FRESHMEN BEAT SOPHOMORES 13-0

Poor Team Work by Second Year
Men—Freshmen Play
Well

The freshmen easily beat the sophomores 13 to 0, in their game on the athletic field Saturday morning. Andrews going around end for the first touchdown in the second quarter and Cox carrying the ball over on a forward pass, Andrews kicking goal. Andrews, Chapin and Schmidt of the freshmen carried the ball most of the game in long end runs and forward passes. The sophomores had no individual stars and were weak on teamwork, seldom making their downs.

The freshmen backfield played an excellent game, their speed discounting the heavier sophos, who were unable to hold the line or ward off the snappy plays of the first year men.

John E. Terry, '20, of Monroe, who graduated last spring from the school of agriculture, has left school on account of illness. He is now in a hospital in Omaha, but expects to be in school again the second semester.

Hymn to Nebraska

Our voices rise to thee in glad songs of praise,
In glorious melody our anthems raise
From farm and prairie thy colors we bear,
To build a shrine to thee, Nebraska fair.

Thy fame spreads over all, thy name rings on high,
We answer to thy call, Nebraska our cry
Our hearts and our honor for thee will prevail,
Hail Scarlet and the Cream,—Nebraska hail!

STUDENTS CHEERED GAME IN ARMORY

600 STUDENTS HEARD NEBRASKAN'S RUNNING STORY

True Nebraska Spirit in Evidence at Battle—Rooting Nearly Raised the Roof

The Daily Nebraskan's running story of the Iowa game last Saturday was witnessed by six hundred students who crowded the chapel auditorium, cheered when the Cornhuskers slashed their way through the Iowa line to victory, and rooted themselves hoarse with yells of delight as touchdown after touchdown was piled up against the Hawkeyes.

So great was the joy in the crowd, so much fun did everyone have at the game, that it seems safe to assert that the custom started by The Daily Nebraskan this fall will be repeated from this time on, and students hereafter will get together at the University to follow the fortunes of their team, in foreign territory. One could easily picture the day when, in an auditorium capable of holding the entire student body, Nebraskans will receive their special leased wire story from the front and make sure that the psychic wave falls not to make its influence felt.

The lowans surprised the folks at home by commencing the game at 2 o'clock, and even the telegraph operator was not at his instrument when the battle began. A sprinkling of students in the chapel heard the first reports, but when the game was well on, the lower floor was jammed and there were many in the gallery.

Lyons Megaphones Story

Jack Lyons, in loud stentorian tones that would have done credit to the best train announcer in the world, megaphoned the story, hot from Iowa City, while Rutgers Van Brunt operated the football on the model playing field. Eva Miller bossed the party from the telegraph room.

Although first reports were discouraging, the rooters never lost faith in their team. Then as the game progressed, and it became evident that the Cornhuskers were fighting as they have not fought before this season, yell after yell arose from the crowd.

When Nebraska pushed over a touchdown, and was called back for off-side, and pushed over another touchdown, and was again called back, the rooters thought that they were being played with. The third touchdown was successful and the varsity went into the lead with a rush.

The Nebraskan's special wire was connected with the weather bureau wire, run into the attic of University hall, along the corridor, out through the window of the Cornhusker office, and into Miss Gitting's office. The telegraph machine and typewriter were placed there.

SORORITY COUNCIL TO AWARD GOLD MEDAL TOMORROW

Gold medals will be awarded at convocation tomorrow by the inter-sorority council to the girl of each of the freshman, sophomore and junior classes having the highest scholarship average for last year. The names of the girls meriting this honor will not be disclosed until that time.

The averages are very high, running from 93 to 98 per cent. The awards are made annually by the inter-sorority council and the contest is open to all University girls. The plan was adopted last year as a means of encouraging high scholarship.

THANKSGIVING HERE, BUT NOT IN EUROPE

WAR PRISONERS MAKE APPEAL
TO NEBRASKA STUDENTS

Students Will Be Given Last Opportunity to Contribute This Week to Relief Fund

Nebraska University students are ready to enjoy Thanksgiving vacation. They are looking forward to the big day when, Notre Dame beaten, they can go home, put their feet under the old home table, and ask for second and third and fourth helpings of mother's turkey.

But there is no Thanksgiving in the prison camps of Europe.

Today and tomorrow tables will be placed on the campus and in the halls of the University buildings, at which pledges will be received for the University prison relief fund. It will be the last opportunity for the students to contribute to alleviate the sufferings that have wrung the heart of the world, and to show in some way their appreciation of the splendid courage of the European, be his country whatever it may.

It will be the last opportunity for Nebraska University to make some small return for the debt the University owes the soil that has produced the men who have made American as well as European civilization possible.
Greater Response Coming

The students have responded, but not as generously as they can, surely not as generously as they will, to the fund that will do more than anything else to build for the world's best future.

The men in prison camps cannot get back into battle, for the custom of exchanging prisoners is not followed in modern warfare.

They can only live from day to day, from hour to hour, from minute to minute, eating the same meal of soup and rolls, just enough to keep alive. They can share only the same thin blanket, just heavy enough to prevent freezing. They can only sit and suffer, unless America extends the hand of brotherhood and by giving them real food, providing them warm blankets, furnishing them victrola music, lets them know that this great nation can find time from its selfish pursuits to feel a sympathy for the nations across the water.

The opportunity to contribute to the European relief fund is the test of the milk of human kindness in the Nebraska student's breast. Will the results show paltry hundreds, or the thousands of dollars that this, the University of the richest state in the union, should contribute.

Thanksgiving for America, but no Thanksgiving for Europe. Nebraska students have an opportunity of making a Christmas for the sufferers in the war prison camps.

MISS FONTAINE, CLASSIC DANCER, AT DRAMATIC CLUB

The Dramatic club held the second regular meeting Thursday night and had as guests Miss Evans-Burrows Fontaine and her mother. Miss Fontaine is an artist-dancer whose company headed the Orpheum bill the past week. She told the club of her work, her studies in India and Egypt and explained much of her work on the stage.

Later in the evening a one-act play "The Girl of My Dreams," was produced by club members. The parts were taken by Carolyn Kimball, Ralph Anderson, Irwin Clark, Paul Hagelin and Carlisle Jones. The usual business and social meeting concluded the program.

JUNIORS AND SENIORS IN TIE

Game Ends 6 to 6—Juniors Play
Better—Second Contest to Take Place This Week

The junior and senior football teams battled to a 6 to 6 tie on Nebraska field, Friday afternoon. The game was hard fought from start to finish with the juniors displaying slightly better football. The seniors scored early in the first quarter when Adler of the juniors fumbled a punt behind the goal line and Dempster of the seniors fell upon it for a touchdown. The juniors' score came in the last quarter by means of a forward pass, Baumann to Purney, and a 60-yard run for a touchdown. The tie necessitates another game to decide the championship and thus will probably be played next Wednesday.

The game in detail:

First half—Captain Baliman of the seniors won the toss and chose to defend the east goal. Doty kicked off to Watkins but the seniors failed to gain and Lahr punted. The juniors also failed to gain and Purney made a poor punt. Lahr of the seniors again punted to Adler who fumbled the ball behind his own goal line and Dempster falling on it scored a touchdown for the seniors. Roberts failed to kick goal. Score, seniors 6, juniors 0. Roberts kicked off to the juniors, who soon lost the ball, but after recovering marched steadily down the field to the 2-yard line, Hartman making long gains in carrying the ball. Here line plunges failed to gain and the juniors lost the ball on downs. Lahr punted and the half ended with the juniors in possession of the ball in the middle of the field.
