Published every day during the college year. Subscription, per semester, $1.

Entered at the postoffice at Lincoln, Nebraska, as second class mail matter under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

It's easy to "slip up" on most anything, these days.

Since examination schedules are out, the people who have their exams bunched up at the first part of the week are kicking because they aren't strung out over the whole week.

Dr. George E. Howard has given his entire library of from three to four thousand volumes to the University of Nebraska! The collection of historical and sociological material is one of the finest, and the library is valued at about seven thousand dollars. Such an addition to the University library is inestimable.

Dr. Howard was the first professor of political science and sociology at Nebraska and by his efforts and influence, the department of which he is the head, has become one of the most important in the University. The gift of the valuable collection of books is only one of the many gifts he has already made the University. The efficiency of his department, and the high scholastic ideals which he has demanded by those under him has done much to raise the standards of the whole University.

The gift of the books is just one more act of the generous man who has given so much for the love of his work.

It would appear that the Journal is becoming rather vehement in its denouncement of the whole University in general. To read its editorials, one would think that this is a bad, naughty place and that to attend the institution is an irreparable step toward the brink of destruction.

There are only seven more days until the students will be asked to vote on the Single Tax. There are only three more editions of The Daily Nebraskan in which to read the arguments both for and against the Single Tax. Discuss it in your classrooms, at your homes, on the campus, at your every opportunity. Whatever the results of the voting are, they will probably be final for some time, at least.

We will be very glad to print all of the Forum letters that come to the office. The discussion will not be limited to any one side. The only requirement is that the author of the letter be known to the editor.

Ten reasons for the Single Tax as given in The Daily Nebraskan, March 3, 1916, are:

1. It will mean a greater athletic department.
2. It will mean greater things in debating.
3. The Daily Nebraskan will become a more representative paper, and will be assured of the necessary financial support.
4. It will mean a more representative social life at Nebraska.
5. It will mean that the now neglected lesser activities will be placed on a proper basis.
6. It means that all will pay for the benefits which all receive.
7. It will mean that the person who now neglects to take advantage of his opportunities along the lines of school activities, will receive their benefits.
8. It will mean that Nebraska activities will compare more favorably with other institutions which now have the Single Tax.
9. No one will be unnecessarily inconvenienced, as those who cannot pay will be excused.
10. It will permit a growth of student life and activities parallel to the growth of the University.

ALUMNI NEWS

Miss Myrtle Hunter, a graduate student in the University this year, is substituting in the high school at Syracuse this year. She is teaching Latin and English.

Miss Esther Warner, '12, who is now county agent for the Woman's Home Economic association of Seward county, spent last week in Lincoln attending the sessions of organized agriculture.

Miss Elizabeth M. Williams, '16, has accepted a position in a Methodist college at Wessington Springs, S. D. She begins her work next Monday.

F. H. Rosencrans, mechanical '11, is now with the Texas Power and Light Co. at Dallas, Tex. He was formerly assistant professor of mechanical engineering at the Oregon state college.

BRIEF BITS OF NEWS

In spite of the severe weather, about twenty-seven people attended the exhibition at the art gallery Sunday afternoon. Prof. Blanche C. Grant was present and gave a very interesting talk on pictures.

John T. Gray, associate secretary of the summer camp association of Chicago, gave an illustrated lecture last Friday in the M. E. building. His subject was the Plattsburg summer training camp.

Dorothy Dean, ex-'19, will return to school the second semester.

Dean Stout will leave Thursday for Manhattan, Kas., to address the students and faculty of the engineering college there.

SKATERS SKIMMING SLEET STREETS SEE SHOWERS OF SHINING STARS

All the streets leading to the campus, left as slick as a field of glass by the sleet-storm of Saturday night, were thronged with men and co-eds long before time for classes. Girls from sorority houses on or near "Fraternity Row" glided in crowds, or with swerving escorts in a way that made 8 o'clocks look like anything but an inconvenience. The Alpha Phi's and Pi Phi's were both represented by battalions of skaters and most of the sororities, it is said, had their best representations at early-morning classes.

There were many students, however, who saw the hour for classes slip by while they skated about, marooned in the outskirts of town, whither they had been towed by automobiles bound for parts unknown. Unless an incoming car could be halted, they were forced to face a long skate in and an absent mark.

BEAUTY KIT HOLDS NOTHING BUT SOAP CHEMISTS DISCOVER

The woman scientist, working in her laboratory, has discovered—Alas!—that her sister of the world of Vanity Fair has been duped, horribly duped. The perfumes of Arabia and the face cream endorsed by Cleopatra have turned out under chemical analysis to be made of common-places and in some cases, injurious ingredients. My Beautiful Lady has all the time been applying soap and glycerine to dimpled face from a lotion bottle labeled with a captivating name.

Women students in one of the classes in chemistry conducted by an eastern professor have made recent tests of various face powders, complexion creams, skin whiteners, deodorants and depilatories. The results of the analyses have brought interesting results, the students say.

Some of the high-priced lotions, it is found, are composed of soap and glycerin, with a bit of tint and perfume added. An analysis of samples of skin bleaches show contents of arsenic or mercury, or both. Many balms and creams and powders, experiments show, are harmless, but they are also of very little merit.

It has been found also that statements as to the materials used in the preparation of the patent toilet articles printed on the container are incorrect or misleading.

CONVOCATION

Prof. G. D. Swezey, head of the department of astronomy, will speak on "The Earth-Moon Catastrophe." This lecture is an account of how the moon is supposed to have been torn away from the earth.

This afternoon Professor Swezey will leave for Peru, where he will address the students of the normal on "Recent Revelations of the Telescope," this evening.
