Installs New Exhibit Cases in Bessey Hall

Prof. R. H. Wolcott of the Department of Zoology, has installed in the corridors of Bessey hall the first of a series of exhibit cases, which are to contain various specimens of plant and animal life, illustrating the laws of Mendel and the principles of heredity. The collection of rats now on display, was received by Dr. D. D. Whitney from Professor Castle of Harvard and is a rare collection of specimens illustrating Mendelism. It is the desire of the department to install these cases for the benefit of students and visitors and the exhibits will be changed frequently to insure interest in the display.

The home of the club is at Columbia university and the American Museum of National History.

To Lecture on Red Cross Civilian Relief Work

Beginning Wednesday, March 13, Dr. Hattie Plum Williams will deliver a series of lectures on "Civilian Relief Work of the Red Cross." While these are to be given primarily for the benefit of the sociology class, anyone interested in the Red Cross is cordially invited to attend. It is especially desired that seniors who expect to reside in the larger towns will be present, as important problems regarding city Red Cross work will be discussed. The lectures will be given at 3 o'clock in Law 107 during the regular one-hour period on Wednesday, Friday and Monday, and all those whose work will permit them to attend should avail themselves of this opportunity to hear these lectures on a subject of such vital interest.
