Entered at the postoffice at Lincoln, Nebraska, as second class mail matter under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

The Iowa-Nebraska game will be played in the Temple theatre Saturday afternoon as soon as the special leased wire can bring the returns from Iowa City.

The Daily Nebraskan has arranged for the special wire, with a Nebraskan reporter at the other end, to be run to the Temple theatre, where the returns from the game will be given out both vocally and by means of a bulletin.

A blackboard will be placed on the stage and the ten-yard lines marked off on it. A marker will show the relative positions of the ball on the field. The details of the game will be announced by the reporter at this end of the wire.

Students of Journalism, members of Theta Sigma Phi, and Sigma Delta Chi, the professional journalism sorority and fraternity, will sell tickets at five cents apiece to defray the expense of the wire. Any profit will be turned over to the European prison relief fund.

To sit in a comfortable seat and to get the returns of the big game play by play before the city papers have them,—and all for a nickel,—that is the opportunity that we will have Saturday.

The engineering department will open night classes, after January first, for the shopmen and mechanics in Lincoln.

The men who have never had the opportunity to become experts and are merely ordinary laborers, will be able to get the technical knowledge they need and the professors who have the classes will be doing a great good. The success of the courses has been assured by the demand of the men.

That Kansas was determined to beat us Saturday is shown in a copy of the Daily Kansan for November 18. Here are some of the ideas they had:

"Team Leaves to Win Conference Title; Rooters Follow Tonight
 "Real Kansas spirit is running in veins of team and rooters. Predictions are for a game unequalled in 'fight' in six years.

"Line-up for tomorrow's game presents strong front to Nebraska's line. Only one injured.

"Large crowd at depot last night put final punch in men on squad. Team will spend day in rest before Husker game.

"One thing is certain.

"The Cornhuskers cannot go on winning from Kansas every year. There must come a turn in the lane.

"This year, Kansas followers believe, the Kansas Jayhawk will feed on Nebraska corn.

"That's the sort of spirit which permeated the throng of Kansas rooters which gave the team a rousing sendoff at the Santa Fe station last night, even though the train was an hour late. That's the sort of spirit which made the departure a warm one—which sent the boys on their road to Lincoln feeling that the school stood behind them; that Kansas was proud of the men who are to represent her on the Nebraska field tomorrow.

"That's the sort of spirit that has made Kansas famous. That's the sort of spirit that will make her football team fight to the last ditch. That's the sort of spirit that will make tomorrow's victory—if it is one—all the more glorious because it has been so long denied.

"It's Our Turn

"Tradition has made the Kansas-Nebraska conflict a classic in valley football. The two institutions have been battling away for supremacy for nearly a quarter of a century, and Nebraska, Kansas must admit, has had the edge. This year, however, the Jayhawk will have his turn. Kansas adherents are firm in their belief that their team will win tomorrow.

"With the exception of Palkowsky, there is not an injured man on the squad which left for Lincoln last night; and Kansas may well hope for a royal battle tomorrow. Her team is fit.

"Team Optimistic

"We're going to win," Captain Lindsey told a group of his personal friends before his departure last night. "We've got the stuff this year, and we're going to win."

FORUM

To the Editor of the Daily Nebraskan:
 Your editorial in the "Nebraskan" under date of the 20th inst., commenting upon the recent Kansas-Nebraska football game deserves comment. The game is said to have been a "psychological victory." We outplayed our opponents, we were defeated because we were courteous enough to place the "three hundred strong" from Kansas in a body and in a favorable location.

To our minds, these statements, even if correct, evidence a spirit which is hardly representative of the student body. Certainly a majority of the students at this University are able to take defeat in a proper spirit. The representative paper of the students is not representing the student body when it voices such a sentiment as was set forth in the editorial above referred to but is misrepresenting the true attitude of the students. It may be that it was a psychological victory, or some other mysterious, hidden or obtruse reason, perfectly apparent to yourself, may have defeated our splendid team, but after all, the only plausible reason for the defeat to a great portion of those present is that Nebraska faced an able team which outplayed her at a critical time.

Let us all join hands, not to beat psychology, but to support our team.
