CORRECTION OF ERROR

December 18, 1917.

To The Nebraskan:
The report on smallpox contains an error in the following sentence:
"Chancellor Avery has issued an order requiring all University employees to be vaccinated before Wednesday or they will be given leave of absence from their work without pay."
The copy given to Dr. Lyman reads, "janitors" instead of "employees." Janitors come so closely in contact with seats, furniture, and so on that it seemed to be necessary to make a special ruling in regard to this class of employees. There has been no order issued in regard to employees in general.

Yours very sincerely,
S. AVERY.

FIRST ISSUE OF BLUE
PRINT SOON READY

semester's happenings in the college. The first issue will contain an introductory note to the freshmen by Dean O. V. P. Stout. There will be a section for each department in the college which will contain the usual departmental notes and an account of the various activities. Besides these articles there will be the alumni directory and an honor roll of all engineers in the service.
Every first-year engineer is urged to become a subscriber of the magazine and take an active interest in its success as with the large number of upperclassmen leaving daily, it is only in this way that it can be continued.
