OMAHA ART GUILD ANNOUNCES EXHIBITION

JANUARY 13 TO 28

The art department is in receipt of a pamphlet from the Art guild of Omaha. Their fifth annual exhibition began January 13 and will last until the 28th. It is a collection of the original works of Omaha artists in the Milton Darling gallery in Omaha.

The purpose of the Guild is threefold: It gives home talent an opportunity to exhibit its work, inspires local artists to do better and more finished work, and, lastly, gives Omaha people the opportunity to keep in touch with and witness the progress made by Omaha artists, according to the pamphlet.

NEW STAFF FOR DAILY NEBRASKAN

GEORGE GRIMES EDITOR-IN-CHIEF SECOND SEMESTER

Ivan Beede Managing Editor—Fern Noble and Leonard Kline Associates—Blunk Again Bus. Mgr.

The student publication board yesterday elected George E. Grimes, '18, of Omaha, editor-in-chief of The Daily Nebraskan for the second semester. Ivan G. Beede, '18, of David City, was elected managing editor; Fern Noble, '19, of Shoshone, Idaho, and Leonard W. Kline, '19, of Blue Hill, associate editors.

Walter C. Blunk, '19, of Grand Island was re-elected business manager and Fred Clark, '18, of Stamford was made assistant business manager.

George Grimes has been managing editor of The Daily Nebraskan for the past year. The new managing editor, Ivan Beede, has been associate editor for the past semester, and was sporting editor for a year. He has also had experience in practical newspaper work on one of the Lincoln daily papers. Miss Noble has been a reporter on the staff of The Nebraskan for a year and a half. Mr. Kline has not had previous newspaper experience, but has been a member of the University debating team, and prominent in other student activities.

Miss Eva Miller, who has been editor-in-chief of The Nebraskan for the past semester, will continue on the staff as contributing editor. The paper will remain six columns.

FRESHMEN CLEAN UP JUNIOR FIVE

Again Victors in Interclass Championship Contests—Gerhart and Hubka, Freshmen, Stars

The freshmen took another step forward class basketball championship last night when they took the measure of the juniors by the count of 31 to 17.

The freshmen were again the whole show, taking all the honors in teamwork and goal shooting. Gerhart, the left forward of the first-year men, was the star of the evening, rolling seven field goals. Hubka, one of the big freshman guards, pulled the sensation of the game when he shot the first goal of the contest from near the center of the floor by pushing the ball forward over his head.

The guarding of Bell for the juniors was the feature of that team's play. It was a contest of weight, speed and skill against endurance and the former three won with ease. What the freshmen couldn't do any other way they could do by brute force and the juniors were at a loss to stop them.

Dinner Of The Red-Haired Soon—May Admit Mahoganies and Pinks

Registration is said to be progressing rapidly for the dinner of the red-haired, announced for the first Saturday of next semester. For this dinner the Red room has been engaged at a local hotel.

The members of the judging committee on eligibility, Melba Quigley, '17, Eva Miller, '18, and Elizabeth Brown, '20, report an increasing number of admissible applicants. Just now the judging committee is discussing the question of enlarging the number of eligible shades. Their original notice, published last week, read: "All shades of squash, pumpkin, carrot, scarlet, flamingo, and orange are to be admitted promptly, but candidates who shade off into lemon or taffy-color on the one hand, or into characterless brown on the other, will be barred as 'Nears.'"

They are now considering whether tints of mahogany and pink should not be added. It is claimed that one member of the committee has tresses of mahogany, while one graduate student (Magdalene Craft), who passed easily as "eligible," verges distinctly on pink. This important matter will soon be settled.

Among the desirables who have not yet been heard from by the committee are Natalie Spencer, Florence Williams, Bess Foster, Susan Harmon and Esther Ord.

Annis Chaiken, the alumnae secretary, is expected to be present, and it is rumored that Mrs. Maxey, obviously of eligible tint, may be on hand.

Also, more and more applications are being received for standing space for spectators, at the first dinner of the "Order of the Golden Fleece."

REV. R. A. WAITE TO SPEAK AT LAST VESPER SERVICE

Rev. R. A. Waite of the First Congregational church will speak at the Vesper service this evening at 5 o'clock, in the Y. W. C. A. rooms. His subject will be "The College Girl and Her Church." The meeting will be under the auspices of the church affiliation committee of which Bertha Driftmeier is the chairman. This will be the last Vesper service of this semester.

SECOND CALL FOR MAT ARTISTS

RUTHERFORD WANTS HEAVY AND LIGHTWEIGHT WRESTLERS

Two Intercollegiate Meets Scheduled—With Iowa and Ames—Other Contests

Assistant Coach Rutherford again wishes to issue a most urgent call for wrestlers and especially in the 125 pound class and above 175.

These classes are designated as the featherweight and the heavyweight classes. It has been several years since Nebraska has had a heavyweight that could hold his own with others in his class. The Cornhusker representative in the featherweight class, for the last three years has been Henry Pascale.

A glance over the records show that Pascale has more than held his own in the meets he has taken part in. Last year he got away to a bad start but made a good showing before he finished the season.

There are no good candidates for either of these jobs and any one who has had experience on the padded mat will have an excellent chance to go on the trips this year.

Guy Reed has announced the definite scheduling of two wrestling matches with other universities. Iowa will be met at Iowa City in February, and Ames will come to Nebraska to wrestle the Huskers March 10, the last day of the high school basketball tournament. More meets will be scheduled.

Skaters Skimming Sleety Streets See Showers of Shining Stars

Almost every one of the better-known planets was plainly seen and a host of lesser constellations were glimpsed fleetingly by University men and co-eds yesterday when, with skates under foot, they glided to 8 and 9 o'clocks.

Co-eds, more frequently than men, saw fit to view these stellar bodies from positions somewhat upsetting if not awkward. To the delight of careening students who tried to walk

NEW PSYCHOLOGY COURSE OFFERED

Doctor Wolfe to Give Work for Students Who Intend to Enter Certain Professions

A new course catalogued Philosophy 18, and entitled "Psychology and Efficiency," will be offered next semester by Dr. H. K. Wolfe, head of the department of philosophy.

This course is open to all students who have had one semester of psychology. It is intended to be of use to those who do not expect to teach, but who are entering such professions as law, ministry, medicine, journalism, social service. It will deal also with the psychology of buying and selling, and the estimating of the efficiency of the individual workman.

Each person will give one-half of his time to the particular phase of psychology in which he is interested. The remainder of the time will be devoted to a study of the general foundations of psychology and its application in all professions.

H. P. Troendly, McCook; C. C. Strimple, Omaha; E. G. Perley, Omaha, and Frank Barnett, McCook, alternate, were chosen to represent the sophomore class in the interclass contests at the tryouts. Leonard W. Kline, Blue Springs, a sophomore and member of the intercollegiate debating team, presided, and Prof. Clark E. Persinger, of the department of American history, acted as judge.

The contestants were chosen upon their arguments prepared on the subject for interclass debate, "Should the United States restore order in Mexico by armed intervention." Each man was given five minutes for his set speech and three minutes for rebuttal.

GENERAL PERSHING MAY BE HERE FOR CADETS' BANQUET

The Cadet Officers' association has put out a booklet recently which gives a general summary of the past and present activities of the association. It gives a full explanation of the purposes of the organization, as well as an officers' roster of the University regiment for this year. From a quotation from General Pershing it would seem that he is expecting to be in Lincoln for the annual banquet of the association, which would make that affair all the more worth attending.

The last three pages of the booklet are devoted to a very readable description of the reserve officers' training corps, by Captain Parker.

DR. HOWARD GIVES LIBRARY TO UNI.

VALUABLE COLLECTION OF VOLUMES FOR SOCIOLOGY SEMINAR

Worth $7,000—Suggest New Social Science Building Be Called "Howard Hall"

Dr. George E. Howard, head of the department of political science, has given his private library, valued at about $7,000, and containing between 3,000 and 4,000 volumes, mostly of history and sociology, to the University. The books will be moved soon to the sociology seminar room, law 104.

Doctor Howard came to the University in 1878. He has been here eight years longer than any of the other present instructors. He first had charge of the history department, and later was made head of the social science department.

It has been suggested that since Doctor Howard was the first instructor of social science at Nebraska, that the new building into which the department will soon move should be named "Howard Hall" instead of "Social Science Hall."

When Doctor Howard signified his intention of resigning a few weeks ago, in order to gain more time for writing and research work, the University regents unanimously requested him to stay at a salary equal to that of the highest paid dean, with provision for half time when he wanted it.

START TICKET SALE FOR GREEN STOCKINGS

GUARANTY OF $300 NECESSARY TO INSURE PLAY

Junior Play Has Only Paid Out Once—Manager Rush Announces the Plans

Tickets for the annual junior play "Green Stockings" were placed on sale today at the College book store and with student ticket-sellers, and were accompanied by a call for action upon the part of junior class members from Homer Rush, Columbus, business manager.

Before the play can be produced it is necessary for the class to raise $300 as a guaranty, making it necessary that at least that much be collected for tickets within a short time.

"Only once before, and that some years ago, has the junior play paid out," Rush said. "This year the guaranty must be placed with the agent of student activities before the play can be produced."

That tickets will go fast seems to be indicated by the popularity of the play chosen by the committee and by

"PACIFISTS" AFTER STUDENT SUPPORT

WILL CIRCULATE PETITIONS FOR STUDENT SIGNERS TODAY

Challenge "Militarists" to Debate in Temple Feb. 3—President Jensen Predicts Some Fun

An active campaign in the University to push the anti-drill movement will be begun today by the University league to abolish compulsory drill, better known as the "pacifists' club. Petitions will be circulated today and tomorrow to get as many students as possible to join the cause against enforced training in military science.

The second activity planned by the league is a real, honest-to-goodness debate on the question. It has challenged the rival league, supporting military drill, to a debate in the Temple theatre on the evening of February 3, when, according to Anton H. Jensen, '18, president of the "pacifists," the "militarists" will get all they have wanted in the way of a debate on the points at issue.

It is hinted that several prominent University men, who have not heretofore been mentioned as supporters of the anti-drill movement, may take up the oral weapons of the dove of peace and assail the cause of "conscription." If these men are unable to give their time to preparing for the debate, however, President Jensen and Wahlfred Jacobsen, '18, will take the platform for the "pacifists."

The challenge to debate sent by the anti-drill society provides for impromptu speeches from the floor, limited to three minutes duration, after the close of the regular debate.

Regarding the activities of the league formed to protest against drill, Jensen says:

"The officers of the league are trying their best to keep hot-headedness and ill-will out of the campaign. Students ought to be able to present different sides of a question without losing their heads because someone else may have an idea better or worse than they have, as the case may be."

WESLEYAN NEXT HUSKER OPPONENT

ANCIENT FOS TO BE MET IN ARMORY SATURDAY NIGHT

Nebraska's Prospects for a Win Are Good—Team Expects Hard Battle

The next opponents of the Cornhusker basketball team will be the Wesleyan quintet from University Place. The Methodists have a strong team this year as usual although it is doubtful if they are as powerful a scoring machine as the ones which have represented the Wesleyanites during the last three years.

Defeat has already been met by the squad at the hands of the strong Creighton five. Creighton is said to have one of the strongest teams seen in recent years, however, and a defeat at their hands is not indicative of weakness in a team.

A Hard Struggle
The coach and members of the team look upon this game as the one hardest struggle of the year and the one above all others they must win.

Wesleyan has held the upper hand in basketball for the past three or four years and the men feel it is their duty, not to say privilege, to give all they have in trying to end the Methodists' era of prosperity.

The game will be played the coming Saturday night on the Armory floor and it is the duty of every loyal
