Entered at the postoffice at Lincoln, Nebraska, as second class mail matter under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

The best game of the season was played on the University athletic field, Thanksgiving day, when Nebraska met Notre Dame and lost. The final score was 20 to 0, against us.

It was one of the hardest fought games of the year. The Nebraska team played real football up to the last minute.

Notre Dame has a splendid team. It is much heavier than the Nebraska team. Bergman is one of the fastest backfield men in the country. Notre Dame's forward pass was impossible to break up. There were ever so many things in the Catholics' favor.

Generally the time for explanations is not after a defeat. There are always those who misconstrue even the slightest remarks. But it is only fair to both teams, to give them fair credit for what they had, and for what they did.

Nebraska ended the football season gloriously. The score is no indication of the kind of a game that has been played. If a team keeps fighting all of the time, to its utmost, and plays a clean game, it has done all that any reasonable human being could expect of it.

Dr. E. J. Stewart was re-elected athletic coach for one year, at a meeting of the athletic board last evening.

Dr. Stewart came to Nebraska a stranger to our ideas and customs, and has adapted himself to them very aptly.

The year, so far, has been remarkable in several ways. The trip to Oregon was an unprecedented adventure for the University and its team. It was every bit a success. The Kansas game and the Notre Dame game was also an almost unprecedented adventure for the University and its team. From the football point of view they certainly were not successful.

Nebraskans had become satiated with victory and egotism. The two defeats diminished the victorious ideas and offended the egotistic. There were a few people who were dissatisfied with the outcome of the season's scores and blamed the coach. Perhaps a trifle of the blame was deserved, a very great deal of it was not.

In short, Dr. Stewart has been given only the beginning of an opportunity to show what he can do. Both the coach and the team had to grow accustomed to each other. A coach cannot get results unless the understanding between himself and his team is mutual. It takes time to establish this understanding.

The Nebraska athletic board demonstrated its faith in Coach Stewart's ability when it re-elected him last evening, and there is no doubt that every Nebraskan stands ready to approve the action of the board.

Nebraska alumni are demanding that one big football game of next year's season be scheduled in Omaha. They say that they always support the games played in Lincoln, and that Lincoln is the only city which profits by the money which always comes with a game.

After they attempt to establish this argument, they state that it is only fair that one large game be played in Omaha, thus giving Omaha a share of the profits that go hand-in-hand with a game.

According to the Missouri valley conference rules, games played by schools in the conference must be on the home field.

After the O. A. C. game was scheduled for Portland, last spring, the conference rules were strengthened by defining the phrase "home field" as the ground whereon the main offices are located. This was to prevent any recurrence of the Oregon episode.

Under the circumstances, it seems an impossibility to conform with the wishes of the Omahans. There is no need for rules or laws if they cannot be kept. After they have been made, they should be observed.

There may be a solution to the problem. They may say that Nebraska could get out of the conference. They may say that because Nebraska itself strengthened the rules, by defining "home field," Nebraska can annul the rules. They seem to think that the other members of the conference would desire the annulment of the rule.

The wisdom of these "solutions" is to be questioned.

THE DAYS GONE BY

Five Years Ago Today

Dr. F. M. Fling had returned from an extended trip through the east where he attended a banquet of the American History association and spoke at Yale before the History club on "The Logic of History."

Dr. Ernest Bessey, '96, son of Dean Bessey of the University of Nebraska, had discovered an important substitute for coffee in a wild relative of the coffee plant in Florida.

Nebraska fruit judging team had won an easy victory in the contest at St. Joseph, Mo.

Two Years Ago Today

Three hundred Nebraskans attended the Cornhusker banquet at the Lindell.

Chi Omega was offering a prize to women making the best showing in sociology work.

At a meeting of the Missouri valley conference at the Lincoln hotel the law requiring a football man to carry thirty hours work was repealed and a twenty-eight hour rule adopted.

One Year Ago Today

Five hundred co-eds celebrated the close of the third all-victorious football season.

Plans were being made for an all-University Christmas party.

The Cornhusker banquet at the Lincoln hotel was attended by over 300 howling Cornhuskers. Professor Caldwell was the first speaker of the evening.

ALUMNI NEWS

The engineering offices have had calls lately from the following alumni: B. M. Howard, civil '09, assistant bridge engineer with the S. P. & S. R. R., Portland, Ore.; Walter Hall, Elect. '16, traveling salesman, Bryan Marsh Division National Lamp Works, Kansas City, Mo.

John Harmon, '16, visited the college of pharmacy during the recent vacation.

BRIEF BITS OF NEWS

Owen J. Lovejoy, general secretary of the child labor committee of America, gave an address at the Social Service club of Lincoln at an annual luncheon at the Lindell hotel yesterday. In the afternoon he addressed the Women's club at the Temple. Mr. Lovejoy is interested in promoting child labor laws of Nebraska.

The meeting of Sigma Xi will not be held December 7, as Dr. W. G. Stewart is unable to address the society. There will be a December meeting, time to be announced later.

Dean O. V. P. Stout left yesterday for Bridgeport, Neb., to attend the seventh annual convention of the Nebraska state irrigation association, December 6, 7, and 8.

Following the Thanksgiving vacation, the cadets are to receive military instruction in indoor classes, and this instruction will be continued as long as the weather is too cold for out of door drill. The men are divided up into sections numbering not more than fifteen men per section, and instruction in such subjects as hygiene and map reading will be given. By having all those who are able to do so, attend classes at from 4 to 5, the maximum amount of instruction can be received with the minimum number of instructors.

Are you ready for "READY MONEY"? It's next Thursday, Temple—50c.

NEBRASKA TO GET RESERVE OFFICERS TRAINING CORPS

Word has recently been received from the war department at Washington that Nebraska University is to be one of the schools included in the Reserve Officers' Training corps. This announcement was made by Captain Parker to the cadets just prior to the Thanksgiving vacation. This means that hereafter, each man receives a drill suit free by drilling two years. The pay provided for third and fourth year men will amount to about $9 a month, and will be given in consideration of the men attending the summer training camps. Full information concerning the new system, can be secured from the military department. However, there will not be any change this year.

TURN YOUR SHIRT-TAILS INTO DRAWERS

What good is a Shirt-tail anyway?

IN OLUS

the outside shirt and underdrawers are one garment. This means that the shirt can't work out of the trousers, that there are no shirt tails to bunch in seat, that the drawers "stay put," to say nothing of the comfort and economy of saving a garment. OLUS is cut cut—opens all the way down—closed crotch, closed back. See illustration. For golf, tennis and field wear, we recommend the special attached collar OLUS with regular or short sleeves. Extra sizes for very tall or stout men. All shirt fabrics, in smart designs, including silks—$1.50 to $10.00. OLUS one-piece PAJAMAS for lounging, resting and comfortable sleep. Made on the same principle as OLUS shirts—cut cut, closed back, closed crotch. No strings to tighten or come loose. $1.50 to $8.50.

Ask your dealer for OLUS. Booklet on request.
