Chi Omega will be at home to all University girls and faculty women Saturday, December 15, from 3 until 5:30 o'clock, in honor of Miss Amanda Heppner, dean of women.
Miss Clarence Breese and Lieutenant Walter F. Goodman, on leave from the First United States cavalry, were married at the bride's home Saturday afternoon. The wedding was to have taken place the later part of this month but was set ahead because of an unexpected call of Lieut. Goodman to the Mexican border.
Only the immediate family and a few friends were present at the service, which was read by Rev. Gratz of St. Paul's M. E. church.

Both Lieutenant and Mrs. Goodman attended the University and were prominent in many University activities. Mrs. Goodman is a member of the Alpha Chi Omega sorority and Lieut. Goodman, a member of Sigma Chi. They left the same evening for Cheyenne, Wyo., where Lieut. Goodman will join his regiment to go south.

VESPERS

Ruth Snyder
About fifty girls attended Vespers Tuesday afternoon in the Y. W. C. A. rooms in the Temple. Elma Dykes, '21, and Estelle Lull, '21, sang a duet. Ruth Hutton, '20, presided.
Ruth Welch, '18, explained the significance of the Christmas tree. The custom was originally brought from Germany. In Greek mythology the Yule log was burned as a tribute to Thor, the god of war. It is an echo of tree worship of centuries before.
Wilcox, '18, spoke of the purpose of giving Christmas gifts. We give to those for whom we care most. It is the spirit and love which lies behind the gift, and not the cost which counts. In this time of conservation, it is not the money we spend but the little personal element, which make the gifts valuable to our friends.
Helen Kendall, '20, told about the greens used at Christmas time. They were originated by people bringing them from the woods to signify their joy. Thus they have come to mean joy, service and happiness.

FIFTEEN NEW STUDENTS

Thirty-five Are Enrolled in Night Classes—Course in Wireless Telegraphy Started

Six students of the University Telegraph school have just lately enlisted in the service, and all have received good positions in either the army or the navy.

Jesse L. Ertel, who has been in the school since September 10, and now a qualified telegrapher, has enlisted in the navy.

LeRoy F. Murcek, another University telegrapher, joined the signal corps of the navy, Saturday.

Harry Kendall of the aviation department of the signal corps, has been called for extensive training at Fort Omaha.

C. S. Cole has finished the course in telegraphy, and has enlisted in the signal corps as a first-class sergeant.

Roy C. Armstrong has joined the balloon school at Omaha as a telegrapher.

E. H. Snodgrass has enlisted and will serve as first-class sergeant.

School for Drafted Men

The Telegraph school for the University is principally for drafted men. All the men in the school will be able to qualify as proficient telegraphers when they are drafted if they will enter now. The course usually takes from 200 to 300 hours to enable a man to pass the examination given by the army or navy signal corps. The men are given a most thorough training in sending and receiving messages, and are instructed in the scientific principles of the telegraph and wireless instrument. Mr. Arnold A. Kluge, I. R. E., has been hired by the telegraph department to give a seven-weeks course of instruction on the wireless telegraph apparatus. The new shipment of instruments which will soon be here will also add greatly to the efficiency of the school.

There are over thirty-five students in the night classes, which meet every night of the week. The same training is given in these evening classes that is given in the day time, and a man may become proficient in telegraphy by attending this class for about three months, giving two hours every evening.

The Telegraph school is located on fourth floor of Mechanical Arts hall. Mr. Herbert, the director of the school, has his office on the same floor and will be glad to inform anyone interested in the course, all about the requirements for entrance. The Telegraph school is newly fitted with all the latest appliances of telegraphy, new furnishings, and the best of facilities for work.

Mr. Herbert states that fifteen new students have enrolled this week, and that as soon as the new shipment of instruments arrives the department will be able to accommodate 200 more students. A large number of proficient telegraphers from the school have already received non-commissioned offices in the signal corps of the United States army and navy, and more are graduating from the school every week.

THE UKULELE

THE languorous charm of the Hawaiian native instruments—so moving in appeal, so observably in vogue—is strikingly characteristic of the Ukulele. Its tone possesses that curiously beautiful timbre, that exotic charm of tonal quality which has made these instruments so sensation-ally popular.

The Ukulele has a pleasing grace of form. The finer models are made of genuine Hawaiian Koa wood. It is much in request today among the smarter college and other musical organizations.

It is easy to learn. Its price includes an Instruction Book.

Hawaiian Steel Guitar

Every chord struck upon this typically representative Hawaiian instrument is marked by a weird, plaintive harmony and strangely beautiful qualities of tone. It brings, to any music, qualities full of vivid color and varied charm.

Price $8.00 and upwards, including Steel and Set of Three Fingertips for playing, and Instruction Book.

Catalogs on application.
