CORNHUSKERS WORK TO BEAT IOWA

HUSKERS IN FIGHTING MOOD PREPARE FOR IOWA

COACHES FLOCK FIELD TO HELP NEBRASKA WIN SATURDAY

Moser, Riddell and Caley Out of Scrimmage on Account of Injuries—Others on the Job

FOOTBALL SPECIAL FOR IOWA GAME

The football special for the Iowa-Nebraska game will leave Lincoln at 11:30 p. m., Friday night over the Rock Island. It will reach Iowa City in time for breakfast Saturday. The band will go on this train. Any students who intend to make the trip are asked to communicate with Guy E. Reed, manager of athletics, at once.

The practice on Nebraska field yesterday looked something like a Yale or Harvard practice as far as the number of coaches was concerned.

Max Towle, a former Cornhusker quarterback, Owen A. Frank, an ex-halfback and Leslie Mann, a Lincoln boy who played football with the Springfield Y. M. C. A. team were all out in addition to the four regular coaches.

Frank and Halligan were playing with the scrubs, and with the aid of Schellenberg, a freshman, they pushed the varsity up and down the field for three touchdowns in rapid succession.

Varsity Shows Fight

When the varsity was finally given the ball, they turned on the scrubs with a vengeance and, using tackle bucks and forward passes they marched up and down the field almost at will. Dobson showed up in the limelight when it came to sliding off tackle.

Kositzky and Wilder showed up well in the line on both offensive and defensive. Kositzky has been steadily improving this year and threatens to become one of Nebraska's best guards of late years.

Rhodes and Otoupalik, defensive ends were individually coached by Rutherford and Mann, and both showed more knowledge of the finer points than they have been able to exhibit to date.

Cameron at Center

Cameron, who will fill Moser's place at center, until his injury has healed, is fitting in with the team in a surprising manner.

Corey and Shaw are playing the same kind of an aggressive game as they have played all season, with the addition of a little more fight.

Moser, Caley and Riddell were all absent from the lineup last night. Moser was on the field in uniform but could do no work and it is very doubtful if he will be ready to work before Thanksgiving. Caley and Riddell were both on the field, but not in uniform.

Riddell's Foot Better

Riddell was confined to the hospital until yesterday noon, with an infected foot. The infection has yielded to treatment, however, and he will probably be on the field this afternoon. Caley took a day off to give some bruises and minor injuries a chance to heal.

Owen Frank has lost none of his old time ability in sneaking through the line and around the ends and for awhile he made the varsity look rather foolish. However, as soon as they got onto his system of play, they made short work of him.

GERMAN DRAMATIC CLUB WILL PRESENT "PENSION SCHOLLER"

The German Dramatic club will give "Pension Scholler" Saturday, December 9, in the Temple theatre. Miss Amanda Heppner, assistant professor of Germanic languages is directing the play, which was given twice last summer, once at the Temple theatre in July, and again at the Auditorium the first of September.

Axel Swenson, '17, as Herr Klopproth, Sr., has the leading part. Others with heavy parts are: Gehard Naber, '17; Fred Rabe, '18; Alfred Hinze, '18; Martha Winter, '17; Ethel Kittenger, '17; and Madeline Craft, '16.

SOCIOLOGY CLASS VISITS MANUFACTURING PLANTS OF LINCOLN

Members in the sociology class, taught by Mrs. Hattie Plum Williams, are this week visiting the plants of the various manufacturing enterprises in Lincoln and preparing reports of their investigation. Social conditions, working conditions, sanitary measures taken, hours required to work, remuneration, and rate of production, are among the questions that are being investigated. It is planned by these personal investigations to give the students a practical knowledge of social conditions as applied to social movements.

NEBRASKAN'S STORY OF IOWA GAME BY OWN WIRE

BATTLE TO BE GIVEN PLAY BY PLAY IN TEMPLE

Nominal Charge of Five Cents to Cover Cost Alone—Any Profit to Prison Fund

The Daily Nebraskan will run a special leased wire from the football field at Iowa City, Saturday, to the Temple theatre, giving the Iowa-Nebraska game, play by play. The game will start about 2:15.

The Nebraskan's story of the battle will be dictated to the Nebraskan's special Western Union operator by a representative of The Nebraskan staff. The Daily Nebraskan guarantees that the game will come as quick, if not quicker than that of any other city paper.

A nominal admission charge of 5 cents will be made to cover the cost of the special service. If there is any surplus, it will be turned into the fund for the relief of the European war prisoners.

A Model Gridiron

The Western Union will run a loop into the Temple theatre today, sending the wire to the stage. As the operator receives the story of the game, it will be played upon a model gridiron and megaphoned to the crowd.

Tickets will be sold by members of the journalism classes under Professor Fogg, by Daily Nebraskan reporters, by members of Sigma Delta Chi, the journalism fraternity, and Theta Sigma Phi, the journalism sorority.

The tickets are only sold to cover expenses, and the small charge will bring the game within reach of every student, from a comfortable vantage point.

STEFFENS GRADUATED FROM CALIFORNIA UNI

FAMOUS JOURNALIST TO TALK TO UNIVERSITY THURSDAY

Has Been a Prominent Figure in New York Newspaper World—Has Studied Mexican Problem

Lincoln Steffens, a New York journalist, who will address the students of the University on "Journalism," Thursday evening from 7:15 to 7:45 in the Temple, is a graduate of the University of California. For three or four years he was a student of philosophy, sociology and politics in German universities and at Paris. On his return to the United States he started as a reporter on the New York Evening Post. Mr. Steffens' first reputation was gained by reporting the financial news of Wall street. He was soon made city editor of the Evening Post and later became city editor of the New York Commercial Advertiser, but resigned this latter position to become managing editor of McClure's Magazine.

While with McClure's he wrote a series of articles on "The Shame of the Cities" and "The Original Muck-rake." He also wrote on American municipal government, one of his books being "Struggle for Self-Government." He is the author of numerous short stories and special articles.

During most of the last two years he has been in Mexico and for four months traveled with Carranza when he was trying to rid the country of bandits. Mr. Steffens will give a lecture on Mexico at the All Souls

BULLETS ARE NOT AS EFFICIENT AS GOSPEL

Missionaries Get More Converts in Proportion to Trials Than War Bullets Find Mark.

"They say in the war zone that it takes 1,500 bullets to kill one man," said Miss Grace Davis of Korea at vesper service at the Y. W. C. A. last evening. "Statistics show that out of every 400 missionary attempts, one man is saved. If the warring countries think it is worth while to use 1,500 bullets to kill a man, isn't it much more worth while to make the 400 attempts to save?"

Miss Davis compared the field in which she is working in the orient to the prison camps for which we are raising money. She told of the millions of Chinese women who are prisoners to darkness, sin and despair, who are eagerly waiting for someone to release them.

"How I wish," she added, "that every woman in the universities and colleges of today could realize what unlimited opportunity she has before her." She spoke of the thousands of women who do not know there is a God, yet know that there is a better life.

Mary Hedrick conducted the meeting and Marion Little gave a cello solo. Miss Margaret McPhee told of the prison camps and explained the subscription movement now being launched.

church at 8 o'clock Thursday evening, after his talk on "Journalism" to the University.

IOWA PREPARES TO MEET NEBRASKA

VICTORY OVER AMES WON AT HEAVY COST

Hunzelman Has Broken Ankle—Iowans Expect Laun to Be a Star

(Special to the Daily Nebraskan.)

Iowa City, Ia., Nov. 21.—In spite of the fact that the state championship has returned to the university after resting at Ames for a year, the first practice of the Hawkeyes yesterday afternoon in preparation for the Cornhuskers was not as jubilant as it would have been in other circumstances. The official report for the day said:

We invaded enemy territory Saturday with great success, but not without considerable losses, our casualties being about 25 per cent of effectives. Every objective set was reached and retained and today we hold solidly every foot of ground over which we advanced.

Hunzelman, guard, is the most seriously hurt. He has a broken bone in his ankle and will be out for the rest of the season, but in Fosdick Coach Jones has a regular from last year who can be thrown into the breach and who will play the position well. Davis, halfback and drop-kicker, was unable to report for practice yesterday afternoon because of a wrenched ankle, but Trainer Watson promises that he will be in fighting trim by Saturday. Scott, fullback, is also temporarily out of shape due to a severe blow which he received on the head in the Ames game. In the encounter with the Cyclones he was "off in the head" when removed and imagined that he was fighting the Cornhuskers for all he was worth.

Look to Laun.

Iowa followers are counting on Captain Laun for big gains in the game Saturday. Against Ames the Iowa leader punted with uncanny accuracy, and usually so placed his boots that they went for fifty-five or sixty yards and then rolled out of bounds so they could not be returned. Coach Jones is working this week to develop his forward passing game, also, and visitors at the homecoming Saturday may see some spectacular work in this regard.

The Iowa line has been shifted somewhat in preparation for the Nebraska invasion. At signal practice this afternoon Triplett was moved from tackle to guard in place of Kelly, having previously been changed from end to tackle, and McKee went back at his old tackle job which he only lost the middle of last week. Reed remained at left end, where he has won a regular berth, although the lightest man on the first string varsity. In the backfield Nugent played in place of Jenkins and Van Pelt worked in place of Scott.

HAROLD CHAMBERLIN.

IMAGIST POETRY TO BE READ AT ENGLISH CLUB

Each member of the English club is requested to submit a short imagist poem at the next meeting of the club, Friday evening, at the home of Professor H. B. Alexander, 1835 Ryans street.

Club members who may be uncertain as to just what imagist poetry is, are referred to the Nation for October 14, 1915; Poetry for March, 1913, and the New Republic, January 22, 1916.

Notices of the meeting, to be called at 8 o'clock, have been sent out by L. C. Wimberly, the secretary of the club.

DR. HOWARD FOR A DRY NATION

Asserts College Men Should Take the Lead in the Movement for National Prohibition.

Dr. George E. Howard, head of the department of political science and sociology, declares, in a letter quoted in the Survey of November 18, that "Nothing short of nation-wide prohibition of the manufacture and sale of alcoholic drinks is adequate. College and university men and women should come forward at whatever risk or sacrifice to claim the leadership in this great battle for social righteousness."

The letter is quoted by Rockwell D. Hunt of the University of Southern California in his article on "College Men and the Alcohol Question." Dr. Howard's letter was written for the national prohibition committee in April, 1914.

Mr. Hunt says of the letter: "The

SHAKESPEARE LOVERS ATTEND CONVOCATION

PHI BETA KAPPA SOCIETY COMMEMORATES TRICENTENARY

Faculty Men Tell of Life and Work of the Dramatist—Dr. Hyde Sang Songs

A big crowd of Shakespeare lovers, forming the largest convocation audience of the year with the exception of that at the Gilkey address last week, attended the Shakespeare Tercentenary program given by the Phi Beta Kappa society in Memorial hall yesterday at 11 o'clock. Miss Louise Pound, of the department of English literature, presided as chairman.

"Shakespeare in England," by Prof. S. B. Gass, was the first of three talks by faculty members of the society. Professor Gass said that, although the present war had worked more ill with the English stage than such previous conflicts as Queen Anne's and the Napoleonic wars, Shakespeare was still a potent force in the tendency of the living stage. That Shakespeare presented simply and well, was still as great a drawing card as ever, was the belief of Professor Gass, who said that it was the stage carpenter, and not the author, who was responsible for the current phrase, "Shakespeare spells ruin," prevalent among theatre men.

Shakespeare in Germany Speaking on "Shakespeare in Germany," Prof. A. D. Schrag traced the profound effect of Shakespearean drama upon the thought and literature of Germany after the last half of the Seventeenth century. Goethe, he said, owed much to Shakespeare. Modern German literature up to the period of

NIGHT CLASSES FOR SHOP WORKERS

ENGINEERING DEPARTMENT TO OFFER COURSES

Ten Weeks of Lectures to Help Lincoln Men to Greater Proficiency in Work

The mechanical engineering department of the University will offer, beginning January 8, 1917, and continuing for ten weeks, six courses for shopmen or others who cannot attend day school, but who wish to become more proficient in their work. Each course will be given one night each week in the Mechanical Engineering building.

Application for entrance into these classes is to be made to the extension department, but in the courses in steam power laboratory and power plant problems, the applicant must consult the instructor concerning his preparation for the work before finally being assigned to the subject. The fees which will be charged have not been determined upon as yet.

The following courses will be given: "Engineering Problems Affecting the Home," by Prof. J. D. Hoffman, head of the mechanical engineering department. This class will meet every Monday evening and consists of a series of lectures planned to give a better knowledge of the practical problems involved in residence heating, ventilation and sanitation.

FACULTY MEN'S DINNER CLUB TO HAVE SECOND MEETING FRIDAY EVE

The Faculty Men's Dinner club will hold their second meeting at the Lincoln hotel, Friday evening, November 24, at 6:30 o'clock. Plates are 85 cents. Prof. E. M. Wilcox, head of the department of agricultural botany, will speak on "Continuity of Science and Art in Agriculture."

Professors F. W. Sanford, E. M. Wilcox and P. M. Buck have charge of the meeting.

GEORGE W. DUNLAP AT TEMPLE TONIGHT

Famous Baseball Evangelist to Lecture on the Philippine Islands and Civilization There

George W. Dunlap, the famous baseball evangelist of the Philippine Islands, will speak to University men at a meeting tonight at 7 o'clock in the Music hall of the Temple.

Dr. Dunlap, who spoke last Sunday afternoon at the Oliver theatre, has a most interesting lecture on the progress the gospel and civilization is making in Uncle Sam's far eastern insular possessions. He is a good talker, who knows what he is talking about, and his subject should be of interest to every University man interested in the experiment in colonial government the United States is making in the Philippines.

The talk will commence promptly at 7 o'clock, and will end at 7:45 sharp.
