AENID REMINDED ROMANS OF DESTINY

Professor Sanford explained, "describe the voyage of Aeneas and his followers from burned Troy to Italy. The last six narate the wars by which the hero gains a foothold in Italy and a place in which to found a new nation." The most interesting of the first group, professor Sanford said, were the first, fourth and sixth. "The last six books have never had the fascination of the earlier ones. They exhibit many interesting episodes, and present several characters of heroic mold.

Battle Scenes Forced
 "But to Vergil's timid and sympathetic nature the representation of the battle scenes was alien and forced. We feel that much of what he writes is merely to satisfy the requirements of an epic of action, that his heart is not in the fray. School editions, partly at least in recognition of these defects, usually offer only selections from the later books."

"As a narrator of stirring scenes Vergil is inferior to Homer. Yet he is on the whole successful. He had, as a critic has said, that quality which many writers want, the power of variety. The narrative is full of movement, succinct or ample according to the prominence intended to be given to its different parts.

"On the whole," concluded Professor Sanford, "it may be said that Vergil achieved success more than might be expected in the very difficult task of combining heroic action with a conscious and deliberate eulogy of national destiny. Some one has said of the hero Aeneas that he was better fitted to be the founder of an order of Monks than of an empire. But it was not Vergil's purpose to do that. From the first to the last the poet's real hero was imperial Rome."

Vespers Postponed.—Vespers were postponed yesterday till next Tuesday. The program will be the same.

LAY PLANS FOR

TUESDAY RALLY

STUDENT COMMITTEE MEETS AND ORGANIZES—DISCUSSES PARADE ARRANGEMENTS

Seventy members of the student committee on the All-University patriotic rally next Tuesday met in U 207 yesterday, organized, and discussed plans for Nebraska's great demonstration of loyalty. Theodore Metcalfe, '18, was elected chairman, and an executive committee including Albert Bryson, '17, George Grimes, '18, Adolf Blunk, '17, Ralph Anderson, '18, Will T. Johnson, '19, M. C. Dalley, '20, Ivan Beede, '18, Alice Proudft, '16, Eva Miller, '18, Louise Coe, '17, Olive Lehmer, '17, and Marguerite Kauffmann, '17, was appointed.

The committee occupied itself largely with a discussion of the plans already made by the faculty committee and favorably passed upon them. Another meeting will be held this week, probably tomorrow.

A Mammoth Parade

Some idea of the size of the parade was obtained by members of the committee when Prof. P. M. Buck outlined its tentative organization. The suggested arrangement and division of the students which the committee took under consideration placed the parade as follows: cadet band, board of regents, faculty members, prominent alumni, woman's reserve league and Red Cross, cadet regiment, freshman cadet band, the law college, engineering college, pre-medic, pharmics, and the arts and science college by classes.

If possible the members of the woman's reserve league and the Red Cross will be costumed, and every student will be given a flag.

THE DAYS GONE BY

Fifteen Years Ago Today

The Cornhusker baseball team defeated the Nebraska Indians by a score of 13 to 5.

Nine Years Ago Today

The glee club spent the spring vacation giving concerts through the state.

Fourteen Years Ago Today

Arrangements were made for the cadet battalion to take part in the parade in honor of President Roosevelt.

Thirteen Years Ago Today

The freshman class decided for the first time in the history of the University to wear class caps and instead of pleasing the sophomores this action was taken as a challenge.

Eleven Years Ago Today

The western trip of the University glee club was called off because of the fire and earthquake at San Francisco.

Seven Years Ago Today

The Nebraska baseball team lost to the Kansas "Aggies" at Manhattan by the score of 7 to 2 and the Cornhusker freshman team lost to Wesleyan 7 to 5 in a ten inning battle.

Five Years Ago Today

Plans were being made for the engineers annual inspection trip to Omaha.

Capt. Halsey E. Yates, commandant of the University cadets, received orders relieving him from further duty at the University and assigning him to the Thirtieth infantry, then stationed at Presidio, California.

Four Years Ago Today

The Kosmet Klub was putting the last touches to "The Matchmaker," which it was soon to put on as its annual production.

Two Years Ago Today

Because of the great need for more tennis courts the athletic board decided to increase the number to ten as soon as possible.

The Pershing Rifles won their first victory in four years over the Workizers by a score of 424 to 421. The University cadet band gave its University week program in Memorial hall for the benefit of the students.

Owing to the serious lack of tennis facilities the athletic board was considering plans for preparing ten courts for students' use.

A Momentous Message

Of Vital Importance to Every Man and Young Man

For more than twenty-five years this institution has clothed the greater part of Lincoln's men and Boys. We feel deeply the responsibility of service as an institution in this community and we feel it our duty to make known to the public the exact condition of the clothing market.

A few months back we made public announcement that high prices would strike the clothing field in general. We advised immediate purchasing to cover your most distant needs. Hundreds of men profited by our suggestion.

Now we are in a state of war. There is a crisis in the woolen market which directly concerns YOU. Our government has been offered all the wool in the Boston market, (the world's woolen market) which means that the supply of wool for civilian clothing may be practically cut off.

This store has long ago made every preparation for just such a situation. Thousands of dollars have been invested in good reliable clothing, hats and furnishings for men, youths, boys and children. Almost every foot of our 30,000 square feet of floor space is being used to house this great supply of wearing apparel for citizens of this locality.

You'll not be asked to pay higher prices at this time, nor will you be asked to do so until our present stocks are exhausted. We do, however, conscientiously urge immediate buying for both present and future needs---it's the only way to evade the high prices of the future.

A. H. Armstrong,
 President

 Good Clothes Merchants

The final scores in the Intercollegiate shooting contests conducted by the government showed that Nebraska was a close contender with Kansas for second place in class "C," the first place having been won by Yale University.

One Year Ago Today

The first game of the inter-department series resulted in a victory for the engineers over the laws by a score of 4 to 0.

The first call was issued for stars for the Gate City regent to be held in June.

Preparations were in full swing for the annual engineers' week, the special feature to be engineers' night, April 22.

The senior class of the University decided to abandon the play "Love's Labor Lost" and prepare "The Girl With the Green Eyes" for the annual class play.

The interfraternity baseball schedule was announced.
