Offices: News, Basement, University Hall; Business, Basement, Administration Building.

Telephones: News, L-4841; Business, B-2597.

Published every day during the college year. Subscription, per semester, $1.

Entered at the postoffice at Lincoln, Nebraska, as second class mail matter under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

The price of the Daily Nebraskan is $3.00 per year in advance, or $1.75 per semester.

If the price of The Nebraskan were the same as that of the Kansan, that price, added to the $4.00 charged for student athletic tickets at Nebraska, would total seven dollars a year or the total amount of the proposed single tax for one year.

As the plan is now, for seven dollars, the students at Nebraska will be given the benefit of admittance to all of the athletic events, the medical supervision, The Daily Nebraskan, debates, all dramatics including class plays, Ivy day, mixers, University night, the expenses of the Ag college judging teams will be paid and it will be possible to obtain outside talent for the convocations. All this for seven dollars a year!

The January number of the Awgwan came out yesterday and it is one of the best issues that the staff has ever put out.

The cover is especially novel, and the cartoons and jokes are clever and still maintain a refreshing dignity. The whole tone of Awgwan, this year, has been greatly advanced, and it can be compared easily with the best publications of its kind in the country.

Some one has said that four years of University work and four years of graduate work—all study—would make a woman lose all of her womanliness, gain no masculinity and become a drab impersonality. That is just about right. Life is not worth living unless a person can keep a personality and have an interest in humanity. The most forceful characters in the world today are the most human.

One argument against the single tax is that students come to the University for technical knowledge that will form a basis of a livelihood. It is granted that the fundamental object of a university is to give the so-called "technical knowledge," but a university does not hold this as "the only" object of its existence.

Technical knowledge can be got by apprenticeship, in a business college or correspondence school.

The university has the power to combine this technical knowledge with the social advantages of the university, and put that combined knowledge to a better use for himself and society as a whole.

The man or woman who gets only a technical knowledge out of his university career is not an educated person.

The man or woman who gets, along with this technical knowledge, the ability to know and enjoy his fellow men,—that ability that is the result of student activities while in college, has the best that a university can give.

FORUM

To the Editor of The Daily Nebraskan.

Unjust, unfounded and quite childish criticism of the Lincoln Open Forum was made by spokesmen for the militant debaters in yesterday's Daily Nebraskan. Charges of "unfair dealing" and "that the audience was a packed audience" were made.

As secretary of the Open Forum, I wish to state that all the advertising for the debate and all the packing, if any, was done in the following manner, and entirely by myself. In the first place twenty or more placards announcing the meeting were posted on and about the campus.

These placards invited all students and were posted from the Y. M. C. A. lobby to the very door of the military department. The failure of the military department to respond was quite as disappointing to myself as to its defenders, although two hundred others did respond.

As secretary of the Open Forum I also wish to state that although Lincoln business men are backing the Forum as a meeting place for themselves, an invitation will be extended as in the past to the University students. I can announce the editor of the Omaha Bee for this coming Sunday; and the son of Count Leo Tolstol for still later. If you choose to attend, kindly refuse to be packed.

FRANK L. HIXENRAUGH.

Owing to a severe cold, Mrs. Carrie B. Raymond was unable to meet with the chorus yesterday.

What The Single Tax Will Be

The single tax, on which students will be asked to vote registration week, is outlined below. It provides for a fee of $3.50 a semester, which would raise on a conservative estimate, $21,000 a year. The tax would be distributed according to the table.

Athletics	$10,000	Debate	300
Medical Supervision	5,000	Ag College Judging Teams	300
Daily Nebraskan	3,500	University Night	300
Dramatics	600	Ivy Day	300
Mixers	500	Convocations	200

Who will pay?: All students registered for twelve or more hours will pay the tax although excuses for financial inability or other good and sufficient reasons will be accepted.

Collection: The tax will be collected as a part of the registration fee at the beginning of each semester.

Athletics: This sum would go for the support of both men's and women's athletics. Payment of the tax would admit to all athletic contests, intercollegiate games, and exhibitions free.

Medical Supervision: Every student paying the tax would be given absolutely free expert medical advice and would be encouraged to consult a physician on every needed occasion. A visiting nurse would probably be secured.

Daily Nebraskan: Every student entitled to a copy of the paper. The Nebraskan could be made far better and more representative, with many features now impossible of securing. A special student wire from every away from home football game.

Dramatics: This sum would be made available for the School of Drama, and the junior and senior classes. It would insure to each student a free performance of every play of the school of Drama, and the senior and junior class plays.

Mixers: A proper number of mixers during the year, given to all students free of charge.

Debate: All students would be admitted to the debates free. Debating would be placed on a proper financial basis.

Ag College Judging Team: This sum would help pay the expenses of stock, dairy and fruit judging teams representing the University in interstate and college competitions.

University Night: All students to see the performance free of charge at the city auditorium, or two performances at a theatre. Better and more elaborate stunts.

Ivy Day: This would mean a successful, all-University day celebration free of charge.

Convocations: This sum would be used to bring nationally famous speakers and lecturers, or other good features to the convocations.

Incidental: All excess over the $21,000, would be made a part of the incidental fund. This should include for the students free admission into the art exhibits, possibly the May music festival, the girls' costume party, and enable the student activities office to enlarge the scope of its activities.
