BANDAGES TO BE CO-EDS FIRST BIT

COLLEGE WOMEN'S RESERVE WILL MAKE THEM NEXT WEEK

Instruction in Red Cross Leading to Emergency Certificate Planned as Soon as Class is Formed

The first bit that University women will do for their country will be making bandages. The college women's reserve league, formed just before spring recess to lend all possible aid to America in the impending war, will meet on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons in the basement of the First Congregational church for this purpose. Harriet Ramey, '18, of Lincoln, is the chairman of the bandage circle work.

All University girls are eligible to membership in the league, whose sole purpose is to effectively organize college women's work in the present war.

To Start Red Cross Training

Arrangements are under way, although they have not yet been completed, with the secretary of the Red Cross at Omaha whereby an instructor will give a class of University girls fifteen lessons, two each week, leading up to an emergency certificate. To defray expenses, a fee of one dollar will be charged each girl. Definite arrangements for the place of meeting cannot be made until all the girls who intend to take the work have registered for it. Particulars may be had at The Nebraskan office, and names can also be left there by those who would like to take the training.

There are many girls in the University who are anxious to help their country who have not yet identified themselves with the league. Particulars of the organization and applications for membership can be received from any of the following girls, who make up the executive committee: Helen Loftman, Myrtle Beeler, Florence Woods, Lulu Shade, Mary Hughey, Edna Ogden, Elizabeth Doyle, Vesta Mawe, Gertrude Munger, Florence Wirt, Marion Reeder, Laelle Wilcox, Florence Bishop, Helen Minier.

A meeting of the executive committee of the league has been called for Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock at the office of the Naval Reserve association, Eleventh and N streets.

SCHEDULE VARSITY TENNIS MATCHES

Nebraska Will Meet Ames, Creighton and Kansas—Courts Now Open to Racquetors

Ames, Creighton and Kansas universities will be opponents of Nebraska on the tennis court this spring, and other matches may be arranged, according to announcement made by varsity racquet wielders.

Along with this announcement comes the fact that the University tennis courts are in condition for playing, and open to all the students of the University. The two courts are east of the athletic field, and are in fine condition—hard and fast.

Tennis "N" Men Gone

Student Recruits

E. Y. Groupe, C. E., '15, has been appointed aeronautical engineer with the balloon division of the aviation signal corps of the regular army.

Clyde Foster, '20, and R. S. Grant, '19, both of the college of pharmacy, will go to Omaha tomorrow to take the examination for work in the hospital corps of the navy.

WAR CONVOCAT'ON TUESDAY, APRIL 24

UNIVERSITY WILL HOLD PATRIOTIC DEMONSTRATION

Will Parade Streets and Gather in Auditorium—Program to Be Announced Later

Students and faculty of the University of Nebraska will hold a patriotic demonstration at 11 o'clock Tuesday, April 24, according to an announcement made by the Convocation committee yesterday. The program has not yet been made public, but it will include patriotic speeches by faculty members, alumni, and representative students.

One of the things planned is a parade forming at the city campus, with the students grouped into departments, classes, or some similar division, and marching through the streets to the city auditorium at Thirteenth and M, where the demonstration will be held. The Armory, which was utilized for a similar demonstration in 1898, upon America's declaration of war with Spain, is known to be far too small for the hundreds who will turn out for the mass meeting a week from Tuesday.

$50 SCHOLARSHIP TO DESERVING CO-ED

Collegiate Alumnae Association Announces Semester Award

The Nebraska association of collegiate alumnae has announced that those who wish to be considered for the semester scholarship of $50 offered by the association should fill out application blanks at once. Blanks may be obtained at the office of the dean of women.

The scholarship is meant primarily to give aid and recognition to the self-supporting or partially self-supporting girl, preferably a sophomore or senior. Scholarship itself is, of course, an important requisite.

Ruth Shively, '18, of Lincoln, is this year's recipient.

ing a few lawfords and lobs in preparation for the tennis trials. More men are needed to give Nebraska a good team, as all of last year's "N" men, Harry Ellis, Orville Chatt and James Gardiner, are no longer in school.

Spring singles tournaments for both men and women will be staged under the supervision of the athletic board, some time in May.

HILDRETH WINS ORATORICAL PRIZE

TAKES FIRST PLACE IN ANNUAL PROHIBITION CONTEST

H. T. Landeryou Second, and W. F. Heyler Third—"Prohibition and the War," Hildreth's Subject

Miles C. Hildreth, '20, of Lincoln, won the first prize of $25 in the annual prohibition oratorical contest held in the Temple theatre last evening. The second prize of $15 was won by H. T. Landeryou, '20, of Lincoln, and the third prize of $10 by William F. Heyler of Edmund, Okla. The prize money was given by the Frances Willard Prohibition organization of this city. Prof. M. M. Fogg of the department of rhetoric presided. The judges were: Mr. T. F. A. Williams, '92, law, '94; Rev. C. M. Shepherd, and Mr. Fred Mason.

Covered National Prohibition The orations were concerned chiefly with the national phase of the prohibition question and the speakers discussed the trend toward nation-wide freedom from the liquor traffic, dealing extensively with the forces at work toward that end.

During the intermission, while the judges were conferring, Professor Fogg spoke of the value of such contests not only to the cause under discussion but to the men who were thus learning to effectively express themselves while on their feet.

In his winning oration, Hildreth told of the necessity which had arisen in the warring countries for prohibition and of the fact that one of the results of the war was the bringing of the realization that the liquor traffic was one of the greatest hindrances to a nation's progress. He brought out the fact that the educational forces of the country be more completely brought into the fight for wide-spread prohibition as it extended to the larger metropolitan districts of the east.

Landeryou, the winner of the second place, spoke on "National Efficiency," and traced the hindering of national efficiency by the effect of the liquor upon each individual user. This fact was the strongest force at work for prohibition today, he declared. Heyler gave "A Plea for National Prohibition," and urged that it was a moral, economic and social necessity. He pleaded for concerted action on the part of voters in bringing about a constitutional amendment which would free country once and for all from the liquor traffic.

The dates for the festival this year are May 11 and 12. Local arrangements are under the direction of C. B. Cornell, the director of the band. Mr. Cornell heard the St. Louis symphony orchestra play during the Christmas holidays, and engaged them at once for the May festival. He says that he has never heard a finer orchestra—not excepting the New York and Boston symphony organizations.

Chorus Will Sing "Hiawatha" Friday, May 11 is the first day of the festival. The University chorus, directed by Mrs. Raymond, will sing the cantata "Hiawatha"—one of the most difficult undertaken by the University organization. Outside singers will assist the chorus in the solo parts.

CADETS PARADE BEFORE INSPECTOR

COLONEL PENN, U. S. A. REVIEWS REGIMENT

New Light Cast Over Process by War Developments—Colonel Penn A Good Questioner

Before a slender but good-natured crowd, aided by the finest spring weather, men of the University cadet regiment underwent inspection Thursday by Col. Julius A. Penn of the regular army.

Colonel Penn visited every member of the regiment, but he visited some longer than he visited others. Following the passing in review, the inspecting officer, commandant, regimental and battalion officers passed along the lines.

Fires Questions

As the colonel reached each officer he questioned him. As he came to each man in the ranks, the man came to port arms and opened the chamber of his rifle for inspection.

Colonel Penn asked hundred of questions during the inspection. He questioned some men several times, others not at all, others once or twice. Among the questions asked were:

"How old are you?"
"Have you ever seen trenches?"
"What is the make of your rifle, model and calibre?"
"What is the number of your rifle?"
"Have you ever been on guard?"
"Do you favor universal military training?"
"Do you know what an outpost is?"
"Have you ever taken any map work?"
"Do you know what a pontoon is?"
"Would you like to take advanced training?"

Second Lieutenants Needed

After each company was inspected, its members sat down on the ground or in the stands of the athletic field, bought popcorn and otherwise rested. Later there were open and close order drills, bayonet exercises and skirmishing work.

Colonel Penn met the men who have applied for examination for entrance into the officers reserve corps or who have signed contracts for commutation of rations. He told of the need of the regular army for second lieutenants, of examinations to be held and dwelt to some extent on the qualifications necessary.

The order of events and the men entered follow:
1. Mile—Overman, Jungmeyer, B. MacMahon, G. Graf, Nolan, Williams, Boggs, Scott, Runkel.
2. 440—Townsend, Bryans, Yort, Forbes, Dally, Sturm, Fuchs, Henry.

E. E. SMITH TELLS STUDENTS ADVERTISING SHOULD TEACH ECONOMY

Emerson E. Smith, president of the Lincoln Ad club and advertising manager of Speier and Simon's, spoke to the two divisions of D. F. Cole's class in advertising at 11 o'clock yesterday morning in Law 101 on "The Psychology of Advertising."

Mr. Smith stressed the idea that a really successful advertising man must study the characteristics of man—his emotions, desires and habits. Advertising is used as a means to sell goods but its primary purpose should be to enable people to economically and intelligently buy goods. An advertisement should be one continuous story to make it the more easily read.

INSERT CLASS MEET TO OPEN SEASON

Track Work Officially Ushered in This Afternoon at 2 O'Clock on Athletic Field

The first big athletic event of the spring will take place tomorrow on Nebraska field when the track teams representing the four classes of the school will compete.

Dr. R. C. Clapp, official starter, will send the millers away at exactly 2 o'clock and the other fourteen events will follow rapidly. Fifty-two men have already entered and anyone still has the privilege.

The relay will be especially watched because of the coming Drake relay carnival to which a Cornhusker team will be sent. The other events will determine the men who for the most part will make up the varsity team this year. These facts insure keen competition among the men eligible for these teams, and the offering of fine medals gives the freshmen something to strive for.

The Entry List

The order of events and the men entered follow:
1. Mile—Overman, Jungmeyer, B. MacMahon, G. Graf, Nolan, Williams, Boggs, Scott, Runkel.
2. 440—Townsend, Bryans, Yort, Forbes, Dally, Sturm, Fuchs, Henry.

KOSMET PLAY AT OLIVER TONIGHT

SEVENTH ANNUAL PRODUCTION ON STAGE

"The Diplomat" With Which Klub Made its First Appearance, Will Be Vehicle

The seventh annual theatrical production of the Kosmet Klub will be presented at the Oliver theatre this evening, and the play, "The Diplomat," will be the one with which the Klub made its successful first appearance in 1912.

Although the play itself will be the same, features have been added which indicate that the production will "get across" even better than it did when it raised the curtain on Kosmet plays. Chief among these features are entirely new music by C. Leroy Meisinger, '17; a Turkish dance by six University girls, and special scenery.

A Strong Cast

In this connection the acting which may well be expected, from work at rehearsals, of Natalie Spencer, '20, of Atkinson, as Princess Zaides of Argonia and Walter C. Johnson, '19, of Omaha, as the Dictator, in the two leading roles, should make the second production of the play better than the original. Among those who will do some of the "heavy" work in supporting Miss Spencer and Johnson will be Ellsworth Moser, '18, Robert Drake, a graduate student, Lewis R. Doyle, '17, Norman Curtice, '19, Marguerite Lonam, '19, and Ottila Schurman, '19.

The cast went through a stage rehearsal at the Oliver theatre last evening as the climax of many weeks of hard and ceaseless drilling.

Some Exceptional Dancing

The "Turkish ballet," comprising Elizabeth Doyle, '17, Frances Whitmore, '19, Katharine Newbranch, '19, Jeanne Preece, '20, Winifred Williams, '18, and Ruth Whitmore, '17, coached by Miss Charlotte Wheedon, has attracted much attention at rehearsals, and is sure to add a distinctive touch to the show. One man who saw it, a competent judge, declared that the dance, produced with original music, was without doubt the equal of numbers by professional dancing troupes.

Following its presentation here tonight, the play will be taken to

NOMINATIONS FOR MAY QUEEN TODAY

Senior Girls Will Vote for Candidates to Be Considered for Ivy Day Honor

Nominations for the traditional throne of May Queen will be made today by girls of the senior class. A table has been placed in front of the library, where ballots bearing the names of those to be considered will be received.

The election of the May Queen will be from these nominations, and the results will not be known until the chosen one starts down the flower-strewn path toward her throne on the morning of Ivy Day. The crowning of the queen is one of the oldest and most pleasing of the many traditions centering around the annual holiday. Last year Mrs. Florence Angle-Reed was the senior girl thus honored.
