On a Certain May Day

The Girl Graduate Comes Into Her Own

It is the day upon which a whole nation does homage to youth. Full of promise and hope, it shines forth for that army of girls and young women who have so splendidly proved their right to that homage.

Nothing must be allowed to mar its perfection—least of all unbecoming or unappropriate apparel. We have guarded against that, however. Here are

The loveliest of white frocks unaffectedly simple and charming

Their usefulness for other summer occasions is apparent at a glance so you may be governed in selections by your summer plans.

A Sale of lingerie

The daintiest of princess slips, petticoats, bodices, ideal sorts for wear with graduation frocks.

The daintiest of cotton dresses

In pretty plaids and checks and solid colors. Gingham and voiles and other summery fabrics. Dresses with frills and tucks and girdles and novel collars and cuffs. Russian and Eaton blouses and simple shirtwaist styles.

A new white hat---A smart cloth cape are two delightfully timely suggestions. Indeed, in assembling the day's requirements, vacation and summer needs can be assembled at one and the same time.

Have you thought of Silk gloves, to be had here at 75c a pair up.

A fresh crisp organdie collar—other neckwear.
A silk umbrella. A war worker's service bag.
A delightful crepe garden smock.
A good book. A Bible. A piece of Jewelry.
A set of silverware. A bottle of perfume.
A Reading Lamp with Japanese pottery base and silken shade, wired ready for the electric light socket.
Japanese Pottery, Lanterns and Curios from our Oriental room.
A wool dress pattern or one of silk.
A one-half dozen pairs of silk stocking.
An elegant rocker from our Rurniture Department.
A pair of canvas oxfords for summer outings.
A parasol for afternoon strolls.
