DAILY DIARY RHYMES
By
Gayle Vincent Grubb

"FATHER"
Mother's had the honor of a million
verse and prose,
She's had her praise and done her bit,
as everybody knows;
God bless her! She deserves it, and she rules the human heart,
But it seems to me some folks forget that father plays a part.

There's a service flag a' hanging in the window 'cross the way
Where the passersby can see it, and I seem to hear them say:
"There's a Mother waiting patiently,
who's sacrificed and—well—They've sorta missed the fact that he was father's son as well.

And so the world for Mother stands,
and should for all of that,
She has done her best and given all,
to her I tip my hat.
Yet after all's been said and done, to me it seems but fair
When we're counting what the folks have done, we count in father's share.

HORSESHOES WIN
FOR CAMP DODGE

Movald immediately kicked out of danger and the Huskers came back like a boomerang and waded through to within 8 yards of the post. A stone wall again blocked the road and a punt saved the Soldiers' base, and the half ended before the Cornhuskers could get under way again.
The third time Nebraska invaded deep into enemy territory was in the third quarter when the drive terminated in the fumble and blocked kick which gave the Huskers their only touchdown.
Reynolds' Turn for the Laurels Left Halfback Reynolds stepped to the front line of first honors. He and Captain Hubka were the most consistent ground gainers for the Huskers. Reynolds covered 67 yards with the ball on fourteen attempts and Hubka accounted for 47 yards in an equal number of tries. Lantz, Hartley and Howarth came in for full shares of the glory also. Lantz gained something like 42 yards and Hartley was merciless in his line plunges. Howarth piloted the Husker attack and returned the punts of the Dodgers for 75 yards. He was not up to the form he displayed a week ago against Kansas and several times the ball got away from him, once factoring materially in a Dodger score.

Cypreason Returns from O. T. C.
A red sweated figure made its appearance at left end in the last stanza and pulled off some brilliant work before it was recognized as "Zip" Cypreason, who left in the first call to officers' schools over a month ago. He pulled into town Saturday morning and jumped into his duds in time for the game. His 50 yard sprint with a forward pass in the last minute of play was the most spectacular stunt of the Huskers.

Higgins, a freshman from Harvard, Nebraska high school, joined the squad only a few days before the game and got into action in the last quarter at right half for Lantz. He showed some real ability at carrying the ball, making 15 yards at one trip through a broken field.

Line Proves a Bulwark

The least of Coach Klimes' worries this season has been the line, and it proved a bulwark in the Saturday tussle. Rather than buck the wall of masonry, the Dodger, invariably resorted to punting and only carried the ball twenty-one times during the game. At one time the coach shifted Wade Munn from left guard to the other side in order to meet the attacks of Massupport of the Soldiers.
