especial interest. The annual will be entirely different this year from any other Cornhusker that has ever been published. The chief differences will be in the style of cover, the kind of paper, and the class of matter contained.

After all the subscriptions have been filled there will no doubt be a few extra copies left over. The total number of copies to be issued is 1,500. Anyone leaving school before examination week should make a deposit at the student activities office of the remaining 50 cents due on the subscription.

TO ESTABLISH CANTEN HOUSE AT BURLINGTON

Uni. Women Provide Quarters to Care for Sammies Going Through Lincoln

A canteen house, probably at the Burlington depot, is being planned by Miss Agnes Barrett who has been heading the canteen work done by the University girls during the past winter.

Miss Bartlett hopes to be able to prevail upon the Burlington to lend a box car to its country's cause which may be fitted up as a refreshment booth with one end partitioned off as a sort of temporary hospital for Sammies who become ill on the train.

To Have Definite Quarters

If the box car is not secured a temporary structure of some sort will be erected where it will be of greatest service to the enlisted and drafted men passing through Lincoln. Previously the canteen work has consisted of meeting trains and passing out fruit, cigars and the like, or, if the men were in town for a meal, going to the hotel where they ate and giving a short musical program. The workers have had no definite headquarters.

The cost of the canteen is to be defrayed by the girls themselves. Each girl is to earn five dollars which she will turn in. It is necessary that this money be earned by the girl herself so that she will not contribute funds that would otherwise go to the Red Cross or for War Stamps.
