CHRISTMAS PARTY DELIGHTS STUDENTS

All-University Celebration of Holiday Season Saturday

SING YULETIDE CAROLS

Program of Music By String Quartet
Is Feature of Program in Armory

While the great pine tree in front of U hall gleamed with multi-colored lights, over three hundred people enjoyed the Christmas party in the Armory Saturday evening. Because of the cold the carols were sung inside instead of on the campus.

The first part of the evening was given over to a program concluded by the singing of "America" by the audience. The string quartet composed of Edw. J. Walt, Jesse Wilkins, Wm. T. Quick and Lillian Eiche, furnished the music.

The music program consisted of the following:

Quartet, Op. 12..... Mendelssohn
Andante espressivo Canzonetta.....
.....String Quartet
"There's a Song in the Air".....
.....Oley Speaks
Genevieve Rose
Minuet..... Boccherini
Liebesleid..... Nessler
Moment Musical..... Schubert
Serenade..... Victor Herbert
String Quartet
"The Watch of the Shepherds"—Selected from Ben Hur.....
Myrtis Downing
Quartet, Op. 192 (from "The Beautiful Maid of the Mill")..... Raff
Andante—The Proposal.
Allegro—The Mill.
String Quartet
Tree Illumination.
Christmas Carols, led by the University Chorus. Harold Lewis, Pianist "America"

The room was decorated in true Christmas style with evergreens and bells. Two Christmas trees on either side of the organ glowed with colored lights, while the carols were sung. After the program, refreshments were served consisting of apples and surprise boxes containing nuts, raisins, candy and animal crackers.

While the guests were still examining their packages, dancing began in the big room and soon many were gliding over the floor to the tune of "I Don't Want to Get Well."

SPECIAL CONVOCATION FOR JUDGING TEAM

First Time that Nebraska Has Won High Honors at National Show

Convocation was held at the farm Friday morning, in honor of the stock judging team that won first place at the International Live Stock show at Chicago the previous week. The meeting was in charge of Prof. H. J. Gramlich, head of the department of animal husbandry, who gave a brief account of the meet and of the splendid work that the team did.

Professor Gramlich said that the principal cause of the success was the team work the men displayed. Team work is just as important in a stock judging team as in a football team, and the Nebraska men had been carefully coached along this line.

This is the first time in the history of the show that highest honors have been won by Nebraska. And this time the Cornhusker team appeared as a dark horse, upsetting all the dope, and winning by a larger margin than any previous victor. The team brought home with them the huge cup, which will be kept here until the next show. To obtain permanent possession of the cup, a school must win it three times. So far, no school has won it more than once. The Nebraska team also had the honor of having one of its members, W. F. Roberts, get the highest score of all contestants.

The coaching staff this year was forced to work under peculiar disadvantages. The draft had taken most of the experienced men of last year, and it was necessary to begin work with material that was almost entirely unacquainted with the work. The departmental or family method of coaching was used. The members of the coaching staff, and the branch of work directed by each, are Prof. J. H.

Gramlich, horses and cattle; Prof. H. B. Pier, sheep, and Prof. E. L. Jenkins, hogs.

The members of the stock judging team are W. F. Roberts, Earl Hogue, A. E. Anderson, Glenn Snapp, Chester H. Grau, and Carl Dale, alternate.

Medals to Student Soldiers

A committee has been appointed at the University of Minnesota to look into the cost of sending every former member now in war service a bronze medal of appreciation. While it is expected that the alumni will raise the greater share of the funds it is hoped that fraternities and other organizations who have members in the service will see to it that their own members are provided with medals.

Remember "Poilus" Too

The "Sammies" are not the only ones who are going to receive Christmas presents this year. The Y. M. C. A. of the University of Ohio has sent thirteen boxes of clothing, food, tobacco and candy to the "poilus."

Support French Orphans

The faculty members at the State University of Iowa are supporting two French orphans with the proceeds of the play which they put on last spring. The $315 taken in will be enough to keep both children four years.

Automotive Engineers Will Meet Here Soon

The Minneapolis section of the society of automotive engineers will hold a meeting here shortly to discuss standard forms for testing tractor engines. The agricultural engineering department of the University of Nebraska has been doing considerable of this sort of work, being one of the pioneers in making tractor tests. Professor L. W. Chase has just returned from a meeting of the committee on standardization of the American Society of Automotive Engineers held at Minneapolis. While there he visited the engineering departments of the University of Minnesota, looking over the equipment with a view of furnishing the new agricultural engineering building at Lincoln.

CHANCELLOR ASKS FOR RED CROSS MEMBERSHIPS

In Signed Letter Urges All
Employees to Support
Campaign

Chancellor Avery in a signed circular letter to faculty members and University employees, announces the plans for a Red Cross campaign similar to the recent Red Triangle drive, to be begun on the campus soon. He hopes that a like support and contribution of the students will make possible the same if not a greater success than was attained in the latter instance.

The Red Cross makes this campaign with a view to gaining funds to take care of the overhead expenses so that the larger and more irregular contributions may be employed solely for the care of the wounded and the needy. This is a membership campaign primarily and its object is to gain the individual pledge of every student, faculty member and others connected with the University.

The chancellor's letter follows:

To the Faculty, Administrative Officers and other Employees of the University:

The splendid success of the Red Triangle drive encourages the hope that the coming Red Cross membership campaign may be equally successful. This campaign will be for $100 memberships for the year 1918, and is independent of previous contributions or donations to the Red Cross fund. It is the intention of the national organization that the membership fees shall cover the entire overhead expenses of the American Red Cross in its world wide activities so that donations to the Red Cross will not have to bear any portion of the burden of management. Having contributed your membership fee your later donations will be spent exclusively for relief of suffering soldiers or for the aid of the civilian population in the stricken countries.

It is especially desired that the membership include everyone on the yearly or monthly pay roll of the institution. In case, however, the canvass falls short of this amount, it is planned through a later, special subscription among those who have already given generously, to raise as many dollars as there are missing names from the list. Professor Scott has consented to act as chairman of the committee in charge of the canvass at the city campus, while Professor Filley will act in the same capacity at the farm campus. Here is an opportunity for the University again to show its practical patriotism. Will not everyone embrace with enthusiasm the opportunity to place his name on this honor roll?

Very respectfully submitted,

S. AVERY,
Chancellor.

Women Take Telegraphy

Over fifty per cent of the students enrolled in the wireless telegraphy course at the University of Wisconsin, are women. They are taking the course primarily to fit themselves for commercial operators. The majority of the men in the class will soon be called into government service and will probably be placed in the signal corps.

Josepha Seely Chosen Head of Union Society

Josepha Seely was elected president and Burch Reynolds was made vice-president of the Union Literary society at a meeting of the society held in Union hall Friday evening. Miss Helen Janike was chosen for secretary and E. M. Bronse for treasurer.

A program was given, the chief feature of which was a mock trial involving a breach of promise suit which furnished much amusement for those present. Prudence Macomber read "The Man Without a Country" and several musical selections were given.

The program was followed with the regular social hour, after which the business of the society was conducted.

FOOTBALL CLEARS

$7000 FOR RED CROSS

1917 Cornhuskers Hand Over
Big Sum to War Work

LOSS AT OTHER SCHOOLS

Nebraska Only Member of Valley
Conference Without Deficit at End of Season

As a result of the extraordinary economy practiced and the careful management of athletic funds during the football season of 1917, the department was able to turn over to the Red Cross funds a Christmas present of $7,000, possibly one of the largest contributions from football receipts from any school in the United States for this purpose. This is in sharp contrast to the report of last year, when a deficit of $4,500 was shown.

Chancellor Avery, in presenting the funds to the chairman of the local committee, Hon. W. E. Hardy, mentioned the fine spirit in which the management and the football players cooperated in making this gift possible. There was no unnecessary expenditure for clothing and in some instances the gridiron heroes were content to wear shoes that blistered their feet. The economy in this and other respects can only be appreciated when we are reminded that the total gain this year exceeded last year's figures by nearly $13,000.

The results were obtained in the face of unusual difficulties occasioned by the war. Among these was the problem of gaining the public interest. In this regard the Lincoln Commercial club and the Rotary club were very helpful, having lent all their influence toward enlarging attendance at the games on the Nebraska field.

Although the tickets sold were less than the number last year, the general spirit both about the campus and outside of the University was very encouraging and hopes are expressed that the remainder of the year's sports will prove equally as successful.

The letter of presentment written by the chancellor to Hon. W. E. Hardy follows:

December 15, 1917.

Hon. W. E. Hardy,
Chairman Lincoln Red Cross, Committee, City.
My Dear Mr. Hardy:
Having gone over the matter care-

FORM COMMITTEE OF TWO HUNDRED

Permanent Student Committee for Promotion of War
Work

The committee of two hundred, a permanent organization of Nebraska students to take charge of all branches of war work, has been formed, and will first be active in the Red Cross drive which begins tomorrow morning.

The committee includes two divisions, one of men and one of co-eds. The co-eds will have charge of the Red Cross campaign, while the men will have other work to do later in the year. The organization will continue to be active until college closes in June.

Besides the one hundred men and one hundred co-eds, the committee has twenty squad leaders, ten for each division. These squad leaders were elected at a meeting of the committee Friday evening. They are: co-ed division—Helen Giltner, Frances Whitmore, Kathryn Kohl, Hannah McCorkindale, Daisy Parks, Genevieve Addleman, Helen Minor, Marion Hompes, Lenore Hendricks, Elizabeth Doyle, Marion Hall; men—Harold McMahon, Walter Johnson, Kenneth Saunders, Harold Gerhart, Ivan Beede, Wayne Townsend, John Cook, Lawrence Shaw, Herschel Bowers, Walter Mackey.

CONVOCATION

Dr. Newens, newly-elected director of the University school of music, will give a number of readings at regular convocation at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning in Memorial hall.

Dr. Newens is a speaker and reader of national fame. He has appeared often on the Chautauqua platform. His interpretation of "A Message from Mars" brought him wide recognition.

University of Nebraska's Roll of Honor

CHAPTER THREE.

Chapter three contains the E, F and G names on the honor roll. Chapters one and two, published Thursday and Friday, contain all preceding names. Send all names and corrections in today's list to Miss Annis Chaiken, alumni secretary. They will be published in the final chapter. Put the names you know in today's collection on your writing list. Clip and save each chapter as it is published.
