UNIVERSITY OF NEBRASKA, LINCOLN, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 13, 1917.

PRICE FIVE CENTS

RUSHING SEASON IN FULL SWAY

Officially Began at Noon Yesterday—Pledges in Evidence On Campus

LIST OF CHAPTER HOUSES

The fraternity and sorority rushing season opened at noon yesterday with as much display and even more energy than in former years. All of the prospects which had been kept in the dark were brought forth and during the afternoon a number of pledge pins and ribbons were seen over the campus.

The large number of new students this year are being eagerly looked over for prospects to fill the places of the many old members leaving last year and during yesterday afternoon the energetic rushing never halted. Last evening the rushees were entertained at the chapter houses at dinner.

Nearly all of the Greeks will occupy their houses this year contrary to the prediction toward the close of last year. The number of old students returning to their houses has in nearly all cases been larger than was expected.

For the use of students until the regular directory is issued, The Nebraskan has prepared the following list of fraternities and sororities with their house addresses and telephone numbers:

Sororities

Achoth, 1232 R St., B-1697.

PROFESSOR M. M. FOGG TO DIRECT PUBLICITY

Will Have Charge of War Speakers Over the State

Professor M. M. Fogg, of the department of rhetoric, has been appointed as director of the department of public information in the state of Nebraska. He will have charge of the work of carrying to the people of Nebraska all information concerning the war which the government wishes to be emphasized, the reasons the war is being waged and the necessity for standing behind President Wilson so that it may be carried to a successful conclusion.

Professor Fogg, is to have charge of the Nebraska division of what are to be known as "four-minute" men will act as representatives of the federal government in presenting to the people information officially given out by the United States government in the form of four-minute talks to moving-picture and theatre audiences over the country. In this way the facts may be placed before millions of people and they can be given an intelligent view of the war activities and problems.

The department of "four minute" men is the only agency for this particular line of work which is recognized by the federal government and the field is large. Volunteer speakers are wanted in all cities and towns

FRESHMAN CAPS

Freshman, start your University life right by buying a green cap and helping to uphold a tradition.

The green cap is not a mark of disgrace; it is a sign of genuine class spirit.

You will not be laughed at if you have one—you might be laughed at if you don't.

STUDENTS URGED TO REGISTER FOR CHORUS CLASSES THIS SEMESTER

The attention of all students who sing is called to the University chorus.

The chorus organization is a well established feature of University activities. Each year a number of masterpieces, both oratorios and operas are presented with orchestra accompaniment. Members of the chorus who are sufficiently experienced are given opportunities to do solo work from time to time.

Rehearsals of the chorus are held Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 5 o'clock, in Art hall. Men who drill may rehearse on Monday from 7 o'clock until 8 o'clock instead of Monday and Wednesday. One hour of University credit counting toward graduation is given for each semester's work. The work is in charge of Mrs. Carrie B. Raymond, director of music.

REGISTRATION SHOWS DROP ON FIRST DAY

About One Hundred Students Less Registered Yesterday Than a Year Ago

SCIENCE COURSES POPULAR

Two hundred eighty-nine students had completed their registration when the doors closed yesterday evening at 5 o'clock. This is a drop of about one hundred in the registration for the first day last year, but a part of this is attributed by the registrar to some delay in handling the first of those in line in the morning.

The number of students standing in line in Memorial hall during the day was nearly as large as in former years and there were some who were turned away last evening.

The engineering, agricultural and other scientific courses received a heavy enrollment, due probably to the fact that the war has created a great need for men trained in these lines in all kinds of service. Nearly half of the students in the engineering college last year left school to enter war service.

having theatres or motion picture houses.

The state council of defense will aid Professor Fogg and William McCormick, director of the "four-minute" men will cooperate with him from Washington headquarters.

All of the work of the department of publicity is under the supervision of the United States bureau of public information, of which George Creel is chairman. The secretary of the state, war and navy are members of this board.

Miss Nell Drake is in Lincoln visiting her sister, Miss Fannie Drake, on her way to Bryn Mawr, where she has a fellowship in educational psychology.

NEW BUILDINGS ARE NOW READY FOR USE

Bessey Hall and Agricultural Engineering Building Occupied

With the beginning of registration yesterday the University of Nebraska enters upon its 49th year, better fitted than ever before to meet the needs of the students.

The building program on both the farm and the city campus has been carried forward during the summer and two new buildings will be ready for use for the first time this year. On the city campus the new Bessey hall on 12th street has been completed and the departments of botany and zoology are already installed and ready for the year's work. Chemistry hall, the new structure on 12th and S is practically completed, but will not be in use at once because of the difficulty in obtaining the necessary equipment.

The work of construction on the new teachers' college training building on S street is now in progress and the contract has been let to Assenmacher & Co. for the construction of the new Social science building.

On the farm campus the new dairy husbandry building will be ready for use and the agricultural engineering building will be in the course of construction. In all of these buildings the finest laboratories and equipment available are being installed.

Chancellor and Professor Pugsley at Omaha—Chancellor Avery and Professor C. W. Pugsley, professor of agricultural extension, attended the meeting of the Nebraska food commission held in Omaha yesterday.

BAND IS NO MORE A CADET ORGANIZATION

Will Be Continued as Elective Course—No Conflict With Drill Hours

NEW MEN TRY OUT TONIGHT

For the first time since its organization, the band will not be a part of the military department. An officers' training corps, such as the military department is at the present time, has no use for a band and the authorities decided that in order to fulfill the requirements of the government, in regard to maintaining the officers' training corps, the band would have to be removed from the military department, and the first and second year members compelled to take military science.

This move, however, does not mean that there will be no band. Dr. Cornell, the director, has made it possible for members of the band in the future to get one hour's credit, per semester, as an elective subject. This does not excuse the members from drill, but the schedule of practice hours will be so arranged that military science and band work can be carried at the same time.

Tryouts for the band will be held in the Temple theatre this afternoon at 5 o'clock, and at the same time tomorrow afternoon. The first practice will be held Monday of next week. Dr. Cornell has requested that all old men turn out to the first practice ready to begin work immediately, as there will be a job for the band within a short time. The regular hours for practice have been placed at 5 o'clock on Tuesday and Thursday; a third hour will be decided later.

UNIVERSITY HOSPITAL AT OMAHA COSTS $150,000

Provides Clinic for People of State

The completion of the new hospital building for the college of medicine of the state university on the Omaha campus, marks an epoch in the history of that part of the state's educational system.

It is of equal advantage to the people of the state, as it provides a clinic where those who are unable to pay for surgical or medical treatment can receive the most skillful care free of charge. The building cost $150,000 and is built with the idea of service. Plain substantial architecture, calculated to last for many generations, heating, ventilation and lighting carefully planned by experts adds to an equipment that is of the best.

Department to a Floor

Each floor houses its special department; the medical patients will occupy the first floor; the surgical, the second; miscellaneous cases the third floor and on the fourth, three operating rooms, an X-ray department, a clinical amphitheatre and small laboratories. The receiving department, the offices, the library and the internes' quarters are in the administration wing. On the ground floor to the north is situated the pathological department and to the south are the main kitchen and dining rooms. Large porches on each floor join the north and south wings. A promenade roof, paved with tile, extends over the administration wing.

In the hospital rules is stated on what conditions patients will be taken into the hospital. All diseases except insanity, epilepsy, acute contagious diseases, pulmonary tuberculosis and leprosy will be treated at the hospital unless in the estimation of the authorities a case cannot be helped by bringing the patient to the hospital. No money can be received by members of the hospital staff from patients for their professional services.

Alloted by Counties

Patients to the hospital will be alloted from all the counties in the state according to the hospital accommodations in that county. Every county is given a certain number of days at the hospital during the year. One day is counted when a patient from a county has occupied a bed at the hospital for one day.

These vary from 210 for the smallest county to 5,234 for Douglas county and the average number of days will probably exceed 300 for the average county. The hospital staff is made up of the members of the faculty of the Nebraska college of medicine and receive no compensation from the state nor are they allowed to accept any from the patients. More skillful treatment is apt to be secured this way than by any other, it is claimed.

"N" BOOKS NOT OUT TILL FIRST OF WEEK ACCOUNT WAR DELAYS

The 1917-18 "N" books, published annually by the University Y. M. C. A., will not be ready for distribution until the first of the week because of the delays in printing and binding due to the war situation. Only eight hundred copies have been printed this year.

The "N" books are very useful pocket guides for the student containing the University calendar, helps for the new student, a list of the officers of the University administration, and information concerning both the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. One department describes a number of University customs and there are departments for athletics, military science, student organizations and publications.

MANY SUBSCRIBE FOR NEBRASKAN

University Paper Will Continue Policy of All the News First

PLAN SERVICE FEATURES

The first day of The Daily Nebraskan subscription campaign was entirely successful according to the business management last evening. Although yesterday was the first day that many of the new students had seen the University paper, the subscription list contained the names of a large number of freshmen.

The Daily Nebraskan this year will furnish to its readers all the University news when it is news. Subscribers will receive their copy every morning at 10 o'clock at Station "A." Competent reporters will "cover" every department of the University and all University activities. Students will be kept informed concerning the latest sporting developments, the progress of the squad and the "dope" before the games, as well as a complete account after the games.

Last year The Nebraskan had a special reporter on the Cornhusker trip to Oregon for the game with the Oregon Agricultural college, and daily reports of the trip and a report of the game were wired the office. A special wire was run to Memorial hall when the team went to Iowa and students followed the game as it was played. The same kind of service will be continued this year for the Kansas and Michigan games.

Owing to the fact that the single tax is not to go into effect this year, it is necessary to have a separate subscription for The Nebraskan. Students may give subscriptions to the canvassers on the campus or leave them at the student activities office in the basement of the administration building, or the news office in the basement of University hall.

SECRETARY BIGGLESTONE TO LEAVE FOR WAR WORK

First Meeting of This Year's Cabinet Sunday

H. C. Bigglestone, secretary of the University Y. M. C. A., will leave in a few days for Fort Omaha, where he will engage in war work. Later it is possible that he will go to France to continue the work. The board of directors granted him a year's leave of absence at their meeting yesterday. Mr. Bigglestone has had charge of the Y. M. C. A. work here since last fall. He came from the University of Chicago.

This year's cabinet will hold its first meeting Sunday morning. Of the 13 cabinet members, eight are now on hand. These are Ray H. Cowen, '19, president; W. F. Urbach, '18, social; Walter Judd, '20, bible study; L. W. Kline, '19, publicity and publications; Bernard Thomas, '18, industrial service; E. W. Lundeen, '18, rooms and campus publicity; Geo. D. Driver, '19, membership and finance, and Vaughn Russom, '19, mission study. The remaining cabinet places will be filled in a short time.

Blue Print Publication

The Blue Print, the official publication of the engineering college, has found the enterprise of four issues per year too much for the support which has been given the edition. During the present year only two numbers will be issued. A directory of former students in engineering will probably appear in one of these issues.

TWO STARS RETURN TO FOOTBALL FOLD

Kositzky and Wilder, Veteran Guards, May Be in Lineup This Year

WESLEYAN OCTOBER SIXTH

By DWIGHT P. THOMAS

Nebraska's football stock took a sudden and unexpected jump yesterday afternoon when it was announced that Ed Kositzky, a veteran guard of two seasons would in all probability return to school and don the mole skins for another season. Coach Stewart has been trying to persuade Kositzky to return for some time, but Ed had made up his mind to go east to school and hope of his returning to Nebraska was given up. A final letter of appeal and advice was written by the coach and apparently brought the desired results.

With the report of Kositzky's return came the rumor that there is still a possibility of Wilder, the other guard of last year's team, also returning. Wilder was caught in the draft and has been strongly tempted to enlist as his number would be called in the second draft. Coach Stewart has been advising him to use his best judgment in the matter, at the same time pointing out the advantages of attending the University until time to go.

If these two veterans should return to the gridiron this year, the biggest problem of the coach would be solved, as he at present has nothing but untried material to work with in developing three men to fill in the two guards and center position.

Stiff Workouts Daily

Stiff workouts were on the program for yesterday and Wednesday and these will continue to grow harder every day up to the first game of the season, with Wesleyan on October 6. The coach will take no chances on surprise strength of opponents this year, and after he takes charge Saturday will train the men as carefully as if it were the Notre Dame game that came first on the schedule.

Hugo Otoupalik, whose return has been expected daily, was out for his first practice yesterday afternoon, and booted the ball around with most of his old-time form. Otoupalik is a man, about whose condition the coach never has to worry. A little work to get up a good sweat and "Otie" is in fine shape for a battle. He will probably be used at his regular position as fullback this year, and in sharing the punting with Dobson.

Y. M. C. A. ENTERTAINS STUDENTS AT TEMPLE

A Second Meeting Tonight at 8 O'clock

Nearly fifty new students were entertained in the association rooms of the Temple building last evening at a stag party given by the University Y. M. C. A. The program and amusements provided gave an opportunity for the new men to become acquainted with each other and with the older men, and a number expressed their appreciation of the help it was to them.

A second meeting of University men will be held this evening at 8 o'clock, in the Temple.

All of the men who were out last night are invited to attend tonight and meet other new men that come. A program of pantomime has been prepared and speakers will be present who will tell the men of the different phases of University life.

The programs and parties are in charge of Will F. Urbach, '18, chairman of the social committee.

Prof. Hoffmann at Purdue

Prof. J. D. Hoffman, who has been in charge of the department of mechanical engineering since 1911, is now professor of practical mechanics at Purdue university. His vacancy here has not yet been filled.

NEBRASKAN FREE TO UNIVERSITY SOLDIERS

Believing that Nebraska men actively engaged in the war are just as anxious for news from the campus as their former classmates are for word from them, the management of The Nebraskan will send the paper free of charge to every Cornhusker soldier whose address is known. You can help by sending lists of addresses to The Nebraskan, either mailing them to Station A or telephoning them to the business office, B-2597.
