GIRLS' COMMISSION PLANS "KID" PARTY FOR FRESHMEN

Gathering Planned After Vacation for All First Year Co-Eds

Freshman girls will not suffer any after vacation glooms after then coming recess, according to plans for a "kid's party" recently announced by the freshman girls commission, whereby all first year women will be given an opportunity to meet their classmates as well as many of the older women in the University. The party will be held in Music hall Saturday afternoon, January 5, and freshman girls are expected to come dressed in "kid" style.

This party will be an unusual chance for the first year girls to widen their acquaintances since the commission has arranged to divide the girls in groups and place the various members of the commission in charge of the respective groups. Parties of this nature are among the most popular of the campus social events and the committee expects to have a full attendance of the freshman women.

Historical Society has Unique Pipe Collection

One of the best and most complete pipe collections in the west has just been mounted by Curator Blackman in the Historical society rooms. There are three distinct collections besides many others, among which are an opium pipe which was used in Lincoln and another very different in shape from the Philippine Islands.

Most of the pipes are Indian pipes, many taken from graves. They are Siouan-Catlinite or red pipestone from Minnesota. Some are carved in the shape of buffalo or horse heads, the workmanship being very fine. Some are very large, others are so small it seems impossible that they could hold enough tobacco for a smoke. They were made by drilling both ways through a piece of stone until the drills met, then the outside of the stone was cut in any desirable fashion. It will probably never be known how the Indian managed to bore through these stones. In some cases the stem is also made of pipestone bored through the entire length. Others of them have stems of young ashwood twisted in various shapes. Two of the finest pipes are too large to mount but are well worth seeing. Both are of red pipestone, one beautifully carved and polished, the other is inlaid with molten lead. Both have long flat stems, decorated with beads and feathers.

Among the older pipes are some made of clay and briar and one is a steel tomahoc. There are also pipes from Japan and the Philippines as well as from our own plains. Most of the pipes belong to the collections of Morrill, Henderson, and Bristol or Omaha Charlie.

College "Frats" Active in France During the War

College fraternities will break precedents which have limited ties to American shores by backing up there members who are in the trenches of France. With every one of the huge Greek letter organizations of the universities confronted with heavy losses in active membership because of enlistment the sentiment of graduates is that under war conditions France is the place of the most active chapter. As a result the American Overseas Fraternity association is being formed.

Initial steps for the bringing together of all of the leading fraternities on this basis were taken at the seventy-first annual convention of the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity in this city. D. K. E. has already taken steps to open a branch house in Paris. Among the fraternities which have been asked to nominate members for the executive committee are Alpha Delta Phi, Phi Gamma Delta, Delta Phi, Phi Delta Theta and Sigma Phi. —New York Evening Sun.

Juniors Cut Out Formal Aspect of Their Prom

The junior class and prom committee decided at a meeting yesterday to change the character of the junior party from a formal to an informal. This action was taken following the resolution made by the Innocents society urging that the class change the customary formal prom, which they were intending to carry out this year to a less pretentious affair.

The juniors intend to comply with the spirit that has been expressed by the Pan-Hellenic council, which is to discourage all forms of extravagant social expenditure, and at the same time have a party that will carry with it the old time atmosphere.

Students Send Awgwan to Soldiers for Christmas

The Awgwan management asks that all subscribers who have not yet received their copies of the Christmas Awgwan call for them before leaving for home at Station A. There are many who have not called for this last issue.

A large number of students have been purchasing extra copies of Awgwan for their Christmas boxes which they are sending to Cornhusker soldiers at the front or in the training camps. Other students who wish to follow this plan may secure copies at the student activities' office. The price for single copies is 15 cents.

Departure of Mr. Cole to Cause Shift in Classes

Mr. Dana F. Cole, who has been an instructor in the school of commerce for the past two years in accounting and commercial organization, has been accepted in the third officers training camp, and will leave the University on a leave of absence for the duration of the war, January 1, 1918.

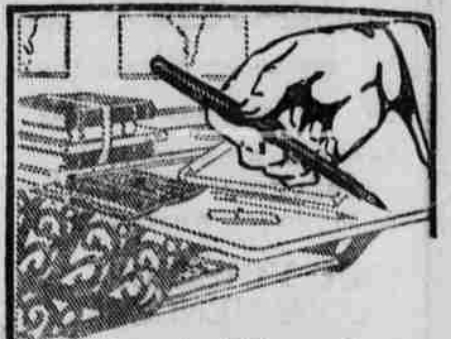

The departure of Mr. Cole at this time will be a great loss to the University. The accounting classes under Mr. Cole are to be taken over by Prof. O. R. Martin, who at the present is teaching classes in cost, and advanced accounting. The three sections in accounting to be crowded into two sections. The 8 o'clock section on Tuesday morning is to be shifted to 1 o'clock and 8 o'clock on Monday and Wednesday. Arrangements have not yet been made for taking care of Mr. Cole's classes in marketing, but provision will be made for students to complete their semester's work in the subject.

Physical Education Women Give Dinner

Forty-five of the physical education department were present at the two-course Christmas dinner served by the department Thursday noon in the lecture room of the Armory. Dr. and Mrs. Clapp and daughters, Margaret and Katherine, were the guests of honor. Fae Breeze and Madeline Girard were in charge of the serving. The tables were decorated in the season's colors and a most delicious dinner was served.
