Men Will Leave Soon For Training in Several Camps

The first twenty-nine men to be sent from the S. A. T. C. unit were announced Tuesday evening by Captain Edmond J. MacIvor, the commandant in charge. These men were the pick of one hundred and fifty applicants who appeared before the commandant last Monday for personal interviews. Calls Expected Often

The commandant stated that similar calls were expected as often as every two weeks, so men who failed to get in this first call still have something to work for. The rating of the men who applied, but who did not get in, are on file and will be used in determining the men in the next quota. Men will very soon now be put in barracks, regular drill has begun, and all men fully inducted who desire to be messed can be taken care of. The next call for officer material will no doubt be determined largely by the way the men show up in drill and the general impression they are able to make.

Football Ushers

Men who wish to usher for the Camp Funston game Saturday must report at the student activities' office between eight and twelve o'clock the day before Saturday.

Emma Garrett is at the Saint Elizabeth hospital, a victim of Spanish influenza.

PROMINENT SENIOR GIRL DIES OF PNEUMONIA

Evangeline Pelton Third Student Taken in Toll of Influenza

Evangeline Pelton, a member of the senior class at the University of Nebraska, died yesterday noon at the Womans' building after a short illness of pneumonia resulting from influenza.

This is the third death among university students, and takes one of the most prominent girls from the campus. Miss Pelton was very active in all

Rest of the Applicants Soon to Complete Their Induction

The S. A. T. C. men are progressing remarkably well in their drill according to a statement by the commandant, Captain MacIvor. The commanding officer inspected the 7000 fully inducted men Tuesday during the regular morning drill.

The rookies are being taught the rudiments of military drill. Monday morning the whole of the two hours was spent in mastering the facings and dressings. In the afternoon drill the same things were reviewed, nothing being added. A great deal of time is devoted to each exercise to insure exact precision and quickness.

Already a change is seen in the men participating. Often they may be seen snapping their right hand to the right side of their head dress.

That military technique is conducive of pride and a feeling of importance is shown by the military manner in which the men go to their classes.

Tuesday morning the drill sergeants surprised the recruits by springing a number of different movements. They were given the marchings including side stepping and backward marching. In these movements the men showed even greater interest.

Minor promotions are already being made in the unit. A number of old university men and Camp Sheridan men are acting as drill sergeants. Stanley Hall is acting as top sergeant. He has attended the Plattsburgh military academy. The commandant announced that every man would be allowed to act as an officer and in this way receive training similar to that of an officers' training camp. All depends on the man, his work, and ability.

By the end of the week the men will be drilling in regular sections which will be permanent. Sergeant Webb says that the rest of the "competent" papers are here. The rest of the S. A. T. C. prospects, 640, will be taken in Thursday.

Mess Call Sounded

At 6:30 o'clock Tuesday morning the members of the S. A. T. C. who are fully inducted, formed a line one block long to receive their first breakfast in the government mess hall located in the Temple. The hour set for the first meal of the day was rather early and consequently only half of the fully inducted rookies were present. Those who were there declared that the breakfast was a feast.

From now on as soon as the men are inducted they will be given a meal ticket which will admit them to the mess line. By the end of the week T. A. Williams expects to be feeding 1500 young soldiers. He is ready for them now but the papers have not been filled out in the case of half of the S. A. T. C. men.

college affairs. She was secretary of the senior advisory board, and an enthusiastic worker in the Women's Athletic association, the Y. W. C. A. and the W. S. G. A., as well as in all forms of war relief work. She was a graduate of Broken Bow high school, and until recently when she and Mrs. Pelton moved to Lincoln had made her home in Beatrice.

Definite arrangements have not been completed for the funeral but it is probable that it will be held on Thursday.

EPIDEMIC NOT YET CAUSE FOR ALARM

Despite the number of new cases of influenza reported yesterday the epidemic seems to be on the wane, and the cases are becoming less serious owing to the care taken by officials to prevent the further spread of the disease, and to the precautions observed by individuals. Among the cases reported yesterday were Dr. R. G. Clapp, Professor R. D. Scott and Professor F. A. Stuff.

All the cases reported are under medical care and are much lighter in nature than they have been previously. There are four hospitals on the campus taking care of over three hundred cases, while two hospitals at the farm campus are caring for some one hundred and eighty patients.

Most of the recent cases recover in from three to five days, and cause little suffering or inconvenience to the patient if properly cared for. Dean Engberg stated yesterday that if the precautions formerly given out to the students were observed there was little cause for alarm, and that the situation as it exists at the university is in an encouraging condition.

In accordance with the order from Dean Engberg and Dean Heppner that all social affairs for the week-end be cancelled all meeting of literary societies will be postponed.

FIRST YEAR MEN GIVEN GOOD POINTED ADVICE

Captain MacIvor and Dean Engberg Address Freshmen at Annual Convocation

First year men took time off during the political campaign Tuesday while the polls were closed from eleven o'clock until twelve o'clock for their annual convocation in the Temple theatre. Walter Blunk presided and spoke of the various activities which freshmen could enter. He introduced Captain MacIvor, who pointed out the way before them since their entrance into the army. Dean C. C. Engberg told of the necessity of keeping up their scholastic standing from the start.

Captain MacIvor emphasized the advantages the men had in entering the university at this time. "You have no errors to correct," he said, "and it is much easier to learn the military work correctly the first time than to be forced to get out of wrong habits." You who are here for the first time can much more easily adapt yourselves to the requirements than those who have been used to many of the haphazard practices of former years.

Discipline Makes Leaders

"Discipline makes leaders and it is leaders that are needed at the present time. Leaders who can lead their men by firmness and kindness are the men who will succeed and it is this method of leadership which will be taught. It is this sort of leadership that you will meet this year. Give us 50-50 and you will succeed.

"The spirit that has made you fight for your school and your alma mater should urge you to resolve to work for your school this year. Every man in this training corps is officer material and will be kept in school if it is found that he is officer type. The only way in which you can be officer type is to be a gentleman always. The men who remain in this school must be real men, of clean cut manners and physical excellence and none others are wanted. Every man should be ready to take the responsibility that is placed upon his shoulders and remember when he has accepted it that many mother's sons are dependent upon his judgment and care.

Advises Hard Work

"I have heard that some men have expressed their intention to do poor work here in order to be transferred more quickly to the active service. If they are transferred in this manner they will go with a poor rating and (Continued on Page Two)

NOTRE DAME WILL COME TO LINCOLN

Accepts Cornhusker's Offer For Game on November 2 on Nebraska Field

Date With Camp Dodge Soldiers For October 26 Still Hanging Fire

Coach Kline's dickering with Notre Dame for a game on November 2 have borne fruit and the Catholics are coming to Lincoln on the above date in place of October 19, which had to be cancelled on account of a new war department ruling. The telegram from Coach Rochne of the Indiana institution, which arrived about 4:30 yesterday afternoon, reads:

"W. G. Kline, football coach of the University of Nebraska, Lincoln: Can play November second, on same terms. K. K. Rochne."

This news was oil on the troubled waters for the sixth big number on the Husker bill which has been hanging fire since Monday when Kline received the notification that the game as previously arranged would have to be abandoned. The war department requested that the real competitive season in S. A. T. C. schools be confined to the month of November, after all physical fit soldiers were given the football training in inter-company games during October. The shoving back of the Notre Dame battle will (Continued on Page Two) was elected senior member of the publication board over Madeline Girard of Lincoln by 77 votes.

In the junior class Orville Ellerbrock won the class presidency over Paul J. Peterson and Webb Richards was selected member of the publication board over Neil T. Chadderdon. Charles Gillilan of Hardy was elected president of the sophomores over Helen Larson of St. Paul by a vote of 132 to 69.

Chalmers K. Seymour of Omaha was elected president of the freshman class with 336 votes, a lead of 155 over Don D. Gildersleeve of Wayne, his nearest opponent.

Record Freshman Vote

Heavy voting in the freshman class featured the election, nearly twice as many first-year students voting as cast their ballots in either of the past two years. A total of 729 votes were cast in this class as compared with 442 cast in the first semester last year and 344 in the first semester two years ago. Although first-year men have never been so numerous on the campus as this year it is believed that this year's class has the highest percentage record that has been established. Yearlings who escaped the work of the machines of the six candidates in the race were few.

Electioneering in all of the classes and for every office was unusually vigorous and the section of the campus between University hall and the ballot boxes in Memorial hall was a maelstrom of political candidates and their prospects from nine o'clock to eleven o'clock in the forenoon and from two o'clock to five o'clock in the afternoon. Never were so many old acquaintances renewed and so many long-forgotten friendships remembered as during the five hours the polls were open and never did the lonely freshmen receive so many reassuring handshakes.

Promptly with the closing of the doors at five o'clock candidates turned with relief from their day's labors to depart for home and a liniment bottle, leaving their friends to stand guard until the ballots were counted. The results were posted on the bulletin board in front of Administration building at 6:45 o'clock.

OLD MAN AWGWAN ANNOUNCES HIS FIRST APPEARANCE

Herman Thomas, '18, of Hebron, Chosen Editor of College Comic

Awgwan, the far-famed college comic of the University of Nebraska, will make its first appearance on or about November 7, according to the decision of Sigma Delta Chi, editors and publishers, Sunday. Herman B. Thomas, '18, of Hebron, was elected editor-in-chief to succeed Walter C. Johnson of Omaha, who left during the summer for an officers' training camp. Harold Hudspeth, '20, of Omaha was elected managing editor. Carolyn Reed, '18, of Lincoln and Oswald Black, '22, of Lincoln were elected associate editors. Richard Hadley, '21 of Lincoln was chosen business manager.

Editor Thomas promises that the first issue will be up to the standard which has won for Awgwan recognition from the standard comic publications in the country during the past few years. It is not known at the present time whether four or eight numbers will be published during the year, the final decision depending upon the effect of the student training corps upon university activities of this nature.

Awgwan has won a wide reputation not only in other colleges but among the standard publications of the country. Last year Judge and Life carried (Continued on Page Two)
