PRICE FIVE CENTS

CATHOLIC ELEVEN STRONG AS THAT OF LAST YEAR

Outweighs Nebraska Line 10 Pounds to Man

TWO BERGMANS THIS YEAR

Still Doubtful If Riddell and McMahon Will Be Able to Get in Game Saturday

"Just like they had last year with two men of the Bergman type in the backfield." It was thus in a few words that Owen Frank, assistant coach, cut out a gigantic task for the varsity in the preparation for Notre Dame. Just what Notre Dame had last year is very vivid in the minds of every Cornhusker and the thought of a single Bergman not to speak of two is enough to set knees to quaking.

According to Frank the two men in the backfield of the Catholics lack some of the speed of the Flying Dutchman who single handed defeated Nebraska last year, but both men are dangerous at all kinds of football. In the line the Hoosiers will be heavier than the Cornhuskers by more than ten pounds to the man.

Riddell May Not Be In.

To meet the strong Notre Dame combination, Coach Stewart will attempt to assemble the strongest team possible. There still is a doubt as to whether McMahon and Riddell will be in the first big game or not. Riddell has been suffering from injuries since early in the season and McMahon has been busy battling an incomplete.

Scrimmages started last evening. Monday scrimmages are few and far between, and this one indicates that Coach Stewart intends to leave no stone unturned that might bring victory. A number of new formations were tried and several Notre Dame plays were looked over.

Transferred to Mechanical Engineering—Professor L. F. Seaton of the department of agricultural engineering, has been transferred to the department of mechanical engineering. Professor E. E. Gracket will have charge of farm motor and farm machinery work. Professor Louis Reynolds will have charge of all the automobile work done in that department.

STUDENTS TO ORGANIZE PATRIOTIC LEAGUE

Will Meet Tomorrow Night in Memorial Hall—Want All Departments Represented

A Patriotic league of the students of the University will be organized tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock in Memorial hall, for the purpose of uniting the student body for patriotic effort in co-operation with the Patriotic league of the faculty.

Every student, no matter the college, department or year, is urged to be present as the meeting will afford an opportunity for University men and women to help boost the loyalty of the University to the government. The organization will give the students a means by which they can render an actual service to both nation and University.

At the meeting of the University Commercial club last Friday, a resolution was passed stating that it was the desire of the club to see a students' division of the Patriotic league established, and that the club would do everything in its power to further and help the movement.

The committee of the Patriotic league of the faculty, headed by Prof. F. A. Stuff, decided that the new league must be democratic and representative of the various student groups. A meeting of the representatives of different organizations was called in order to obtain the views of the students, upon the formation of the league, including the four class presidents, Prof. H. G. Gramlich, from the College of agriculture, and one representative from each graduate college, the special students, and the University Commercial club. The report from this meeting was highly favorable to the proposed plan, and the definite arrangements for the meeting for the entire student body were made.

As the chief object of the students' league is to lend every available aid in the winning of the war, it is hoped that the Nebraska spirit will show itself and bring all students and graduates to the meeting Wednesday.

New Agricultural Editor—R. P. Crawford has been appointed agricultural editor of the College of Agriculture to succeed Floyd Wambeam, who was called to the colors a week ago. Mr. Crawford, besides being a graduate of the State University, was for three years on the editorial staff of the Nebraska State Journal and Lincoln Daily News. He has contributed numerous articles to eastern magazines, including the Scientific American, Country Gentleman, Country Life in America, Popular Mechanics, Illustrated Word, and Industrial Management. During the last few months a number of the articles descriptive of work being done at the University of Nebraska have appeared in print in these papers.

To Head Poultry Department—Prof. Frank E. Mussehl, of the department of poultry husbandry, University of Wisconsin, has accepted a position as head of the poultry department in the University of Nebraska, and will report for work immediately. Professor Mussehl graduated from the University of Wisconsin and has been connected with the University of Kansas prior to his being called to Wisconsin.

NAME COMMITTEE TO HANDLE BIG PARADE

Upperclassmen Will Meet at 4 Today to Plan "Pep" Meeting for Notre Dame

The following juniors and seniors have been named as the committees to lay plans for the rally and parade next Friday evening, with Merl Townsend as chairman:

The committee will meet this afternoon in front of The Daily Nebraskan office at 4 o'clock to complete plans for the organization and handling of the parade.

The part the girls will play in the rally is in the hands of the Black Masque, senior girls' honorary society, which will plan the costuming and marching order of the co-eds.

Most of the torches which will be used in the parade have already been secured, and more will probably be ordered tomorrow.

Social Events Cancelled

In order to make it possible for everyone to take part in the rally, Miss Amanda Heppner, dean of women, has designated Friday as a closed evening for all parties except those scheduled downtown.

Interest will not by any means center in the huge torchlight parade which will march down O street. The "pep" meeting in the Armory which will precede it is sure to be a memorable one. A number of old Cornhuskers who have helped win victories for Nebraska in the past are expected to be in Lincoln this week-end, and they will be called upon to plot the fate of the Catholics. One of these, Captain "Tim" Corey, has already been secured.

Lefler Elected President of Graduate Teachers' Club

M. C. Lefler, M. A., was elected president of the graduate teachers' Research club at its monthly meeting last Friday evening. Frank Adams, M. A., was elected vice-president, and Dr. Rose Yont, secretary-treasurer. The members of the executive committee are: Dr. C. B. Cornell and Dr. Grace E. Munson. The paper of the evening was read by Dr. G. W. A. Lucky, on "The Fundamentals of Graduate Study."

The club consists of faculty and graduate students of education, and is the only club open on equal terms to both professors and students. Papers are read at each meeting and the social features are helpful to all the members.

The next meeting will be held in three weeks.

Co-ed Phy-eds Work Outdoors.—All of the freshman and sophomore classes in physical education are at present meeting on the athletic field. The work is the same as that carried on in the regular indoor classes—drilling, games and sports. This is the first time these classes have been held outside.

CHANCELLOR APPEALS FOR LIBERTY LOAN SUPPORT

Issues Call to Employees— War's Success Depends Upon Bond Sale

Chancellor Samuel Avery, in an impressive Second Liberty Loan appeal issued last evening "to all employees of the University," urged that through rigid self-denial, they endeavor to do more than "our just share," because the successful prosecution of the war, upon the outcome of which depends "the perpetuation of American institutions and the lives of our comrades who have joined the colors," turns upon the success of the Liberty Loan.

The chancellor states that he has pledged all he could save the past year and all he can hope to save this year through frugal living.

Here is his call:

"To All Employees of the University:

"The future of our country, the perpetuation of American institutions, and the lives of our comrades who have joined the colors, depend on the outcome of the present struggle. The successful prosecution of the war depends upon the success of the Second Liberty Loan. Can we not, in spite of stationary salaries and the high price of living, through rigid self-denial, do more than our just part? The editors of The Outlook recently wrote to me in regard to the patriotic efforts of the faculty and students: 'The University of Nebraska is a shining model for the colleges of the country everywhere.' Shall we not now live up to our reputation? Personally I have pledged all that I could save in the past year and all that I can hope to save through frugal living in the present year, to the two Liberty Loans. When the third comes I shall find some way of participating in that as well. The smallest amount subscribed by the poorest paid employee in the institution may represent the final dollars that will make the loan a success."

"Yours very sincerely,
"S. AVERY."

Professor G. E. Barber To Speak Before Engineers

Prof. G. E. Barber will address the engineers of the University Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock at a meeting to be held in room 206 M. E. hall. The subject of the lecture will be "Engineering in Rome." Professor Barber is an authority on this subject and has much of interest for the student in engineering. He will illustrate his lecture with slides which are based on his studies in this field.

The lecture will be in substance, a comparative study of ancient and modern engineering. Engineers are especially invited to take advantage of this opportunity to get a comprehensive view of engineering in both its earlier and present stages.

RED CROSS REGISTRATION TO CONTINUE TODAY

Classes in Sewing Begin This After- noon Under Direction of Mrs. Samuel Waugh

Because all University women were not given a chance to register in the University Women's Red Cross club yesterday, registration is being continued today. Membership in this club means that every member go to room 202 Nebraska hall for at least one hour a week and sew under the direction of city Red Cross representatives.

Classes begin this afternoon with Mrs. Samuel Waugh in charge. They will not open until 2 o'clock today, but later will begin at nine in the morning and one in the afternoon.

Girls may register at a table in the University Y. W. C. A. rooms, of which Margaret Roebing has charge, at the table at the entrance to the Armory, of which Elinor Bennett has charge, or at the table in the library where Orell Freeman has charge.

All University women are urged to register. The Red Cross needs supplies made. The Girls' club has rented a sewing machine which they will purchase if there is a sufficient need for it. The University is fitting up the room with chairs and tables. This is undoubtedly the biggest thing the University women will have the opportunity of doing this year, and since the work is actually needed, the girls are expected to help.

Visit Librarian—Miss Jane Roberts, librarian, and Miss Nina Schaffer, reference librarian of the State university of Iowa, spent Saturday and Sunday with Librarian M. G. Wyer and wife.

Leaves for Training Camp—Clayton Van Pelt, law '20, left Saturday night to report for duty at a naval training station in Wisconsin. He had enlisted early in the year in the United States naval reserves, but had not expected to be called upon so soon. Van Pelt was a student at the University of Wisconsin last year, and so had been here but a short time.

State Farm Crowded Again—That the school of agriculture is again in session is quite evident at the farm campus as there are many small boys, big boys, middle sized boys and men running around the campus. In order to let the boys know that the sidewalk is to walk on it is necessary to put up little boards "keep on the walk," even then they forget they are not in the pasture.

BAND MAY HELP HUSKERS TROUNCE MICHIGAN TEAM

Football Men Say Band Big Asset — Would Advertise University and Red Cross

With the combination of the hardest schedule ever faced by a Nebraska team and one of the best University bands in the history of the school, football men have already begun to express their hope that some means will be found to send the cadets with the squad to Michigan next week.

It is claimed that the presence of the band on the Michigan trip would not only be a big help to the team but would be a worth-while advertisement both to the University and to the cause of the Red Cross and by creating more interest would probably in the long run bring an increase in the fund. A material part of the expense of the trip would be raised by the band men themselves.

Coach Stewart's Statement

Coach E. J. Stewart said yesterday, "that he believes the chances of the band accompanying the team to Michigan depended entirely upon the outcome of Saturday's game with Notre Dame. He said, "If we defeat Notre Dame, I believe enthusiasm will run so high that it will seem justifiable to send the band to Michigan, and that some way will be found to do it."

Captain Shaw said, "I would certainly like to see the band go with us to the Michigan game. Their presence in a big game like that is immensely encouraging, to say the least."

Leslie Ellis, captain of the band gave out the following statement concerning the prospects of the trip, "Every member of the band has no doubt cherished the hope of going to Michigan; but owing to war-time conditions, I do not see at present how it will be possible to finance such a trip. Should the money come from the proceeds, it would be looked upon by some not as a legitimate expense of the excursion, but as taken from the Red Cross funds. Lincoln people have been called upon for so many various donations and subscriptions that they wouldn't feel like supporting such an undertaking. I have taken up with different parties the matter of another benefit ball, but the sentiment seems to be unfavorable. This year we have the best band Nebraska has ever had. I would certainly like to see them help win these two out-of-town games, as well as do some good advertising for both Nebraska and the Red Cross. If the team and management feel that they need the band, we should be considered a legitimate football expense and taken on these trips. Our hopes lie in the various "powers that be."

PHARMACEUTICAL SOCIETY IS FIRST DEPARTMENTAL SOCIETY TO PURCHASE LIBERTY BOND

The Pharmaceutical society adopted resolutions to purchase a "liberty bond" at its regular meeting Friday. This society claims the distinction of being the first departmental organization in school to purchase one of the bonds. Fraternities and sororities have manifested their spirit of patriotism in this manner and it is thought that before the end of the school year the majority of all societies in the University will possess some of these government bonds which are now being issued in almost any denomination, for the support of the financial program inaugurated by the congress at the beginning of the war.

PATRIOTIC CONVOCATION 11 O'CLOCK THIS MORNING

One of Biggest Meetings In Memorial Hall

DR. FLING WILL SPEAK

Part of Campaign Among University Students to Make Success of Second Liberty Bond Sale

"The Significance of the War and Its Relation to Liberty Bonds," will be discussed by Dr. Fred Morrow Fling, professor of European history, and head of the department of European history, at Convocation at 11 o'clock this morning in Memorial hall.

A special effort is being made through this convocation to impress upon faculty members and students of the University the importance of liberty bonds in the present war. The Patriotic league of the faculty and the Commercial club are doing what they can to push the sale of the bonds on the University campus. Through the Patriotic league a personal canvass is being made in every University building.

This will be one of the biggest convocations of the school year. The cadet band will be out and probably the cadets in uniform.

Recognized As Authority

Dr. Fling is recognized as an authority on war subjects. He has kept in close touch not only with the development of the war at the actual front, but also with the University men who are in active service. Two weeks ago he gave several addresses at Fort Demming.

"Every student of the University should buy a bond," Dr. Fling stated yesterday. Many of our University men are giving their entire time and perhaps will be called upon to give their lives, in this war. University students should be willing to sacrifice a little at least to help bring these men back to school. An excellent way to help is to loan money to the allies of the United States.

SECRETARY M'ADOO LAUDS WORK OF FOUR-MINUTE MEN

Says They Are of Immense Value In Liberty Loan Campaign

From Secretary of the Treasury W. G. McAdoo the following message to the 500 Nebraska Four-Minute Men was received yesterday by Prof. M. M. Fogg, Nebraska head of the Division of Four-Minute Men of the U. S. Committee on Public Information:

"Prof. M. M. Fogg,
"University of Nebraska.
"The Four-Minute Men are a mighty and potential influence in the success of the liberty loan. They did an immensely valuable and patriotic service in the first liberty loan and I count with genuine satisfaction upon their enthusiastic support and services in placing the second liberty loan. God speed Four-Minute Men in this noble work."—W. G. McAdoo."

Prof. H. H. Wilson of the College of Law, who has been prominent in various war activities and who is the government agent on the Nebraska exemption board, was appointed chairman of the Lincoln Four-Minute-Men branch yesterday. L. A. Flansburg, '04, Law '06, was appointed secretary.

The executive committee and speakers for the six Lincoln moving-picture theatres will meet in the parlors of the Commercial club today at 12:45.

NEBRASKAN FREE TO UNIVERSITY SOLDIERS

Believing that Nebraska men actively engaged in the war are just as anxious for news from the campus as their former classmates are for word from them, the management of The Nebraskan will send the paper free of charge to every Cornhusker soldier whose address is known. You can help by sending lists of addresses to The Nebraskan, either mailing them to Station A or telephoning them to the business office, B-2597.
