"JIMMY VALENTINE" LAST PRODUCTION

UNI. WEEK SUCCESS BEFORE HOME AUDIENCE THURSDAY

Will Close Work of Dramatic Department for Year—Original Cast to Play

The presentation of "Alias Jimmy Valentine," Thursday night will be the final production in the dramatic department of the school year and will practically take the place of the senior play generally put on about this time. Both leads and many of the cast are leaving school for good at the close of the semester or before and some others may be called to Fort Snelling the day after the performance. With the general shut down of social affairs it was thought that his would be one thing that could be freely patronized as a final farewell of many to this department of University work.

Original Cast to Play

The cast reached an unusual degree of "polish" during the week it took the play on the road and will present probably the least amateurish production of the year. With the exception of Neil Brown, the cast is unchanged and the extra rehearsals have made the prospects favorable to a banner production.

Tickets are on sale at the College Book Store and on the campus. Although the sale has not been rapid to date the management hopes that the chance to "let a little sunshine in," during a time more or less gloomy in spite of anything that can be done, will be appreciated enough by the University public to draw a full house. "Jimmy Valentine," as a character became famous from this play. Songs, motion pictures and vaudeville adopted the character for specialty work and have advertised the play from one end of the country to the other. For some reason it has not been presented in Lincoln at least in the past generation of University students and this offered the best chance possible for the University players to take a play worth while and at the same time one of the highest professional type.

COLLEGE PRESS TO MEET ON WAR

WILL PLAN CAMPAIGN FOR INTEL-LIGENT RECRUITING

A national conference of college newspaper men will be held at the Hotel LaSalle in Chicago Saturday to unite the college press of the country for the purpose of influencing intelligent recruiting of college men for service in the war.

The government as well as the heads of the educational institutions are anxious that college men enter the war work for which they are best fitted. Complete resumes of the five or six fields of service open to the college man will be reviewed at the convention by representatives of the various departments at Washington. The convention was called by Phi Delta Epsilon, honorary journalism fraternity. The plans of those in charge are for the campaign to be waged through a series of syndicated editorials disseminating the information through the college press of the country before the men are scattered broadcast in June.

MAKE $1,000 HAUL AT UNI. BOOK STORE

BURGLAR CLEANS UP JEWELRY AND FOUNTAIN PENS

Robbers obtained nearly $1,000 worth of merchandise, consisting of fountain pens and jewelry, from the University Book Store some time Monday night. The loss was discovered by D. B. Gilbert Tuesday morning. Three hundred fountain pens, valued at $600; five dozen graduate pins, valued at $100; ten to twelve gold rings and 75 silver rings were taken. The jewelry taken was of the best in the store; the robber or robbers ignored the plated goods.

Did Work Cleanly

Most of the articles were taken from a showcase. Watch fobs and fraternity jewelry were untouched. There was little disorder in the store and the front door was left locked.

It is believed that entrance was gained through the front door. The lock is an old-fashioned one and could be easily picked. The door is the only one to the building. There are two keys, one carried by Mr. Gilbert and the other by a clerk. The clerk was out of town Monday night and his key was found in his room.

Fourteen years ago the same store suffered loss by fire and burglary. No burglar insurance was carried by Mr. Gilbert.

GIRLS' CLUB CALLS FOR WASTE PAPER

DISCARDED THEMES MAY HELP SWELL RED CROSS FUND

The Girls' club is again asking that University students save waste paper to be sold to the Salvation Army and the money turned over to the Red Cross.

Newspapers, magazines, discarded themes—all sorts, shapes and sizes will help the club. Arrangements have been made to collect the paper from the different places once a week, probably Saturday morning. Winifred Moran, '18, is chairman of

First Impressions Of Fort Snelling As Seen By A Husker Recruit

Living at Fort Snelling for the first few days has been something like the yarn penned by somebody about discovering an unearthed, unoccupied, rich city somewhere in Mexico and having it all to himself.

There are barracks enough at Fort Snelling for several thousand men; most of them are empty as this is written; in a few days every inch will be taken.

Captain Rotjehn, an engineering officer and an Illinois graduate; Lieutenant Frazer of Omaha, a Creighton law senior; Dr. Beckwith of the Grinnell faculty and myself have been the four holding down this one building.

Lieutenant Frazer and Dr. Beckwith attended Plattsburg camp last summer and tell a great many anecdotes about it.

The Minnesota men one meets up here are all boosters for their school and their football teams, but one can always tell them that their bunch has never come to Lincoln since our eleven walloped them. At that, the Minnesotans are a fine set and the Nebraska men will be very glad to meet them in camp.

It is hard to realize that the Nebraska campus is between 400 and 500 miles from here.

When they say "university" here, they mean Minnesota; in Lincoln it means, of course, Nebraska. Lincoln beats St. Paul in streets, as St. Paul was planned for comparatively few people and has outgrown its plans. Downtown there is scarcely enough room for the street cars, actually the main street does not seem wider than The Daily Nebraskan office. Nothing is said herein about Minneapolis, as the writer has not yet visited that country but may do so tonight.

WITHDRAWALS DROP TO FORTY YESTERDAY

810 IS TOTAL NUMBER EXCUSED IN WAR EMERGENCY

Three More Co-Eds Hear Call—Amelia Specht, '19, Will Help Put in Crops

The steady withdrawal of students to take their places on the farms and in the training camps continued yesterday, although the number dropped from 70 to 46. 37 men and 3 co-eds handing in their applications. The total number is now 810.

Amelia C. Specht, '19, of Syracuse is leaving to take actual part in the farm work at her home because of labor scarcity. She intends to help put in the spring crop. Zella Sharp, '18, of Blockston, Ia., will help with garden work and Evelyn Walker, '20, of Waverly, will take charge of garden work and chicken raising. The list of yesterday's withdrawals follows:

FIFTY-FIVE PLAY IN SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

FAMOUS ST. LOUIS ORGANIZATION PART OF MUSIC FESTIVAL

Max Zach Commander-in-Chief of Musical Company—Military Formation Used

The St. Louis symphony orchestra, which will play on Saturday as a part of the University May Festival is composed of fifty-five men divided into the following sections: Ten first violins, eight second violins, five violas, four violoncellos, four bass violins, one harp, two oboes, one English horn, two flutes, one piccolo, three clarinets, three bassoons, four French horns, four trumpets and cornets, three trombones, one tuba, one set tympani or kettledrums, two side drums, bass drum, glockenspiel, etc.

The orchestra will arrive here Saturday at 10:10, coming in two special cars, attached to the regular train. This is the eighteenth stop in its present tour, which it is making under the personal direction of its manager, Arthur J. Gaines, of St. Louis.

The orchestra is organized according to military formation, with a captain, or leader, for each section, an assistant conductor, who occupies the position of regimental adjutant, and a concertmaster, who corresponds to the lieutenant-colonel of a regiment. The conductor is the commander-in-chief. This formation is followed in all orchestras of more than fifty men, and is rigidly observed.

EXPECT UNIVERSITY MEN TO GET FIRST CALL TO CAMP TODAY

FIVE LINCOLN MEN, NONE OF THEM STUDENTS, HAVE ALREADY RECEIVED ORDERS

Fort Snelling Has Been Prepared For Coming of 2,500 Recruits—Camp Forces Mobilized—Calls Will be Scattering at First

The first call for Nebraska University men to report at the reserve officers' training camp at Fort Snelling is expected unofficially to come today. Commandant Parker said yesterday afternoon that five Lincoln men had received notifications, but that none of them were University recruits. Reports from the training camp are that the calls will be scattering at first, for only six hundred a day is to be the starting rate.

By Richard Cook
(Special to The Daily Nebraskan, via St. Paul).

Fort Snelling, May 8.—With the calls going out for the chosen ones to come into the fold at the post, students at Nebraska University, especially the men who are coming, but almost as especially the hundreds who will come "in spirit" if not in person, are perhaps deeply interested in how the hundreds in training are to live during their three months here.

A big force of cooks is being mobilized. There is another force in the quartermaster's department preparing uniforms and supplies. There will be Y. M. C. A. branch offices which will maintain a bank; and writing rooms and exchange stores will be opened where one can buy anything from a shaving brush to a pair of rubber boots.

A University Atmosphere

The university men will be part of the time in very much of a university atmosphere, for there will be stated study periods as regularly as there will be drills. A heavy sprinkling of faculty members from various institutions is expected. Each man in training will have to pay as much attention to his text books as to his rifle.

600 a Day to Report

Men of Nebraska who have qualified but have not been ordered to report for camp as soon as others, need not be disappointed or impatient. It is planned to have about 600 men report every day for a few days and the notices to come will be sent out accordingly.

Candidates who were graded highest by examining boards will be given preference. There will be more than a thousand who qualified but cannot be called at once on account of the limited capacity of this camp which will train about 2,500 men.

Instruction Announced

The course of instruction for each of the first five weeks has been announced by Col W. H. Sage, commanding the camp. The schedule contemplates a ten-hour day, usually five in the morning, three in the afternoon and two for study in the evening. Saturday will be used in bringing up work that has been delayed by adverse weather, and for special things such as vaccination.

The First Week's Work

Marked attention will be given to signaling work. The first week's course includes: Organization, eight hours, evening study, eight hours; practice marches, three without arms, three; physical, one and one-half; school of soldier, three; school of squad, three; sighting, three; semaphore signaling, care of equipment, organization, extracts from bulletin 16, W. D., 1916; infantry drill regulations, pages 7 to 14; manual interior guard duty, paragraphs 1 to 40, inclusive.

Forty-seven passed the examinations for the camp yesterday, a mark a score below that of the day before. A continued rush of applicants is expected by Captain S. M. Parker until he receives orders to suspend examination.

Up to date 472 men have been certified as suitable for camp, of whom it is estimated about three hundred were University students. Eighty-nine have been disqualified and there were 81 applications yesterday yet to be examined.

Two faculty men were among those disqualified yesterday.

All Gone by May 14

Regarding the calling of men to the camp, Captain Parker said that he expected all of the first 2,500 who are to train at Fort Snelling to have been ordered to report at camp by May 14, the date set for opening it. Captain Parker and two of his assistants, Sergeants Sullivan and Wirth, will also be ordered to the camp by that time, it is expected.
