PRICE FIVE CENTS

STUDENTS TO SUPPLY SAMMIES' READING TABLE

May Leave Periodicals at University Y. M. C. A.

MAGAZINES SENT TO FRONT

University Is One of Centers of Patriotic League of Country to Collect Reading Matter

An urgent request has been sent to all students, faculty members, fraternities, sororities and other organizations by the American library association to leave all papers and magazines which they would be willing to have sent to the front, at the University Y. M. C. A. rooms in the Temple. The Y. M. C. A. has been sending about twenty magazines a week, since the opening of school to the army camps. In the future all the magazines collected from University students and organizations will be sent in the same way under the direction of the Collegiate Periodical league.

Earnest W. Lundeen has been appointed chairman of the Center of the Periodical league at the University on the campus. The list of names of all students willing to join this chapter and co-operate in this work will be sent to the secretary of the league, together with the membership dues, which are fifty cents. All periodicals collected from individual students, or from the University authorities, are to be sent to Camp Funston. The League on the campus is desirous of as large a membership as possible, so that Nebraska University may compare favorably with other universities in this work.

League in Every College
The Washington Library association is anxious that centers of the College Periodical league be started in every college in the United States, to co-operate with them in supplying literature to soldiers. The league is an organization of college students founded in New York, with fourteen other colleges represented, for the purpose of supplying army camps with books, and periodicals within ten days of publication. Vassar, Mount Holyoke, and Wellesley organized immediately, and many other colleges are about to start Centers as soon as possible. Already nearly one spite of the efforts that have been tablished throughout the country, by college students, or through alumni clubs, and are sending nearly three thousand magazines weekly to army camps, through their public libraries. The government has aided this movement by promising free transportation for all literature sent from these libraries to army camps.

According to the library authorities there is great need for this assistance, as the lack of good reading material for soldiers is very keenly felt, in spite of the efforts that have been made in this direction.

"The Coming Americans" At Vespers Today

Glady's Rohrabough, national field secretary for the Methodist Episcopal women's board of foreign mission, will speak at Vespers today in the Y. W. C. A. rooms at the Temple. Her subject is to be "The Coming Americans." Miss Rohrabough is closely connected with the work among the emigrants.

Wisconsin University Has Junior Advisory System

A junior advisory system has been started at the University of Wisconsin. Every junior woman has some freshman or new upperclassman to whom she acts as friend and counselor, not only during registration week but throughout the entire year.

Princeton—Weir Stewart, '15, and A. C. Clark, '18, two Army Y. M. C. A. workers who went out from Princeton two years ago for active service in Mesopotamia have returned with many interesting tales of their activities with the British army. The advance of the British has been hindered greatly by the Arabs, who are inveterate thieves. Thousands of dollars' worth of supplies have been stolen by them; they have even been known to steal rifles from underneath the Tommies as they sleep. The greatest hardship that the men had to undergo was the terrific heat of the desert, which sometimes reached the unimaginable height of 165 degrees.

Cornell—Two hundred sand bags are being made by the girls for the use of the men in military science. The engineers have dug a 100-foot "front" trench, and communication trenches and a dugout have been started.

Ohio—An athletic stadium with a capacity of 53,000 persons, an aviation armory are being planned by the department of architecture.

Pennsylvania—New athletic committees for each of the five sports, the minor sports and an executive and finance committee have been announced as part of the new program for the control of athletics by the university council.

The sophomore class of the University of Kansas are actively campaigning for a Liberty bond memorial fund. Two women of each sorority and several non-sorority women are selling tags to all university students and the money thus obtained will serve as a nucleus for the sophomore memorial fund. The bonds will be placed in the hands of the registrar.

STUDENTS LOOK FORWARD TO SECOND UNI. PARTY

Pumpkin Pie on Refreshment List—Two Orchestras for Dancing

Two orchestras, one for each room in the Armory have been secured for the All-University party which will be held Saturday night. The program, which will be announced in tomorrow's Daily Nebraskan, will begin at 7:30 o'clock. Dancing will follow the program.

The committees are busy with arrangements. The program committee holds its final meeting this evening. The pumpkin pie, the refreshment committee announced, has become a certainty. It is rumored that a mysterious person with the ability to tell, has been secured by the entertainment committee.

Juniors at Wisconsin to Have Liberty Loan Dance

Junior prom at the University of Wisconsin will be supplanted this year by a Liberty Loan dance, the entire proceeds of which will be used by the class to purchase government bonds. The party will be held in the gymnasium, thus greatly reducing the expense. Tickets will be sold and all proceeds except those absolutely necessary to defray the small expenses will be invested in the class name in Liberty bonds.

Harriett Anderson Elected Editor of Pharmacy Annual

Harriett Anderson was elected editor-in-chief of the Pharmacy Annual at a special meeting of the Pharmaceutical society last Friday evening. Other members of the staff are J. Brown, senior associate editor; A. F. Prowitz, junior associate editor; Arden Fisher, sophomore editor; George Thompson, freshman associate editor; C. Robb Carlson, business manager; G. E. Tate, associate business manager, and Edward Limoneck, photographer.

Posters for "The Piper"
The second year classes in drawing are at present working on original posters to be used for "The Piper" which will be given November 9, at the Temple theatre.

Michigan—The production in Michigan of a Union Opera at Ann Arbor is assured this year. The alumni in Chicago and other cities have pledged support and the committee is going right ahead with plans. There is a possibility that a performance will be given at Camp Custer, Battle Creek, for the drafted men.

FACULTY WOMEN TO HAVE RED CROSS CLASS

Organize Last Evening for Series of Eight Lessons Under Miss Helena Redford

The faculty women's Red Cross met in Nebraska hall last night and completed organization. The class is directed by Miss Helena Redford of the geology department, formerly a Red Cross nurse. It will meet in Nebraska hall 20 2 Monday and Wednesday evenings from 7 until 10 o'clock. The first meeting will be held tonight. Eight lessons are scheduled.

Each member must bring a large apron, one which has sleeves if a wool dress is worn; a pair of scissors, thimble and needles, ruler, a smooth knife, either a paper knife or a table knife, a square of material about three-fourths of a yard wide for a head covering, and a notebook and pen.

There will be an oral quiz of the preceding evening's work at the beginning of each class meeting. A record of all work done both practical and theoretical will be kept.

Miss Redford told the class last evening the difference between bacteria and microbes and showed them the various dressings and bandages they would learn how to make. The list is long and varied. First are gauze dressings of many sizes and muslin bandages of all kinds. The latter do not have to be sterilized.

The class will try to finish the course before Thanksgiving. Later a similar course will be organized for University girls if enough of them desire to take it.

Daily French Story Is Feature of Ohio Paper

"Un petit article en francais" is the latest feature of the Ohio State Lantern. Owing to the increased popularity of the French language a short article in moderately difficult French will be printed from time to time for the benefit of those who are studying it.

California—Searchlights and the "ghost ball" are the means which Coach Andy Smith is using to give his charges the greatest possible amount of time on the gridiron. The white-tinted pigskin is of inestimable value after dark—which comes all too early to suit the energetic coach.

Minnesota—The engineering quadrangle is leading the other colleges in the Liberty loan campaign. "Every engineer a subscriber" is the slogan of the committee which is canvassing that department and the efforts so far seem to indicate that the close of the campaign will find the goal realized.

Cornell—Under the impetus of the Liberty bond movement, Cornell women have undertaken to institute a number of saving devices in order that more funds may be diverted into the government's treasury. Among other things, eighteen century fashion in dress is being adopted. The change is from silk to cotton, and since it is said to be the line rather than the material of the frock that determines its smartness, the Cornell women see no reason why cotton should not become the proper thing for war times. Many women have pledged themselves to wear "Liberty Bond dresses" to their next evening functions.

Columbia—News has just been received of the wounding of R. W. Westwood, '19, who is the S. S. U. 64 seeing active service back of the lines in France. The night previous to his injury he drove his ambulance through a German barrage and came through unhurt, although nineteen holes were found in his car.

REVEREND S. MILLS HAYES AT CONVOCATION TODAY

Will Speak on "The Holy Roman Empire in the Twentieth Century"

"The Holy Roman Empire in the Twentieth Century," is the subject of a discussion by Rev. S. Mills Hayes, pastor of the Lincoln Episcopal church, at Convocation in Memorial hall at 11 o'clock this morning.

Reverend Hayes has for many years been a profound student of early Greek and Roman life and institutions and has written a number of articles on the Greek drama. The degree of doctor of literature was conferred upon him by the University last June.

About 75 students of the news writing classes will report the address. The members of Professor Fogg's classes will use the occasion as a laboratory hour in the analysis, condensation and reporting of addresses. The students are instructed to write a 500-word report and submit it promptly.

Engineers Hold First Smoker of the Year

The engineers enjoyed their first smoker of the year at the Alpha Sigma Phi house last Friday evening. More than one hundred were present, including many faculty members and money enough was collected.

During the evening a hat was passed and money enough was collected to raise a Liberty Bond. Another bond will be purchased by the organization later. The engineers are much interested in the war work, due to the representation which they claim in the various officer and conscript camps. The law college is perhaps the only college in school which has a greater proportionate representation.

Potato Takes Deadly Blow at H. C. L.

A record potato crop grown in this state is now on exhibition at the historical society museum. Two eyes of seed planted under the ordinary conditions in one hill produced twelve hundred and sixteen distinct potatoes. This is a very exceptional crop for this or any other state and is the subject of much discussion among agricultural experts.

There are many other interesting exhibits in the museum which may be seen at any time from 8 o'clock to 5 o'clock on all days except Sundays.

HUSKERS FIGHT HARD UNDER ADVERSE CONDITIONS

No Alibis Made by Coach or Team

BREAKS FOR MICHIGAN

Nebraska Eleven Begins Preparation for Kansas, Missouri and Syracuse — Promise to Make Up for Defeat

By Dwight P. Thomas
"Don't you think and don't you let anyone think that the boys didn't fight Saturday. There has never been a Nebraska team fight harder than this team did after the score was seven to nothing. But it was a fight against conditions that could not be overcome." These were the first words Coach Stewart had to say about the game with Michigan last Saturday. No alibis were forth coming from the coach or any of the men. They all made the statement, however, and the fact was admitted by Coach Yost, of the Michigan eleven, that on a dry field the result would have been entirely different.

The Wolverines had been practicing on a wet field for the past three weeks and had played two games, prior to the one last week, under practically the same conditions that prevailed then. The Cornhuskers have not had a slippery ball in their hands this year to say nothing of unsteady footing. Michigan was fully prepared for a wet field by having extra long cleats on their shoes, while most of the Nebraska team had ordinary shoes.

Some of the Details
What might have happened on a dry field can be better guessed than a few of the details of the game are looked into. McMahon, the Husker speeder, was twice in the clear with only the Michigan quarterback between him and the goal. It was proved several times during the game that McMahon was much faster than Weston, but on these occasions because "Mac" couldn't make even the simplest kind of a "cut-in" to avoid the tackler he had to run into the waiting Wolverine's arms. A similar thing occurred when Dobson broke through the middle of the Michigan line early in the battle and sped straight down a clear field for 25 yards, only to be met by the Wolverine quarterback, and trying to side step him went down in the mud.

This same softness of the field was a big help to Cruse, a Wolverine half back, who went into the lineup in the second half. When called upon to carry the ball he would dive over the line as hard as possible and light on the part of his anatomy that happened to be handiest, which was usually his head. On a dry field one dive would have been the signal for another man to take his place. Weiman, the giant fullback, with the long cleats in his shoes, was able to push the Cornhuskers back time after time after they had made a tackle that would have usually knocked him from his feet. The Wolverine gains through the line can be directly attributed to the fact that the Nebraska secondary defense was unable to get to the play and have enough force left to stop it.

If ever one team received all the breaks of a game it was the Michigan eleven in Saturday's game. Practically every fumble went into their hands and the two goals kicked

NEBRASKAN FREE TO UNIVERSITY SOLDIERS

Believing that Nebraska men actively engaged in the war are just as anxious for news from the campus as their former classmates are for word from them, the management of The Nebraskan will send the paper free of charge to every Cornhusker soldier whose address is known. You can help by sending lists of addresses to The Nebraskan, either mailing them to Station A or telephoning them to the business office, B-2597.
