HALF AND HALF

Evolution
 Out of chaos, dust and flame,
 Out of dust and planet came.
 On the planet, sea and land,
 Joined together hand in hand.
 In the sea a tiny cell
 Changes to a crimped shell.
 Fish and reptile, bird and beast,
 Nature's progress never ceased.
 Till through countless ages span,
 Out of monkey came a man,
 Jimber-jawed and pigeon-toes,
 Bushy brows above his nose,
 Prone to petulance and strife,
 Shambling sullenly through life.
 When the first of us lay dead,
 Nature gazed on him and said,
 "What was all the fuss about?
 Look at how the thing turned out."
 —The Laurentian.

Listen, my children, and you shall hear
 Of the tragic fate of an Engineer.
 He came to college filled with hope;
 He studied hard, but the damned old dope—

—Well, he came to the end of his mental rope.
 They might as well have shoved him
 Greek.

From Monday till the end of the week,
 For the more he worked the less he knew;

And the less he knew, the worse he grew.

His funeral was a failure, too!
 Ashes to ashes and dust to dust,
 If Math. don't get you, Physics must.

Saver Time for Norah
 Mrs. Jones rushed into her husband's office, wild with excitement.
 "Oh, John!" she cried. "Norah made a mistake and tried to start the fire with gasoline!"
 "Gasoline, eh?" said John calmly.
 "Did she get it started?"
 "Get it started!" cried Mrs. Jones.
 "Why it blew her out of the window!"
 "Oh, well," remarked the philosophic John. "It was her afternoon out anyhow."—Rocky Mountain Collegian.
