MAT ARTISTS CONTEST HONORS

University Grapplers Engage in Interesting Bouts

DALE AND MUNN DRAW

Heavy Weights Unable to Gain Decision in Saturday's Tournament and Title Goes to Lyman

Wrestling was the word and held the center of the stage in University athletic circles last week-end, and with the advent of the annual all-University wrestling tournament last Saturday afternoon in the Armory. The matches on the whole were fast and classy, and the mat artists showed the effects of their tutelage of Coach Otoupalik by exhibiting a real brand of mat work. Some of the best work of the afternoon was that of H. P. Troendley who made easy work of all the men in the 125-pound class and not satisfied with that staged an exhibition match with Kindig, the winner in the 145-pound class.

Dale and Munn Draw

The heavy weight class which was expected to furnish a good deal of excitement, was rather a failure in this respect, and proved to be somewhat of a disappointment to the spectators. Dale and Wayne Munn went to it for the regulation five minutes without a decision and did the same for an additional two minutes. As neither seemed anxious to continue the affair any longer, the decision was given to Lyman who was the other contestant in that class.

Each of the winners will be given silver medals in addition to the regulation wrestling jerseys. Doctor Clapp and O. B. Anderson of the Y. M. C. A. were the referees, Keefe and Svoboda the timekeepers, and L. Shaw acted as clerk.

A summary of the events follows:

CADETS IN FULL DRESS FOR TODAY'S INSPECTION

University Soldiers Undergoing Government Examination Before Colonel J. V. Heidt

With shoes shining, faces clean, suits pressed and guns gleaming, the University regiment is undergoing government inspection this morning on the drill ground before Lieutenant Colonel James V. Heidt, of the 41st Infantry at Fort Crook, Nebraska. Men with examinations and difficult classes are kicking their heels up in joy for they are excused from all classes this morning.

The entire regiment drilled as a unit last night in preparation for the show today and captains were very busy instructing their companies in the points which will count for or against them. "Don't get fussed," was the advice handed out, "for the inspector is liable to ask you any old thing, from your age to what the men are doing in the trenches and what profession you intend after the war."

The cadets fell in at nine o'clock and the inspection is not expected to be completed until at least noon. The band is playing and a big crowd witnessing the grand parade. The inspection will have a smack of real business this year owing to the fact that real uniforms are worn and the men are being trained for officers' positions.

Gridiron Aspirants Open Early Practices—Small Attendance

START GRIND NEXT WEEK

Return of Coach Stewart Expected to Bring Schedule of Hard Work for Football Men

Due to the fact that the Government inspection of the Cadet regiment takes place this morning which necessitated a report of all the men last night for a practice inspection, the first spring football practice did not bring out the number of candidates that was expected. Those in charge are not in the least worried however about the prospects for a lively spring workout and the development of a great deal of good football material for next fall's big drive. In all about fifteen men reported last night for the work, and put in the time at spring-time practice, and in doing time around the track. Very little else could be done owing to the absence of Coach Stewart who has gone to Manhattan with the freshmen basketball team, as well as to the fact that the Cadet regiment was using the field from five o'clock on for a practice inspection. The athletes took a good workout and the prospects are that there will be a large number of candidates for the varsity crew out before the end of the week. It is planned that later on, after the men are more hardened, that regulation football equipment will be issued, and the warriors attired in the full war regalia, will be put through the strides of blocking and dummy-tackling and very possibly some light scrimmage work. Dr. Stewart will be back by Wednesday night and it is to be hoped that there will be a good number out to welcome him.

Former Nebraskans Make Record

An idea of what Nebraska men are accomplishing and have accomplished outside of their native state is given by a letter recently received from M. E. Cornelius, '07, '09, in which he says:

"In last night's New York Evening Sun I noticed two hear-line articles, both printed on the same page and prominently displayed regarding two old university men—one Colonel Hayward, colonel of the 15th New York Regiment, the other Corporal Howard Greer of the machine gun company, 307th Infantry. It is indeed an unusual thing to have two such prominently displayed articles running on the same day about parties from the same institution, and I thought perhaps the enclosed clippings might be of interest and be the occasion of a few words of cheer to some of the boys who have remained behind, as to what others are doing."

The article concerning Greer contains a description of the way in which he struggled from the student ranks of Nebraska to become a designer for Lady Duff Gordon and then to have his dreams "punctured" by the summons to draft last June shortly after he had reached the age of 21.

The article reads in part: "About two years ago at this time Howard Greer was a junior in Nebraska University. His father owned a big farm near Lincoln and young Greer contemplated a secure but unexciting future on the old family place. A year ago Howard Greer had taken a big jump. He was establishing a place for himself as a designer of gowns for Lady Duff Gordon, who is the belle of upper crust dressmakerdom. Now after another swift change of careers young Greer is Corporal Greer of the Machine Gun Company, 307th Infantry, and wears his blue overalls with as much style as any other machine gunner in the whole cantonment, which is no style at all. ## WHISKBROOM IN DUSTING CAMPAIGN

Ready Now at Student Activities' Office

IS FIRST GIRLS' BOOK

New Publication of Theta Sigma Phi Deserving of Much Credit in Spite of Knocks Contained

The Whiskbroom, the first Girls' Book of the University, is out this morning and will be ready for subscribers at the Student Activities' office from 9 until 5 o'clock today. About seventy-five copies will be on sale at tables in the library and University hall.

The book consists of fifty-six pages—the first section being a literary section, and the second, labeled "Straws," the location of the "knocks." The complete publication is dedicated to "Our University Soldiers."

The work is a credit to Theta Sigma Phi the publishers in that its members have handled practically all of the work themselves both editorial and business. The first section contains several poems strikingly fitting to the University, deep in meaning and message and characteristic of the best thought of University women.

"Straws" Attract Attention
The second section of "Straws," however, is the real pride of the co-ed journalists and also the first section to which the student turns when he gets his hands on the long-awaited book. The section is good. The present year has been one of the hardest years with which Dame Gossip has had to contend for some time and yet with this disadvantage nearly thirty-four pages have been filled with apt criticism of campus affairs and habits.

Little items such as "Glossary of Campus Tennis," "Ballad of ye eight o'clock," "What's what on the campus," "War's hell," "Alphabet of student celebrities," "Isn't it strange that—?" and a report of the Nebraska Accident Insurance Company are packed in the section and fortunate is he whose secret is not exposed and held before the curious public.

Eva Miller, '18 of Fremont, former editor of The Daily Nebraskan, is editor of The Whiskbroom; Jean Burroughs, '18, of Lincoln, Club Editor of the Daily Star, is Associate Editor and Eleanor Fogg, '19, of Lincoln, Associate Editor of Awgwan, is Business Manager. The members of Theta Sigma Phi are Helen Dill, Eleanor Fogg, Jean Burroughs, Dorothy Colburn, Carolyn Reed, Ruth Snyder, Harriet Ashbrook, Elizabeth Brown, Eva Miller, Fern Noble, Vivienne Holland, Katharine Newbranch and Wilma Winter. Prof. Louise Pound is an honorary alumna member.

STAGE SEASON'S FINAL BASKETBALL CONTEST

Freshmen Meet "Aggies" First Year Squad Tonight

OUTDO LINCOLN FIVE

High School Champs Given Little Show in Practice Round at Armory Saturday Evening

The closing number of Nebraska's basketball program is being run of this week with the freshmen crew mixing it with the first year men of the Kansas Aggies at Manhattan last night and tonight. The Aggies trimmed up the Nebraska yearlings a couple of weeks ago and the latter are out for sweet revenge with the prospects that they will stand a good chance of reaping it. By way of a little practice the freshmen took on the champion Lincoln high school five for a lively battle last Saturday evening in the armory. There was little to the fight however after the start for the varsity bunch easily walked away with the Lincolmites. Lamb was about the only man on their crew who could do anything and it was through his efforts alone that the high school boys were able to score. For the freshmen Bekins, Patty and Newman were the stars. A summary of the game follows:

Freshmen—22 Lincoln High—8
Patty ..... Chesney
Newman ..... Holland
Bekins ..... Munn
Howarth ..... Girard
Wray ..... Lamb
Field goals—Bekins 5; Patty 1;
Newman 2, Howarth 1, Bailey 1,
Lamb 3.
Free throws—Patty 2, Lamb 2.
Referee—Healy Y. M. C. A.
