SPORT FOR SPORT'S SAKE, OUMET'S MOTT

OUMET PLAYING WINTER GOLF ON HOTEL ROOF.

Francis Oumet, the American amateur gold champion, more fully expressed the spirit of real amateurism and good sportsmanship following his defeat in the recent open championship, says a writer in an exchange. When he finished, clearly beaten, with a broad smile and a hearty handshake for his great rival and the winner, Jerome Travers, Oumet was asked whether he was not sadly disappointed and disgruntled over his failure.

"When I begin to put winning a championship above having a lot of fun at golf," he said, "then I hope I'll never win another."

What better illustration of the sentiment, "sport for sport's sake," could have been asked. We have been only too severely, yet properly, condemned in recent years because we place the victory too high, and do not give enough regard to the pleasures of the sport itself. It may be that the placing of so much stress upon victory has resulted in the wonderful development of skill in all lines of athletics in this country, far ahead of that in any other nation in the world, but it also has surely taken much of the pleasure and zest from the sports themselves.

SCHUPP'S AMAZING BOX WORK

Great Winning Streak of New York Giants Brought to Light Pitcher Hitherto Unnoticed.

The great winning streak of the Giants last season, in which they broke all major league records for successive victories, capturing 26 games, brought one of the little known of the Giant pitchers to the front in the person of Ferd Schupp.

Ferd Schupp won six of the games in the winning streak of the team and they were among the most remarkable games ever pitched by a box artist. In these six games Schupp allowed only 29 hits, or an average of but little over three to a game. He allowed Brooklyn two hits September 7; Cincinnati, three a week later; the Pirates three September 18; the Cubs, six September 20; St. Louis, two, September 26, and Boston one, September 28. In only two of the six games was he scored on and the total of runs chalked up against him was but three.

Fraze: Not After Johnson.

"The report that I'd give $200,000 to Clark Griffith for Walter Johnson is unvarnished bunk." President Fraze of the Red Sox dispelled all rumors the big Swede was coming to Boston in exchange for a fabulous sum.

LAWRY GIVES MUCH PROMISE

Manager Connie Mack Expects Youngster to Eventually Develop into Second Collins.

Little is heard of a youngster picked up by Connie Mack last year of the name of Lawry. He joined the club in June, but got away to a slow start because of an injured leg, breaking into the lineup at stated intervals.

Lawry looks too slight of stature to stand the strain of the majors, yet we have Connie Mack's word for it that Lawry has great promise and may eventually develop into a second Eddie Collins.

MANY SPORTS AT STREATOR

Organization Formed to Promote Basketball, Baseball and Football—Also Track Events.

The Streator (Ill.) Athletic association was organized at a meeting recently. Basketball, baseball and football will be promoted and it is also planned to organize a track team next spring. It is believed that there is a demand for amateur events of this character and business men of Streator have agreed to co-operate.

JACK DUNN DEVELOPS STARS

Manager of Baltimore Team Brought Many Sensational Hurlers in Past Three Years.

Manager Jack Dunn of the Baltimore club enjoys the distinction of being one of the greatest developers of pitching stars in the minors. Within three years Dunn has given to the American league a quartette of pitching stars in Ruth and Shore of Boston, Russell of New York and Danforth of Chicago. Ruth and Shore have in that short length of time tasted of world's series honors, Shore being twice declared in on the big event.

Holland is Optimistic.

So confident is President Jack Holland of the St. Joseph Drummers of better things for next year that he has decided to take his ball team South on a training trip in the spring. A point in Oklahoma probably will be chosen and Holland expects to arrange for spring games with other teams that will be working out in that section.

Michigan Aggies' Field.

In addition to its new gymnasium Michigan Agricultural college will have a splendid new athletic field equipped with concrete stands, to be built in sections.

Baseball Making Headway.

English style rugby football, lawn tennis and rowing are favorite sports in Argentina, but baseball is making great headway.

YALE WILL AID PRISONERS

Pledged to Contribute $6,000 to Improve Living Conditions in Prison Camps

Vance McCormick, a graduate of Yale university and the recent manager of the president's campaign for re-election, has sent a letter to his alma mater urging her to take part in the work which has been initiated all over the college world for the purpose of making the European prison camps more livable and to better the condition of the captives in other ways. Yale men have pledged themselves to contribute $6,000 to the cause.
