SIXTY O. T. C. CANDIDATES TO GO TO CAMP ZACHARY TAYLOR

Men Are Selected by Captain MacIvor With Respect to Qualifications

Blue Grass Special to Carry Nebraska Soldier Boys to Kentucky School

Sixty members of the Nebraska University army training corps have been selected to attend the artillery officers' training school at Camp Zachary Taylor, Kentucky.

Each of the sixty men has been selected after careful consideration of his qualifications, first by Captain E. J. MacIvor, and later by an artillery officer from the base camp who conducted personal examination. In no case was there any favoritism displayed in the selection of the embryo officers. The policy of fairness to all adopted by the commanding officer early in the year continues to be pre-eminent. All men were selected because of actual qualifications which especially fitted them to become officers in this branch of the service.

Prominent Men Leave

Many of the men who are to go have been very prominent in university life, while others are at present acting as military leaders in their respective companies.

CARNIVAL OF GAIETY FOR SATURDAY EVE

Co-eds and Soldiers to Make Merry at Lincoln Commercial Club Rooms

War Camp Community Services Gives First Entertainment for the Season

Jazz music to furnish rhythm and "pep" and fair coeds to lend enchantment, will turn the rooms at the Lincoln Commercial Club into a veritable carnival of fun and gaiety, on Saturday night when the war camp community service department will hold the first of the series of dances that have been planned for the entertainment of the men in the service of "Uncle Sam." Now that the "ban" has been lifted and the "flu" no longer holds the center of the stage, social life begins to come into its own. The first real dance in four weeks then is one to be looked forward to with zest and anticipation.

Rooms Opened to Soldiers

In spite of the fact that the Terpsichorean art is the most important feature of the evening, another part of the program, no less attractive to some, is the opening of the Commercial Club rooms on the second floor at six o'clock to all the men in uniform. Fourteen tables of free pool will be surrounded by as many as possible interested and enthusiastic lads in uniform. From six o'clock until eight the click of ivory balls, and the soft thud as the balls drop into the pockets, will be the enjoyable sounds to be heard under the current of friendly comradeship.

One hundred lucky chaps will be selected by Captain MacIvor to attend the dance, which will begin promptly at eight o'clock. For this first dance, which is given under the auspices of Mrs. T. J. Doyle, one hundred co-eds of the university will be chosen. Cards will be issued to them, which will admit them to the building. Only girls invited and holding these cards, will be admitted to the dance.

From the looks of the plans of the committee, this promises to be one of the most attractive affairs of the season, and the best part of it is that the actual reality will so far exceed all the forecasts that it well behooves all fun chasers to see that they are numbered among those present.

PRIVATE IN SECTION "B" SEVERELY REPRIMANDED

Captain MacIvor's determination to enforce discipline among the S. A. T. C. men was again emphasized last evening when he publicly reprimanded a private in Section B, for disrespect to superiors. Captain MacIvor called attention of all the men to the fact that the man punished was a new arrival, who had shown disrespect to his superiors while on the streets. He further stated that the punishment for this offense would be one full month's confinement to the post and whatever other punishment the officers might see fit to impose.

The punishment meted out in this case, although seemingly very strict, is but a warning to other men in the unit that disrespect will not be tolerated and that discipline must be enforced.

Alumnus Edits Grammar—An English grammar for secondary schools by J. C. Lindberg, A. B., U. of N., '05, and Arthur G. Kennedy, A. B., U. of N., '05, has just been released. The first edition of this grammar was published in pamphlet form in 1911 under the joint authorship of J. C. Lindberg and A. G. Kennedy. In the present edition the book has been thoroughly revised and changed to meet modern conditions; in many cases to conform to suggestions made by the joint committee on grammatical nomenclature. M. Lindberg is head of the department of English, state normal school, Spearfish, South Dakota. Mr. Kennedy is on the faculty of Leland Stanford university.

PLEASURE DOORS SWING OPEN WIDE TO BOYS OF S. A. T. C.

Savory Dinners, Dances, and Theater Entertainments Featured for Army Lads

Dr. John Wesley Carter Takes Charge of War Camp Community Service

Boy howdy! Real home dinners on Sunday, rides de luxe, dances with fair ladies, and even theatre entertainments are to be furnished for the men in the service of the country. Through the efforts of the War Camp Community Service commission, a number of delightful things have been planned to satisfy the longings in the hearts of all the boys, for "something to do." No longer will they have to hang around the post because everything is closed up. The town is "open" once more, and the doors are swung wide open to all who will enter.

Dr. John Wesley Carter, representing the national headquarters in War Camp Community Service, has been sent here by the government to take charge of the work in Lincoln. He has a very able body of helpers. O. J. Allison, immediate past president of the Lincoln Rotary Club; Mrs. T. J. Doyle, president Lincoln Woman's Club; Hon. W. A. Selleck, president Lincoln State Bank, and president Doane college; and Hon. Burton A. George, immediate past president Lincoln Commercial Club, compose the executive committee. The board of directors comprises Hon. Keith Neville; Hon. John E. Miller; Hon. Chas. W. Bryan; Hon. W. G. Hastings; Captain E. J. MacIvor; Lieutenant Frank A. Gold, and Miss May Pershing.

Dr. Carter has sent two thousand copies of the following letter to the civilian public of Lincoln:

Dear Friend:

War Camp Community Service has come to Lincoln to help direct the social activities of your city in such a way that the man in uniform in your midst may find everywhere the atmosphere of genuine friendship, hospitality and safety. To this end we can help each other.

The hospitality of the people in camp cities has a multitude of expressions running all the way from going to church on Sunday to the community dance on Saturday night where the man in uniform meets the flower of American womanhood who help fit these champions of liberty and humanity for their crusade. In between the dance and church are concerts, excursions, free auto rides, home dinners, sings, parties and a score of other forms of wholesome recreation.

Future Life of S. A. T. C. Men Pictured in Soldiers Reverie

Pause for a moment in the rush of your day's occupation, withdraw your mind from the world of grim reality and indulge in a little harmless dream of what may possibly be your recollections in years to come. While this may be a vision, it is up to the individual to make his dreams come true.

At the outbreak of the world's war in 1914 you were a junior in a high school in western Nebraska. You watched the progress of the war with intense interest, but not because you felt that it concerned you at all. The fact that most of the large nations of Europe were in the great conflict was no cause for alarm. You felt perfectly secure, sheltered under the folds of the Stars and Stripes. At home, times were uneventful and prosperous. The struggle "over there" was a passive incident to all Americans. No one was aware that a free, peace-loving people could ever be seized in the maelstrom of that stupendous contest.

where homesick boys far from their families and in strange surroundings come in touch with influences that remind them of the folks they left behind.

The function of our service is to coordinate all existing social facilities and to co-operate with every legitimate endeavor that will help to keep alive the finer things of life in the hearts of our boys. To this end we can work together more wisely and efficiently if you will make War Camp Community Service the bureau through which the various social activities of your city are directed, so far as they relate to the man in uniform.

War Community Service, in Lincoln, has been tendered the use of the Elks' building for an Army and Navy club. This courteous offer we have accepted and are now in our new headquarters. This club is a free home for every soldier where he will find luxurious parlors, reading, writing material, piano, billiards, a canteen and hospitality. Let us work together to reduce the abnormalities of a soldier's life by making the community adjacent to the barracks a place where the man in uniform may live the normal life of a social being.

Thanking you for your co-operation, I am

Sincerely,
JOHN WESLEY CARTER.

October 24th.

The Lincoln unit of the War Camp Community Service is the legitimate bureau through which all social activities of the city for the entertainment of men in uniform are directed. It is also the official instrument in charge of war camp service at Nebraska Wesleyan, Cotner University, and Doane College.

The dance at the Commercial Club Saturday night is the first one of the series. Sometime in the near future another one will be held in the ballroom of the Elks' club for fifty couples. For smaller informal dances, the small parlor of the Army and Navy club in the Elks' building, Thirteenth and P streets, will be open. It will accommodate about twelve couples and will be at the disposal of any group of soldiers and sailors and ladies whom they may invite. These smaller parties may be given any night in the week providing Dr. Carter is notified and reservation made. At all times there will be a proper chaperone and hostess in the building, so no mother need worry about her daughter.

On Sunday, as has already been tried, one hundred boys will feast on the good things they dream about having once tasted, in the good old days before they were initiated to the

MYSTIC FISH ANNOUNCES FOURTEEN NEW PLEDGES

Mystic Fish, freshman honorary society, announces the following new members: Louise Emmett, Alpha Xi Beta; Frances Wahl, Alpha Phi; Dorothy Davison, Achuth; Eleanor Eddy, Pi Beta Phi; Margaret Thompson, Delta Delta Delta; Dorothy Pierce, Delta Gamma; Marjorie Colwell, Kappa Alpha Theta; Edna Robertson, Delta Zeta; Mona Jenkins, Chi Omega; Marel Trojan, Gamma Phi Beta; Madeline Hendricks, Alpha Omicron Pi; Phranis McDonald, Alpha Chi Omega; Lois Melton and Kathryn Harnley.

One co-ed has suggested that the S. A. T. C. men be allowed more individuality in their dress, so that she may discern Jimmy or Joe or Bill when she sees them marching.

Miss Velma King, public teacher who has been taking work in Slavonic languages, has accepted a position in the State Normal school at Dillon, Mont.

Mrs. Jessie Begthol Lee is recovering from a severe attack of influenza contracted while caring for the men in the "T" street hospital.

INCREASED DEMAND FOR MORE STUDENT NURSES

In a letter received Monday by Professor Sarka Hrbkova, chairman of the woman's committee of the state council of defense, the committees are urged to increase their efforts in recruiting student nurses.

Only three states have filled their quota and only a few have raised 75 per cent of their number. Nebraska has enlisted about three-fourths of her quota.

Numerous applications have been received from applicants who do not fill the educational requirements. A high school education is necessary for those wishing to enter army hospitals and the applicants for admission to civilian hospitals must have completed the tenth grade.

In order to facilitate the placing of students the following instructions have been added:

"If you have a preference either for or against a school operating under religious auspices such as Protestant, Catholic, Jewish, Latter Day Saints, or Seven-Day Adventist please state clearly, otherwise you will be sent where there is the greatest need."

Information may be had by addressing Miss Annie W. Goodrich, office of the Surgeon General, Washington, D. C.

Our War-Winning Machines Are Intricately Fashioned

Copyright 1918, by The International Syndicate.

The most rapid evolution of any agency of warfare is the airplane. A generation ago it was regarded as a dream of some impracticable visionary and not much more than a dozen years ago it was an experiment and many looked upon its usefulness with a great deal of skepticism. But in the very few years which have passed since then it has made more progress than any other implement of warfare employed for military purposes. Necessity—absolute necessity is the cause of this and no army of the present day can accomplish anything without the requisite number of aeroplanes. Besides an army would be an easy prey to the enemy equipped with planes unless it was suitably fitted out with aircraft for offensive and defensive operations.

Our aircraft production has been under way for more than a year, and although not as much has been accomplished as many had hoped, the task was no easy one. There was much discussion in reference to the building and some little scandal crept in; then too, a few spies were discovered in a factory cutting wires. Happily these difficulties have been overcome and the aeroplane work is going forward with a rush.

Liberty Motor

As an automobile had a similar type of engine, the government turned to the manufacturers of these machines for assistance with the result that the Liberty motor was brought to the front and is now being manufactured in large quantities in both the eight and twelve cylinder types. It is the result of the different parts of several of our best automobile engines combined and with the knowledge of several engineers added. For a long time writers romanced about it while the
