UNIVERSITY OF NEBRASKA, LINCOLN, TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 27, 1917.

PRICE FIVE CENTS

TOURNEY ENTRIES NOW NUMBER 117

LAST MINUTE LETTERS PROVIDE FOR ADDITIONAL TEAMS

Process of Classification and Drawing
For Places on Schedule Completed Tomorrow

Last-minute entries for the inter-scholastic basketball tournament, to be held under the auspices of the University March 7-10, have brought the total up to 117, with at least two more uncertain applications. Guy Reed, manager of athletics, in charge of the tourney, began yesterday the task of classifying the teams, and late today drawings will begin for places on the schedule.

Three divisions of the teams upon the size of the school and their record for the year will be made. Last year there were two divisions. The divisions will be known as Class A, B, and C. Class A will be composed of the teams which have demonstrated their superior strength during the season, and Class B and C will be arranged in the order of the kind of competition and the record of the teams.

With three classes of teams playing off games arranged on three schedules, it is expected that the auditorium will be used all of the time instead of for the semi-finals and finals as last year. The champions in the different classes do not meet, and the champion of class A, the highest, is considered the premier basketball team in the state.

Following is a list of entries additional to that run in yesterday's Nebraskan:

Stella—Ira Randall, Deaver Lambert, William Williams, William Hoppe, Lyle Montgomery, Verne Pugh. Won 3, lost 7.

Superior—Lawrence Erwin, Will Fike, Charles Bertrand, Gerald Batchelder, Fred Hanson, Hollis Ware, Louis Ogilvig, Golden Reed, Frank Hanna. Won 5, lost 4.

Sutton—Glen Warren, Dean Cham-

CORNHUSKER CALLS FOR SNAP SHOTS FOR STUDENT LIFE SECTION

Snapshots and other "shots" at people active on the campus are wanted for the student life section of the Cornhusker, Ralph Sturm, who has charge of this section, announced yesterday.

Sturm said that this was undoubtedly the section of the book that made the widest appeal, and that the staff was most anxious to have it representative. He said that it depended upon the students themselves, however, and he urged everyone to feel free to submit photos and accounts of little incidents to him at once.

The student activities' office of the Cornhusker will receive contributions for the student life section.

Wireless That Reached Key West May Get a Government License

The wireless equipment set up by students of electrical engineering on the roof of the electrical engineering laboratories may become a government licensed wireless if present plans work out. Additions have been made to the apparatus from time to time, and the one kilowatt machine now has a sending radius of 900 miles.

Key West, Fla., and Arlington, Va., have been reached by student operators at the sending key, and once or twice communications have been established with vessels in the Atlantic.

On the receiving end, messages have come from all over the continent, and occasionally broken fragments have been received from Hanover, Germany, although these were not at all distinct.

If the government license is granted

FRANK W. TAYLOR SENDS PRELIMINARY SKETCHES OF ORIGINAL EXHIBITION

In addition to the exhibit of original illustrations, Frank Walter Taylor has sent to the art department twelve of the preliminary sketches. Each sketch has been hung beside the finished illustration and they are especially interesting for they show the form that the picture first took in the artists' mind as compared to the finished product. The present exhibition in the art gallery will be open until March 5.

ENLISTED RESERVE OPEN TO STUDENTS

Men With Technical Education Eligible For Special Reserve Announced by War Department

A reserve corps to be known as the enlisted reserve corps has been announced by the war department for the purpose of securing additional enlisted men for military service with the engineer, signal, and quartermaster corps and the ordnance and medical departments of the regular army. This reserve corps is to be open to all men between the ages of 18 and 45 who have scientific knowledge in the above fields, subject to the examination prescribed by the war department. A knowledge of actual military tactics or manual is not required.

The pay of those serving in the enlisted reserve corps is to be the same as the pay for those serving in the regular army and runs only during the time of their actual service. In addition to this amount of pay each member of the reserve corps will be furnished by the United States the entire service uniform, which is the same as that of the enlisted men of the regular army reserve except the corps insignia. The uniform is issued to the reservist when he reports for his first annual training, but remains the property of the United States.

Drill With Regulars
For the purpose of administration, training and equipment, organizations and individual members of the enlisted reserve corps are to be subject to the orders from the commanding general in the territorial department in which they reside. All members of this corps are required to train annually for a period of not less than fifteen days with the regular army. The purpose of this training, according to the war department, is to verify the number and determine the physical and moral fitness of reservists for service in the war; to eliminate the undesirable and those not dependable in time of war; to familiarize reservists with methods to be followed if mobilized in time of war or threatened hostilities; to perfect the organization of authorized units of the enlisted reserve corps and to instruct reservists in the fundamentals of military service and, so far as may be

MIXER FUND PAYS FOR DELEGATE

Expenses of Albert Bryson to Purdue Meeting Borne by General Mixer Committee

The general mixer committee of the University yesterday voted to pay the actual traveling expenses of Albert Bryson to Purdue university, where he goes this week-end as the delegate of Nebraska to the national conference of representatives of student councils. The appropriation from the mixer fund will amount to slightly more than $40. The mixer committee took this action after a discussion of the advisability of asking different organizations to contribute. Since the mixer committee is as near a representative student body as there is on the campus, and since its fund has accumulated from small surpluses at the different mixer parties, and so was contributed by the general student body, it was thought that this fund was the best available to pay the expenses of the one who goes as the representative of the whole University, on a matter that is of greatest concern to the student body as a whole.

ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY AT RECEPTION

Deutscher Geselliger Verein and the Deutscher Schauspiel Verein Entertain Legislators

The reception for the legislators given by the Deutscher Schauspiel Verein and the Deutscher Geselliger Verein at the Temple last evening was attended by about 150 persons.

The one act German comedy "Das Gaenzchen von Buchenhaus," given in the theatre under the direction of Magdelene Craft was well received and a great deal of interest was expressed in the work of the department.

Before the play Magdelene Wupper, '17, president of the Deutscher Geselliger Verein welcomed the visitors and told of the purpose of the club. Gerhard Naber, '17, president of the Deutscher Schauspiel Verein told of the purposes of the dramatic club and of its trips into the state. The orchestra of the two clubs furnished music for the play.

After the play the club members and visitors went to the Y. W. C. A. room to get acquainted. Dr. Winifred Hyde, associate professor in the philosophy department sang several German songs. Refreshments were served.

Following is the case of characters of "Das Gaenzchen von Buchenhaus": Alfred von Fink—Lammert Redelphs, '19. Silberling, junior—Anton Jensen, '18. Baron von Buchenau—Emil Luckey, '20. Baron von Buchenau—Magdelene Lau, '18. Agnes—das Gaenzchen—Lena Lipsey, '19. Jakob—Carl Liebers, '20.

Clyde Little, '20, and Raymond Haggard, '20, were in York for a few days last week.

CONVOCATION

Rev. S. Mills Hayes, pastor of the Church of the Holy Trinity, of Lincoln, will speak on "The Effect of the War Upon American Civilization," at Convocation this morning in Memorial hall, at 11 o'clock. Mr. Hayes is a very scholarly man, and an interesting speaker, well-known to the older students, as he has spoken at Convocation several times before.

Governor Keith Neville will speak in Memorial hall a week from today.

PLAN REMODELING OF OLD CHEM. HALL

College of Pharmacy and Department of Physiology Will Occupy Building by September

Tentative plans have been made for the remodeling of the old Chemistry building into quarters for the college of pharmacy and the department of physiology, and its occupation by September 1, according to Dean R. A. Lyman.

The two large laboratories will be used for general work in pharmacy and physiology; the position of the library and offices will not be changed.

The fourth floor, now not in use, will be converted into a drug-drying and curing shop and apparatus installed for milling purposes. In the top of the building little houses will be built to keep the animals that are used for experimental purposes. Of the two laboratories on the first floor, the west will be for analytical work in pharmacy and the east for microscopical investigation in crude drug plants.

The two departments will hold their summer session work in their present quarters, but will begin the next year's work in the new building.

HINDMARSH FIRE RETARDS ANNUAL

But Cornhusker Management Will be up to Schedule in Ten Days

The recent fire at Hindmarsh's studio, where a good number of the photographs for the 1917 Cornhusker were made, has put the book almost a fortnight behind schedule, according to Charles M. Frey, editor-in-chief. All of the pictures destroyed are being replaced as fast as possible—there are five staff photographers working now—and it is estimated that the management will be caught up with its schedule within ten days.

There is a possibility that the book may be delayed and not issued on its publication day, May 1, but that possibility rests entirely with the students. Sororities and organizations, according to Frey, have been slow in their Cornhusker pictures. The time limit has already been extended once on these photographs, and it is probable, if the management is forced to extend it again, that the book will be delayed.

The problem of getting these photographs to the engraver in time for the printers of the book is the only proposition which must be solved to permit the annual to meet its date of publication. The editorial matter is completely up to schedule, according to Frey.

Among the new features now in the hands of the editor which will make the 1917 Cornhusker a distinctive annual are a summer section and a rejuvenated faculty section. The military department of the book has also been treated in a novel way and more completely as well. The outstanding feature, however, the one which the management has stressed above everything else, is the student life section, which will contain, it is said, some

MISS HEATON SPEAKS AT VESPERS TODAY ON WORLD SERVICE

Miss Ada Heaton, secretary of the city Y. W. C. A., will speak at Vespers this afternoon at 5 o'clock on "Qualifications for World Service."

Miss Heaton has been actively connected with state Y. W. C. A. work since coming to the city association, and she has made many interesting talks. All University girls are invited to be present.

HUSKER WRESTLERS SPRING SURPRISE

Defeat Iowa 24 to 14, in Meet at Iowa City—Ames is Next Opponent

In defeating the Iowa wrestling team by the score of 24 to 14 last Saturday night the Nebraska wrestlers sprung a great surprise.

Coach Rutherford took a green bunch of men to Iowa expecting nothing better than a close score at the best. Only two men on the squad had previously wrestled in varsity contests. Captain Otoupalik and Brian were the only ones counted on as probable winners before the meet.

The new men showed up in unexpected form and came through with only one actual defeat and that one due to an injury to Maloney, in the form of a large boil.

Burgess, the first man on the mat, set to work immediately and in six minutes and ten seconds had his opponent's shoulders on the mat. This feat was the more remarkable because of the fact that his opponent was Parret, western intercollegiate champion last year. The events were wrestled in three seven-minute periods. When it came time for the second round in the first bout, Coach Rutherford refused to allow Burgess to go on the mat because of a bad ear he had received in the first encounter. This made it necessary to forfeit the match to Iowa.

Brian Shows Speed
In the second match Brian had his man on his back in the short time of five minutes and thirty-five seconds. The Nebraska could not secure a second fall however, but was awarded the match at the end of 21 minutes.

In the 145 pound class, Anderson, the Cornhusker representative, was unable to secure a fall. He outwrestled his opponent, however, and was given the decision at the end of the third period.

Fuchs was the next man to wrestle and he came off with the cleanest record of all, throwing his man twice in 16 minutes and 48 seconds.

Captain Otoupalik followed, getting a decision over his man at the end of 21 minutes of wrestling.

Maloney in the heavyweight class was the only man to suffer defeat and his was the result of the boil mentioned before. The Iowa man worked to the greatest possible extent on the

Burglar Passes For Co-Ed Robs Gamma Phi Beta House

A bold, bad burglar entered the front door of the Gamma Phi Beta house, 330 North Fourteenth street, about 10 o'clock Saturday evening, while members of the sorority were giving their annual formal party at the Lincoln hotel, walked upstairs, and took fifty odd dollars in cash which he found in rooms on the second floor. He then walked down stairs again and out the front door.

He was heard by the maid, who was alone in the house, but she mistook him for one of the girls who had returned to the house to get something she had forgotten. That his visit was a hurried one, despite his cool entrance and exit, is proved by the fact that his search was careless and that he did not go to the third floor, where

TICKETS TODAY FOR UNI. NIGHT

SEAT SALE BEGINS AT TEMPLE THIS MORNING

Faculty Make Reservations at 11 O'Clock; Students at 1 O'Clock—Uniform Price of Ten Cents

Seat sale for University night to be produced next Saturday will begin at 11 o'clock this morning, when tickets will be sold to members of the faculty. Students will be given their first chance at the admission cards at 1 o'clock this afternoon.

The University night management has announced that reservations, which are free, come with the ticket, selling at a uniform price, ten cents. Only the main floor of the auditorium will be reserved, although the number of tickets which will be sold for the balconies will be limited. Each student will be allowed to purchase but one ticket, unless he buy one for another student, in which case he will be requested to give the name so that it may be checked off the class lists, which will be used for a record of sale. In case a number of students desire seats together it will be necessary for them to be together in the line of purchasers.

The management has attempted to simplify the process as much as possible by eliminating the necessity of reserving the seats after tickets have been purchased. Ample provisions for the rush of students at the first opening of the ticket sale this afternoon have been made.

Auditorium Has Larger Capacity
The auditorium has been secured instead of the Oliver because of the much greater seating capacity. In past years, there has always been an overflow of some two or three hundred howling students who have been turned away from the Oliver, and this the management hopes to remedy by renting the largest hall in the city. All of the seats will be reserved, which, it is thought, will lessen the desirability of the balconies somewhat.

In the selection of stunts, the management and the committee in charge of the program have endeavored to raise the plane of the productions and yet rob the night of none of its historic jollity. This, they believe, they have succeeded in doing.

boil and was greatly aided in obtaining his two falls by those operations.

Ames Next Saturday Week
The Cornhuskers are to wrestle the Ames Aggies on a week from Saturday. The Aggies are a veteran bunch and much feared by Rutherford. They defeated Iowa by a larger score than did the Nebraskans. Ames will have an added advantage from the fact that their coach saw the whole meet at Iowa and will know just what kind of opposition his men will have when they visit Nebraska.
