THE WOMEN'S HALL

The University has reaped one benefit from the war and the consequent coming of the Students' Army and Navy. When, owing to crowded conditions this fall, the Temple was taken over by the authorities, for the use of the military faction of the school, and the girls were crowded out of the Y. W. C. A. and Society rooms, the prospects for a home for the co-eds was dismal indeed. What seemed to be such a sad state of affairs was in fact a blessing in disguise. The girls are now enjoying the blessings shorn of all disguise, and resplendent in its reality. For the first time in the history of our University there is a Woman's Hall for the exclusive use of the girls.

During the past week we have seen the success with which the Hall is being run, and we come to realize more than we ever did the need that this home fills in the school life of University women. It affords an opportunity for the furtherance of the democratic spirit that has already been established. It provides a common meeting place for girls—pleasant surroundings for study, meetings, teas, parties, Vespers, initiations and the myriad of other activities that figure prominently in the campus life of girls.

For many years the girls have listened with envy to the reports from visiting secretaries and delegates about the Women's Buildings at other colleges, and the good times made possible by such quarters. Now we can escort our visitors through OUR Women's Hall with great pride, and thereby add our share to those Halls of Fame!

HEY! YOU OF THE S. A. T. C.

Are you grasping the Discipline lectures by your knowing commanders in the proper spirit?

Have you sensed the very feasible possibility of Discipline, exactly as it's taught here, playing a most important part in the strenuous future, which lies slab-bang ahead?

Or are you existing under the burdensome impression that Discipline is a characteristic essential to soldiers only? And now that the bruised world is very thoroughly enjoying permanent reprieve from four years of indescribable military strife, you throw up your hands "Kamerad" fashion, and surrender to that dangerous "What's-the-use" feeling.

When you leave the service, (you're going to be in it long enough to know Discipline) it will be extremely wise to retain the erect bearing, the easy carriage, the concise expression of thought, and the forced courtesy demanded by Uncle Sam. To do so will insure your "getting over" in associations, both business and social, eventually yours.

T. J. Machamer.

BRIEF BITS OF NEWS

S. A. T. C. Signs Pay Roll—Every man of the S. A. T. C. detachment has gone through the ceremony of signing the pay roll within the last two days. The November roll was opened for signatures Tuesday night but the list of men was so large that not all could be accommodated. The remainder were called to appear last night to complete the process. The signing of the pay roll is preliminary to the actual pay day which will come soon.

Scholarship Report Late—The annual scholarship report of fraternities is not obtainable as yet, due to the fact that school closed last spring in such unsettled condition. Many students enlisted, dropping their work without notice and making it very difficult for the instructors to get a correct tabulation of final grades. These reports are being sent in as rapidly as possible now and it is quite probable that within the next three weeks a complete report can be announced.

Miss Holly Withdraws—Miss Harriet Holly has withdrawn from the university to accept a position as assistant director of physical education for girls at Peru state normal.

East Indian Student Here—Ghuam Mohamed Malik, a student from the East Indies, who holds a master of science degree from the University of Ohio, has registered for special work on plant diseases. He says that he was attracted here by the high reputation of the botany department. He is looking for varieties of disease resisting plants for his native country.

Speaks at Funston—Professor Singer of the school of Fine Arts delivered an address at the dedication exercises of the Jewish Welfare building at Camp Funston on Sunday, November 17. Other speakers were Major-General Wood, and Rabbi Harry Mayer of Kansas City.

THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION

Governor Neville's Thanksgiving proclamation refers to the ending of the world war as a cause for universal rejoicing. In calling upon the people of Nebraska to observe that festival on November 25, the proclamation says:

"We are nearing the end of the most important year in the history of our nation, and of the world, and also the beginning of an era that will call for the exercise of the best of mind and heart. The world had a new birth on the eleventh day of the present month; the storm of battle past, and the bow of peace bids fair to encircle the world. Tears will be dried, and sorrow assuaged in the knowledge of the fact that our people have performed the art assigned them in bringing to pass this blessed consummation.

"We have been permitted to witness the fulfillment of our desire expressed one year ago, that the wicked ambition of those who sought, by military force, to destroy the liberty of the people should be brought to naught and that a speedy and permanent peace be secured to the world. To those who have relatives and friends in the army, there will be great cause for rejoicing and the giving of thanks. The boys may not all be at the festal board but the assurance that they will soon be marching home, will afford inspiration and add zest to the occasion."

ne Burnet of the Pasteur Institute, Paris, surgeon in the French army, will give an illustrated lecture, "Experiences of a French Soldier on Different Fronts," December 9, at 8 p. m. in the Temple.

LIVE STOCK MEN TO SEE DODGERS

victory over the Ames Aggies early in the season.

They have a galaxy of stars on the coaching staff. Lieut. Robert Saxton, former athletic director at St. Thomas college, is head coach since the death of Major William Rean, former West Point star, three weeks ago. Liew, former Grinnell college player and coach at East Des Moines high school for several years, who is now athletic director at Camp Dodge, succeeding Captain John L. Griffith, Captain Gus Graham, a Michigan star years ago, and well known as a Missouri valley and "Big Ten" official, also is helping coach the line.

The Dodgers and the Huskers are both planning on a big league affair Saturday and Director Scott is predicting that it will be every bit as stiff an argument as the Notre Dame scuffle on Thanksgiving.

THANKSGIVING DINNERS FOR S. A. T. C.

head of the W. C. C. S. said that he has had a blank put in the city papers which can be filled out and mailed to him at the Army and Navy club in the Elks' building. He expressed the hope that many families might be reached through The Daily Nebraskan who would pledge themselves to entertain one or more soldiers or sailors at Thanksgiving dinner. So a blank has been printed in this paper and Dr. Carter wishes anyone who wants to take some of the soldiers to fill it out and mail it, or phone the W. C. C. S. headquarters.
