Value of Spanish
America's greatest market opening is in Latin-American countries. Knowledge of Spanish is indispensable to those who would participate in this trade. At least they must hire men who know Spanish. Knowledge of Spanish will get a man a job if he is otherwise qualified, which is more than can be said of the other languages taught in the public schools. Yet Spanish is taught very little in the public schools of this country. Apparently that is because of the notion which seems to afflict too many pedagogues that the schools must never do anything that the schools of our grandfathers didn't do.—Duluth Herald.

Where it isn't
Students at the University of Minnesota have found that according to their checks on the government surveys that the Washburn Observatory is 100 feet east "of where it isn't." This will doubtless throw out completely many of the observations made at that observatory.—Ex.

SOCIETY

Myrtle Beeler, '18, will return from North Platte tomorrow.

Harry Grainger, ex-'18, who is attending Amherst this year, is visiting in the city.

Eb Kline, '19, is recovering from an operation for appendicitis at his home in Beatrice.

Blanch Randall, ex-'18, who is teaching in Fairbury, is visiting her parents in the city.

Elenor Steenburg, '17, will return Sunday from a holiday trip to her home in Farmington, Ill.

Marian Norris, '19, will return tomorrow from a three weeks' visit with her parents in Washington, D. C.

The members of Alpha Tau Omega were honor guests of Ross Sine at a dance at the Lincoln hotel, Tuesday night.

Genevieve Sanford, '18, has as house guests Alice Doughty, Mildred McFarland and Marguerite Christian, of Fort Worth, Texas.

The College World

Help Soldiers
Any student at the University of Montana who served on the border is exempt from all university fees, according to the Montana Kaimin. This is an evidence of the state's gratitude and came through the action of the governor.—Ex.

K. U. has a good start towards a cafeteria—there are five Cooks and one Kitchen enrolled.—Ex.

Wisconsin university, where swimming is a varsity sport, reports that out of the entire freshman class that there are but two or three yearlings who look good and that there is not the material that ought to be found in the first year squad.—Ex.

Lights for Skating
The rink at Grinnell college will not only be adequately lighted for evening skating but it will also be provided with "warming houses." Believing that skating is a most healthful form of exercise the athletic department will spare no expense to furnish a good rink with all its accessories.—Ex.

Student Night
Such is the name applied to the evening when Billy Sunday will talk to the students at Harvard. According to our way of thinking they can stand the talk at a college where they serve beer at their mixers.—Ex.

Wooden Hook
A giant wooden hook is the mascot of the rooters at the University of Washington. All the victories are duly inscribed on it and it always accompanies the teams on their trips. Several attempts have been made to capture the hook but efficient guards have protected it so far.—Ex.

More than 2,000 men are now enrolled in the Officers' Reserve Corps of the United States army. A fair percentage of these are college undergraduates.—Ex.

Michigan—Student boarding clubs and fraternity houses have declared an unconditional boycott on all dairy and poultry goods for a period of three weeks.—Ex.

McGill—The Duke and Duchess of Devonshire were visitors at McGill university in Canada last week. Classes were suspended for the day out of respect for the members of the royal family.—Ex.

Cornell—Fraternalities have passed resolutions providing that salesmen of clothing, programs, jewelry and other

"PRINTER FOR THE STUDENT TRADE"

"unnecessities" will no longer be allowed to display their goods in the fraternity houses. Only students who are working their way shall be allowed into the houses for this purpose.—Ex.

Missouri—"The College Inn" is the name of the new and attractive student hang-out at the University of Missouri. From 4 to 5 every afternoon is the popular hour at which the gathering is the greatest. Dancing is tolerated during this hour.—Ex.

Cornell—While the Michigan musical clubs are making their trip west 63 Cornell men will visit the following cities: Rochester New York City, Dayton, Louisville, St. Louis, Davenport, Duluth, Chicago and Syracuse.—Ex.

Wisconsin—Arle Mucks of Wisconsin is president of the Phantom club, a professional fat man's organization. Two hundred pounds is the weight required for membership and the president is always the heaviest of them all.—Ex.

Reports fail to reveal why two young women at the University of California, who lived for three months on peanuts alone, failed to persist in their diet. No matter how you try to pull that one you can't get away from the squirrel idea.—Ex.

The students and faculty of Purdue university united last week in a huge parade and pageant commemorative of the one hundredth anniversary of Indiana's admission to the union.—Ex.
