ATHLETIC FIELD TO REVERBERATE WITH CORNHUSKERS ENTHUSIASM

Monster Pep Meeting and Rally Held on Gridiron This Morning

Nebraska Students and Faculty Will Congregate to Stimulate Waning Spirit

With blood in his eye and visions of slaughter the Kansas Jayhawk is raring to invade the Husker's lines on Saturday and capture the camp. But Nebraska anti-aircraft spirit will catch him on the wing, and he will drop, torn and tattered, on the center of Nebraska athletic field. Pep, to the nth degree is what will win the victory for Nebraska. This morning on the athletic field the greatest demonstration of enthusiasm that has ever been witnessed in football circles will make the bleachers reverberate and echo with the determination of loyal Nebraskans to keep the Kansas bunch from revenging the defeat of last year.

Meet at Grandstand

The grandstand on the north side of the field has been chosen as the place to hold the monster football rally. Every student and faculty member in the university will be there.

The season here has been unusually upset this year on account of the number of games that have had to be cancelled because of the "flu" ban. Hence Nebraska spirit has been allowed a good long rest. The time has come, however, when it must be revived! Kansas is coming up here strong in team work, individual players and pep. But most of all is their determination to repeat the awful story of 1916 when they beat Nebraska for the first time in seven years by a score of seven to three. Having once tasted blood they are thirsty for more, and the team they have warrants the thought now prevalent in Lawrence that they will win.

IMPROVEMENT SHOWN IN GREEN BACK FIELD

Kline Using New Material in Plugging Up Hole Left by Schellenberg

Kansas Relying on Speed to Overcome Nebraska—Northwestern Cancelled

Coach Kline's yearlings in the back field are comin' right along and may yet develop into a real formidable second line before the Cornhuskers encounter the Kansas Jayhawkers in their annual gridiron combat on Nebraska field next Saturday.

When Uncle Sam called halfback Schellenberg to O. T. C. yesterday, he plucked the last veteran from the Husker back field, and the coaches were forced to plug up the hole with more green material from the freshman squad. McMahon's injury and Hubka's transfer from fullback to the tackle position leaves only Howarth, Jobs and Lantz with any varsity experience at all, and this trio is playing its first year with the regulars. Howarth and Jobs worked on the freshman squad last year but Lantz hails from Ravenna high where he wore the moleskins last season. He won a berth on the varsity at the first

Such an end to Saturdays game must not be. So, EVERYBODY OUT TO BEAT KANSAS is the cry.

Rally at Eleven

The rally will begin at eleven o'clock this morning on the athletic field. The main business of the meeting being to gather some pep for Saturday, the cheer-leaders will be on hand to lead the grandstand in the practicing of yells. Nebraska songs will also be rehearsed. S. A. T. C. men, headed by the Nebraska crack-crackerjack band, will form and march out to the field. Professor R. D. Scott, Captain MacIvor and Coach Kline are scheduled for some rousing talks.

A special appeal is made to the girls in the school to come out in full strength. In other years they have shown that they have been gifted with an unusually lusty set of lungs and know how to use them. The team needs the girls to cheer as well as the men.

Down the Jay-Hawk

Last year the team went to Kansas. The game started with some thousands of Kansas rooters to a mere handful of Nebraska supporters. On the kick-off, every Kansan at the game was on his feet giving the famous jaw-hawk chant. But the section of Nebraskans was not to be outdone and from the beginning of the game until the end, they yelled, and yelled until they were hoarse. Even the power of the jaw-hawk was lost when Nebraska yelled. And the Huskers won the day. The team said that the cheering was as much responsible for the victory as the actual playing. Kansas remembers that game and is determined to come up here and pile up a score that will wipe out the defeat of last year.

That must not happen. The grandstand must be filled this morning and every seat must be taken Saturday. Pep will win the game. Nebraska rooters must be back of Nebraska players. Kansas' scalp must be added to Fort Omaha's.

EVERYBODY OUT TO BEAT KANSAS.

PROF. J. G. GILLEN ON CIVILIAN RELIEF

Chairman of Central Division Speaks Before S. A. T. C. at Temple

Professor J. G. Gillen, chairman of the central division for civilian relief during the war, told what the Red Cross is doing for the families of our soldiers and sailors in a talk to the S. A. T. C. at the Temple last night at seven-thirty.

"No country has made such generous provision for its men and for their families in this war as has the United States," Professor Gillen said. "With the exception of the general and lieutenant general of the British army, there are no soldiers who receive as much pay as the soldiers in our army. This is true concerning their families also. No country has passed such far-reaching laws in regard to compensation, insurance, etc., as the United States."

In those cases where the government allowance and a man's pay were not sufficient to supply his family, the government asked the Red Cross to see that the family had enough. The society apportioned the country into fourteen divisions, thirteen for the mainland and one for our island possessions. In the central division, composed of the five states of Iowa, Illi-

WE SHALL NOT SLEEP

"In Flanders fields the poppies blow
Between the Crosses, row on row,
That mark our place; and in the sky
The larks still bravely singing fly,
Scarce heard amidst the guns below.

We are the dead.
Short days ago we lived, felt dawn,
Loved and were loved, and now we lie
In Flanders fields.

Take up our quarrel with the foe,
To you from falling hands we throw the Torch—be yours
to hold it high;
If ye break faith with us who die,
We shall not sleep, though poppies grow
In Flanders fields."
—Lieutenant Colonel Dr. John McCrae.

S. A. T. C. WILL CONTINUE WORK

Advice From Washington States That Training Units Will Not Be Interrupted

Definite Program Will be Announced Soon—Meanwhile Work Goes On

Definite plans have been prepared for the future of the students' army training camps, according to a telegram from S. A. T. C. headquarters received yesterday. The telegram further stated that the unit would continue military and academic work without interruption, regardless of the fact that an armistice has been declared. Official announcement will be made soon concerning a definite future program.

Numerous wild rumors have been circulated about the barracks since the declaration that the war was officially at an end. Members of the unit have been unable to do more than make guesses as to their future actions as soldiers in Uncle Sam's army. The announcement that the unit will not be interfered with in any way, and that the program would be carried forward vigorously, will serve as a stimulus to all men stationed in the Cornhusker barracks.

Renewed Vigor in All Work

Captain MacIvor announced yesterday that all military and academic work would be carried forward with renewed vigor. Special emphasis is to be placed upon the scholarship of each individual and every man will be required to attend every class regularly. All absences reported to military headquarters will be dealt with in the most rigid manner. Academic credits and scholarships will be considered hereafter in all recommendations for officers' training camps.

Study Hour at Eleven

A special study hour between eleven o'clock and noon, will be set aside for all members of Section A, and any man found idling during this period will be punished severely. All men who do not have regularly assigned classes during this period will be required to devote the entire hour to his academic work. Men are especially cautioned against leaving the post during this hour.

The evening study period from 7:30

UNIVERSITY IS FAR BEHIND IN RAISING $25,000 QUOTA

But $5,000 Subscribed With the Campaign Now Half Over

Two Days Remain for Students to Revive Their Lost Enthusiasm

If the University of Nebraska is not to fail in the campaign to raise $25,000 for the War Work activities students must put forth their supreme efforts in the two days remaining in which to complete the quota. One thousand dollars was the total reported by the solicitors Wednesday, with most of the S. A. T. C. subscriptions incomplete. In the next two days, the final drive to raise the remaining eighty per cent of the quota necessary to put the university "over the top" must take place.

The failure of university students to live up to their former standards in responding to appeals for war funds can not be determined. Last year more than $20,000 was raised in a single day in the great war work rally conducted by the university. "Over the top" in Liberty Bond and Red Cross campaigns, and leading in all patriotic movements Nebraska students appear to have lost their old time and spirit and enthusiasm in the present campaign, perhaps the last of the big war drives.

Competes With Other Universities

In this, as well as in other phases of war work, the University of Nebraska is competing with five hundred other universities, some of whom have practically completed their quotas. Captain Edmund J. MacIvor has repeatedly emphasized this aspect of the situation and the fact that the university has a reputation to live up to. Under his leadership the S. A. T. C. unit is striving to uphold Nebraska's standards along military lines, and in the campaign each company gives promise of becoming a 100 per cent organization. Nearly every man has promised a pledge of ten dollars or more. It is left to the remainder of the university to complete the task of raising the quota.

No Time for Relaxation

With the wave of relaxation apparently increasing it is up to university men and women to check the spread of the movement. By fulfilling their obligations in the war work drive they can prove that they are at least able to handle the situation here.

America's millions will be needed in reconstruction work, in recreational and educational programs abroad, and to some extent in the work to be done at home. The $25,000 quota of the university is exceedingly small when compared to vast sums to be raised and the magnitude of the work to be accomplished.

Team Number 4 in Lead

Team number 4, captained by Genevieve Freeman, heads the list of girls in the amount of subscriptions solicited. Following are the latest reports from co-ed subscribers:

WOMENS HALL OPENED SATURDAY AFTERNOON

House Warming Planned for Dedication of the New Girls' "Home"

The new Women's hall on the corner of Fourteenth and R streets, opens its doors to the university women on Saturday afternoon, from four o'clock until six-thirty. This house warming is by the way of dedication of the building which has recently been purchased by the university, to be used as the headquarters for all women's activities.

Miss Amanda Heppner, Dean of Woman, will act as hostess and will be assisted by members of the faculty. A cordial invitation is extended to all women of the faculty, all girls of the university and all home-coming guests. The hours set for the reception will permit everyone to attend after the game is over.

to 9:30 every day except Saturday and Sunday is also to be observed by every member as an assigned time for supervised study. No one shall be excused from attending a study period without authority from the commanding officer.

CORNHUSKER NOTICE

Applications will be received, starting today, at the student activities' office, in care of Dr. H. B. Alexander, for the following positions on the staff of the 1919 Cornhusker.

Business Manager.
Junior Managing Editor.
Applications will be acted upon by the Students' Publication Board.
