STATE HISTORICAL SOCIETY WILL MEET HERE NEXT WEEK

HERE NEXT WEEK

The Nebraska state historical society will hold its fourth annual meeting to Lincoln January 10 and 11. The meeting will be in conjunction with the twenty-fifth annual meeting of the Nebraska territorial pioneer's association and the sixth annual meeting of the Nebraska memorial association. Many prominent men of the state will attend the sessions, which are open to the public.

AG CLUB MEETS

—DAVIS TALKS ON FARM JOURNALISM

The Agricultural club held its first meeting of the year last evening in U. 106 with fifty members present.

A. R. Davis, editor of the Nebraska Ruralist, gave a very interesting talk

STRIVING TO MAKE 1917 CORNHUSKER THE BEST EVER

Both the business and the editorial staff of this year's Cornhusker are striving to make it one of the best annuals that has ever been published at Nebraska is the report that has been issued by Business Manager DeWitt Foster.

But according to Foster the hardest and most essential part is to get the individual pictures of the seniors, juniors and sororities and the group pictures of the different organizations and fraternities.

Townsend's studio is open now to students who wish a sitting for a Cornhusker picture.

EXPERTS TO COME FOR ORGANIZED AGRICULTURE

HORTICULTURAL PROGRAMS TO BE GIVEN BY WELL KNOWN MEN

University Professors to Play Prominent Part in Technical and Practical Discussions

Experts from all parts of the middle west as well as from many points in Nebraska are to appear on the program of the Nebraska State Horticultural society which holds its annual meeting at Lincoln, January 16, 17, and 18, during the week of Organized Agriculture.

Care of the orchard, distribution of fruit and vegetables; producing, packing and marketing; control of insects; growing vegetables under glass; and a large number of other problems confronting the horticulturist are to be discussed. Special attention will be paid in the program for January 18 to the potato industry in Nebraska. The magnitude of the industry, cultural methods, and the importance of organization of potato growers are among the things to be considered at that time.

The complete program for the meeting follows:

January 16

President's address, Val Keyser, Nebraska City, Neb.

"Some Pointers on Young Orchards," Geo. T. Groh, Jr., Wathena, Kas.

"Extension Work in Horticulture," Prof. E. H. Hoppert, Prof. R. F. Howard, University of Nebraska.

"The Distribution of Fruits and Vegetables Through a Wholesale House," Geo. F. Burt, Fruit Dept., J. Grainger & Co., Lincoln, Neb.

"Producing, Packing and Marketing the Grape Crop," J. J. Smith, Florence, Neb.

January 17

"Some Common Horticultural Insect Pests and Their Control," Prof. Myron H. Swenk, University of Nebraska.

"Varieties of Fruit for the Home Orchard and Garden," C. G. Marshall, Arlington, Neb.

"Intercrops; or Making the Orchard Pay Before it Comes into Bearing," F. P. Spencer, Randolph, Ia.

"Planting Plans for a Fifty-Foot City Lot," Prof. Tell W. Nicolet, University of Nebraska.

"Ornamental Shrubs, Trees, and in which he presented some of the problems of a farm paper.

A committee was appointed to select medals for the members of the fruit judging and stock judging teams and for the manager and business manager of the Farmers' Fair.

UNIVERSITY A PART OF ARMY CORPS

APPLICATION OF NEBRASKA IS GRANTED BY WAR DEPARTMENT

Federal Unit, With Uniforms, Pay for Officers, and Supervision, Planned

Nebraska University has been granted a division in the federal reserve officers' training corps. This word was received by Chancellor Avery during the Christmas vacation, from General McCain of the general staff at Washington.

The reserve officers' training corps was provided for in the National Defense Act last June, and its provisions provide for governmental aid in military training in the leading colleges of the country.

Uniforms will be furnished by the government for first and second year privates. Officers are to receive, not only uniforms, but also a salary, on condition that they enlist for and attend the summer training camps. Upon graduation from the University, these officers will be in shape to receive commissions in the regular army when such are open. Governmental aid will undoubtedly help to improve the already very efficient system now in use.

WASHINGTON CO-ED IN INDIAN TRIBE

But Miss Florence Rogers, "Ne-a-taka," Has no Redskin Blood in Her

University of Washington, Seattle, Jan. 4.—Florence Rogers, a freshman in the college of liberal arts, is the second woman to be initiated into the Blackfeet tribe of Indians, although she has no Indian blood in her veins. Mary Roberts Rinehart, the well known writer, is the other.

Miss Rogers was named "Ne-a-taka," meaning "Creek woman" when Curly Bear, chief of the tribe, received her into its fold last summer, in the presence of the Indian council, warriors, women and children. So proud is Miss Rogers of her tribal name, that she used it when she was initiated into the Washington university dramatic club a few nights ago.

"They just liked me," is the only reason she knows for being received into the redskin fold.

ORGANIZATIONS MAY GET HALFTONES FROM ACTIVITIES OFFICE

DAIRY BUILDING SOON COMPLETED

FORMAL DEDICATION AT STATE FARM JANUARY 17

Informal Reception—Chancellor Avery to Preside—First New University Building

The Dairy Husbandry building of the University, at the state farm, will be dedicated January 17, during the sessions of Organized Agriculture. The ceremonies will begin at 8 p. m. A reception for both men and women will begin the program. Chancellor Samuel Avery will preside, and addresses will be given by members of the board of regents; B. H. Rawl, chief of the United States department of agriculture dairy division; A. L. Haecker, former professor of dairy husbandry; and Prof. J. H. Frandsen, who now holds that position. The University glee club will furnish music for the occasion.

First Building Finished

The dairy building is the first building to be completed since the new building program was begun. Its cost will be approximately $200,000. It is one of the finest buildings of its kind, every point being taken into consideration, in the country. It is of cream pressed brick, following the type of buildings at the state farm.

Nebraska dairymen who are to meet in annual session at the University farm January 16 to 20, will help in the dedication.

INTERFRAT BOWLING SCHEDULE COMPLETE

TEN-PIN MEN START WORK NEXT WEEK

Eight Greek Letter Organizations to Contest on Alleys of the Y. M. C. A.

The schedule for the 1917 interfraternity bowling tournament on the Y. M. C. A. alleys was made public yesterday. It provides for twenty-eight games, with the first two set for Wednesday, January 10, and the last pair Thursday, March 1. The usual bowling trophy will be awarded the winner, which will be decided on a percentage basis, and not on the number of games won and lost.

Alleys will be closed to the fraternity league on Wednesday and Thursday evenings at 7:15, and in case the teams cannot get together upon the evening for which they are scheduled, a time will be set aside convenient for both teams.

Alpha Sigma Phi has proven a big figure in the interfraternity tournaments of the last two years, having won the trophy in 1915 and 1916. Competition this year will be keener than formerly because of the growing interest in the sport as an interfraternity pastime.

The Schedule

The schedule follows:

Key to fraternities:

1. Kappa Sigma; 2. Phi Kappa Psi; 3. Alpha Sigma Phi; 4. Sigma Alpha Epsilon; 5. Acacia; 6. Beta Theta Pi; 7. Delta Chi; 8. Phi Gamma Delta.

Wednesday, January 10, 1-2; 3-4; Thursday, January 11, 5-6; 7-8; Wednesday, January 17, 1-3; 2-4; Thursday, January 18, 5-7; 6-8; Wednesday, January 24, 1-5; 2-6; Thursday, January

SKATING RENEWED ON ATHLETIC FIELD LAST NIGHT

Skating on the University rink on the athletic field, interrupted by the wet condition of the ice during the warm days earlier in the week, was renewed last night when a colder spell of weather again made the ice firm.

The athletic board has wooded the field in the same manner as last year, making a smooth pond large enough for all the students who wish to enjoy the sport, and convenient enough not to interfere with studies if only an hour or so of skating is desired.

COUNTRY WOMEN COMING TO UNI.

Home Economics Courses During Organized Agriculture Week a Big Drawing Card

Many country women of Nebraska are going to take a trip to the University farm this winter to attend meetings of the state home economics association which meets here during Organized Agriculture week, January 15 to 20.

Some of them are going along with their husbands, but others are going to take turns with their "better halves" and make them stay home to take care of baby while they talk over their problems with other folks. But, however that may be, a large number of women have decided that they have "equal rights," at least when it comes to comparing notes on better homemaking.

The program for the three-day session consists of talks and demonstrations on the preparation of food, use of labor saving devices, economy in shopping, furnishing the home, rearing children, etc.

A unique feature of the program will be a meat-cutting demonstration. Visitors will also be given a glimpse of canning demonstration work done by children of the state under the direction of the boys' and girls' club work of the agricultural extension service. Boys and girls from the Lincoln schools will be used to show the type of work done by this branch of the service.

"RAG" SUBSCRIPTION CAMPAIGN SOON ON

Business Manager Can Interest Students Who Wish to Earn Some Money

Students who want to listen to an interesting proposition are asked to see Walter C. Blunk, business manager of The Nebraskan, Monday, and hear the annual campaign for second-semester subscribers to The Nebraskan outlined. Some interesting features have been incorporated which promise to make the campaign both interesting and lucrative.

It is expected that the student body will get behind the staff and the publication board, which recently decided to continue the paper in its present six-column size, and boost the subscription list beyond 1,000. The campaign will begin Monday and continue until the 19th, thus being out of the way before the semester examinations. Business Manager Blunk has arranged an interesting feature for those who cannot afford to pay the subscription price of one dollar a semester for the paper, whereby they can earn a subscription easily. All workers will be paid liberally and prizes will be offered to those securing the largest number of subscriptions.

STEWART TALKS OF 1917 SCHEDULE

SEASON MAY MEAN DEFEATS—GIVES NEBRASKA HIGH RANK

Comparisons Will Be Possible With Best Teams of Nation—The Hardest Schedule

After taking a look at the 1917 football schedule no one can claim that Doctor Stewart is a coward or that he is trying to save his reputation at Nebraska.

The coach has a lineup of opponents for next year that would do credit to any team in the country. He has gotten such a schedule for two reasons. First, Doctor Stewart believes in giving the rooters the best it is possible to obtain, and second, he believes there is more honor in playing a big team and losing by a small score than there is in playing a small team and winning by a large score.

In talking over the schedule the coach expressed the hope that Nebraskans would get away from the idea of going through the season undefeated, playing a number of small schools to make that possible.

Schedule Compared

A good example, which by the way was not used by the coach in his conversation, of what he wished to make understood can be seen by comparing the schedule of 1915 with that of next year. In 1915 Nebraska played Drake, Kansas Aggies and Washburn in the order named at the opening of the season. The smallest score Nebraska made in these three games was 30, yet the only recognition she received was from the schools of the valley.

The next game in that season was Notre Dame. Three easy games had preceded that one and there were Ames, Wesleyan, Kansas and Iowa left. No one expected anything hard to defeat in these teams and no one was disappointed. Everything was concentrated on the Notre Dame game and that was won. It was to that victory and that one alone that Nebraska owed any prestige she may have gotten for that season.

Next fall Nebraska will have three games the size of the Notre Dame game. There will be direct comparisons with such teams as Yale, Brown, Colgate, Dartmouth, Army and Michigan, not to mention the valley games and the comparisons to be had with the Big Nine through the Iowa game.

Although Coach Stewart has signed up the heaviest schedule Nebraska has ever had, and although defeat looks very possible, no team is going to have a Fourth of July celebration while they are playing Nebraska next year.

To Limit Expense

The interfraternity council at Knox college has decided to limit the expense that any fraternity or sorority may go to in their formal and informal dances. There is some difficulty in arriving at a satisfactory basis but such a limitation will be permanently fixed in the near future.—Ex.

The campaign will begin Monday and continue until the 19th, thus being out of the way before the semester examinations.

Business Manager Blunk has arranged an interesting feature for those who cannot afford to pay the subscription price of one dollar a semester for the paper, whereby they can earn a subscription easily. All workers will be paid liberally and prizes will be offered to those securing the largest number of subscriptions.
