Entered at the postoffice at Lincoln, Nebraska, as second class mail matter under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

The sale of tickets for The Nebraskan report of the Iowa-Nebraska game is rapidly increasing, and though only a few will be able to go to Iowa City, over a thousand loyal Cornhuskers will watch the game in Lincoln by means of the special leased wire of The Daily Nebraskan.

Every Nebraska man and woman wants the team to win Saturday, and every man and woman would like to see the real game on the Iowa field. The next best thing is to buy a ticket and watch the reports as they come in over the wire.

The team is going to win. It must win. Every Nebraskan will stand behind the team.

Have you helped the prison relief fund grow?

The team leaves for Iowa City at 4:05 o'clock this afternoon. It is going over there to win the game, at the Iowa homecoming, on the Iowa field.

We believe that we will win the game. We have the spirit, we have the team.

A crowd at the rally in Memorial hall, this afternoon at 3:40 to give the final punch to the send-off will be the beginning of the victory. No man will prophesy defeat. No man will cast gloom over the school and put discouragement in our hearts. For Nebraska, we will.

PANTOMIME TAKES

PROMINENT PLACE WITH ELOCUTIONERS

Unusual interest taken in work in expression has brought a record attendance in elocution classes at the University this year. Pantomime presentations are at present featuring the work in classes conducted by Miss Alice Howell.

What are declared to be some of the best pantomimes ever produced in these classes at Nebraska are being put on in several of the divisions. Originality has gone the limit and much time and thought have been given in making one "silent drama" outshine another. "Cinderella," "Washington and His Hatchet" and several others will be presented at Temple theatre Friday before the class members.

The United States civil service commission announces a competitive examination for men only on December 13, next, for a position as teacher of agriculture in the Flandreau Indian School, South Dakota, or in similar positions as vacancies may occur. The salary is $900 per year and living.

Those desiring further information should inquire of the United States civil service commission, Washington, D. C., or of the proper authorities in the Federal building, Lincoln.

sults of the campaign there will be made known soon.

Meanwhile singly or in groups the pledges of the students are being received, and cash payments made. That the University will contribute a sum worthy the greatest western state, is confidently expected.

PET BULL SNAKE LIKES RATS

"Zip," the big bull snake pet of the department of zoology, doesn't mind at all when students pick him up and pet him. The fact that more do not do so is not his fault, but is due to the reluctance of the co-eds to get acquainted with him.

In addition to his fondness for students this big snake, which is four feet long, has a weakness for rats. He fasted for four weeks recently, then ate three rats at one meal. When a rat is tossed in to him he grabs it, coils around it until the rat fails to take any more interest in the proceedings, then swallows it whole, head first.

One would think that he would be well aware that he had eaten something, as each of the rats are visible in the snake as they go through the process of digestion. "Zip" will accept only live rats.
