The spirit is running high this year. The Kansas men are coming to win, and they are going to play real football. But against Nebraska, graduate and undergraduate spirit pulling for the best football team in the country, and pulling together, Kansas university will have a hard time. No team can win against the combined, co-operative spirit that will be shown tomorrow.

The "grads" are coming from far and near for it. "The team" will always be the same incarnation of ideals, though the identities that compose it change. The alumni are coming to fight for Nebraska,—the students and faculty are going to fight for the team and Nebraska,—and "for Nebraska we will."

Olympics seem to be a "continued in our next" performance this year. The scrap between the freshmen and sophomores started Wednesday, instead of Saturday as is the custom. No one can deny that there is "pep" in these two classes. Paul Revere isn't in it with some of these men who fly around in the night hunting stolen classmen. This happened last night and night before. The spirit is fine, it is what everyone needs, the spirit of rivalry,—but the methods are a trifle strenuous, and everything can be carried too far.

The new men come to school with all kinds of wholesome enthusiasm, and if some one could invent a way for them to keep it, and know how to use it during the rest of the four years, he would be doing a service to the whole life of the institution.

Thousands of men in European war prisons are becoming insane for lack of proper food and care. Andersonville and Libbey prisons are duplicated hundreds of times on the continent. The stories of suffering and misery are not exaggerated,—they are true. Nebraska students are going to help in the big work of lightening the sorrow and sickness that is so terrible. Within ten days, ten thousand dollars must be pledged. Every man and woman in the University should respond.

The music for a Nebraska song has been written by Professor C. B. Cornell, but there are no words, as yet. The music is inspiring, it fills the need that we have felt for a long time, that of a song that will be an alma mater song, a true representative school song. Some one should get busy and write some good, lively verses to the music.

Don't forget that tomorrow is Home Coming Day!

THE DAYS GONE BY

Five Years Ago Today

Manager Earl O. Eager offered two reserved seats to the Michigan game to the person turning in the best football song for the rooters.

Two Years Ago Today

A special train was to carry the Cornhuskers to Iowa on the following Friday.

The scrub team scored two touchdowns against the freshmen. The names Caley, Doyle, Hawkins, Selzer, Halbersleben and Porter were prominent in the account of the struggle.

One Year Ago Today

Elsa Helen Haarmann, '15, and Wil-

Ham Mathew Locke, ex-'16, were married in Omaha.

Kansas objected to Nebraska playing a post-season game at Pasadena.

The following appeared in a forum article in the Daily Nebraskan: "All Cheer Together—Are We Spoiled By Success?" Nebraska rooting needs rejuvenation. The old 'grads,' who helped to make our school what it is and who have every single tradition, will be back. Are we going to let them go home with the impression that Nebraska spirit is nil?"

High cost of newspaper materials has forced the Silver and Gold, U. of Colorado, to omit, occasionally, one edition of the paper. This would indeed be a calamity to a weekly paper; Silver and Gold, however, goes to press twice a week.—Ex.
