Ruth Hutton, '19, Editor of the 1918-19 Book Announces Publication Plans

Preparation of this Year's Book Delayed by Serious Interruptions

After a period of continued interruptions and serious delay the publication of the student directories at last seems a certainty. A committee from the Y. W. C. A. has been appointed to take charge of the annual publication for this year and actual work has now begun. Ruth Hutton, '19, has been appointed editor-in-chief and she will be assisted by associate editors, Helen Doty, '19, and Mary Waters, '20. Although the preparation of material for the book presents greater difficulties than in former years the editorial staff plans to have the directories ready for distribution within three weeks.

Work Presents Difficulties

The problem of tabulating the long list of students' names is unusually perplexing this year because of the unsettled condition of affairs at the university and the change brought about by the establishment of the S. A. T. C. unit here. The decision to publish the directory was reached only a few days ago. The appointment of a permanent staff at the first of the year was delayed with the result that students have missed that popular little volume which ordinarily makes its appearance early in October. The present staff have now completed their plans and will put the book on sale in the shortest possible time.

The price of the book will probably be higher than usual this year, although the management has made no definite announcement to this effect. Bids for the publication have not yet been received.

Address Books on Campus

In order to obtain the correct addresses of all students, address books will be placed about the campus in a few days. These will be found at the library, armory, and the chemistry (Continued on page 2)

FRENCH LIEUTENANT

TO SPEAK TOMORROW

Big Program is Planned for the Annual Thanksgiving Convocation Wednesday

Lieutenant Robert Renard of the French army, who is on a speaking tour for the committee on public information, will give an address at the Thanksgiving convocation Wednesday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock in the Temple. Lieut. Renard is both a soldier and a scholar. He has seen over three years' of active service at the front.

Lieut. Renard was formerly professor of English in the Lycee of Marseilles and the School of Commerce, after having been a student at the university of Lille, where he passed a great competitive examination, leading candidates from all parts of France. He joined his regiment August 2, 1914, and fought at St. Mihiel, the heights of the Meuse and at Verdun. After four months in the hospital he entered a training camp to become a machine gunner. While in charge of a machine gun platoon he took part in bloody battles around Dead Man's Hill, during the great drive on Verdun. For his conduct there he was cited for bravery and decorated with the war cross.

Sent to America

In 1917 he was ordered to America and acted as instructor of infantry at Camp Wheeler, Macon, Georgia. Since April 8, 1917, he has been detailed to Washington as a speaker and in this capacity has made addresses at many universities over the country.

At this convocation the university chorus will give several selections, the governor's Thanksgiving proclamation will be read and the Pan-Hellenic scholarship pins will be awarded.

Announcement was made at army headquarters yesterday that military police corps had been organized in the local S. A. T. C. for the purpose of enforcing army regulations.

The new organization is to be on duty Wednesday and Friday evenings, Saturday afternoon and evening, and all day Sunday. Men have been recommended by each company commander for this service.

S. A. T. C. MEN VOTE ON DISBANDING UNIT

Men Probably Mustered Out Either January 4 or June 30

War Department Gives Men Choice of Time to Be Discharged

S. A. T. C. men last evening were faced with two serious questions upon which their future status for the remainder of the year will largely depend. These two questions which they had to answer on a signed ballot follow:

1. Do you prefer to be discharged from the S. A. T. C. at the end of the present term or at the end of the present school year?

2. If you are discharged at the end of the present quarter, would you remain in school the rest of the year?

The university authorities in cooperation with the military department are issuing these questions in an effort to obtain the will of the men. They will then transmit the will of the majority as the vote of this unit. The war department is expected to act upon the matter at once.

It seems to be the popular opinion of most of the men who have private means enough to support themselves in school that they could do their school work more effectively if they were not living in the barracks.

Disbanding Not to Effect Drill

It is probable that the war department desires to keep the men in school but also would like to do away with any unnecessary expenses since the armistice has been declared.

If the S. A. T. C. should be disbanded at the end of the present quarter, which would be January 4, the men would still be required to drill nine hours a week, which is the amount of drill called for under the new schedule to be put into effect soon.

Extracts from a letter received by Acting Chancellor Hastings from the war department, follow:

"Assuming an equitable financial arrangement in case your contract is discontinued at the end of the first quarter, and assuming that if continued, regulation of academic work by the war department will be abandoned and military work reduced to nine hours weekly, do you wish to have your collegiate unit, exclusive of medical students, continue to June 30, 1919?"

FORMER EDITOR WITH NEW ORLEANS PAPER

Leonard W. Kline, ex-'18, writes to friends in The Daily Nebraskan office that he is very busy once more 'mid the smell of printer's ink and the click of typewriters. Kline was editor-in-chief of The Daily Nebraskan during the first part of the semester, but was forced to give up his position when he was called away from school in October. He went to an officers' training camp at Camp MacArthur, Texas, which was discontinued after the armistice was signed. Kline went to New Orleans, where he is located at present. He is working on the New Orleans Item and writes that he is so well satisfied with both the work and the environment that he has decided not to return to the cold north until second semester.

DOBSON RETURNS FROM NAVY TO HELP WHIP NOTRE DAME

Cornhusker chances against the mighty Notre Dame warriors on Turkey day have been soaring way up in the upper atmosphere since the announcement yesterday afternoon that Paul Dobson, last year's prenominal halfback and member of the first All-Valley eleven had pulled into town and was ready to take up his studies and don his football togs in time to help pluck the plums on Thanksgiving.

Just as the gloom clouds were settling down over the Husker camp and chances for victory next Thursday seemed as far out of sight as the price of butter and theater tickets, here came a brilliant arc light and banished the fog from the premises. Other rays of hope were exposed in the arrival of "Zip" Cypreanson from Camp McArthur and the probability that Halfback McMahon, who has been on the injured list for the past month, and Jobes, who had his knee wrenched last week, will be in shape to take their positions in the lineup.

Dobson was given an honorable discharge last week and returned yesterday morning from the Massachusetts institute of technology at Cambridge, where he has been in the chief quartermaster's school. He enlisted in the navy early last summer and was first stationed at the Great Lakes camp. When the football season rolled around Dobson was on the job and broke into the Jackies' lineup in the opening game of the sea-against the Iowa Hawkeyes. The 7 to 0 victory of the Blue Jackets was due largely to the former Cornhusker's long punts and great defensive work.

ARMY UNIFORMS ON WAY FROM OMAHA Q. M. DEPOT

Complete Outfits to Be Issued to S. A. T. C. Men in a Few Days

Lieutenant Hotchkiss, acting quartermaster of the Nebraska University students' army training corps, announced yesterday that he had received a communication from the Omaha depot regarding the shipment of equipment for members of the local unit. Shipment has been made from Omaha, and in all probability will arrive in time for issuance the latter part of this week.

With the thermometer hovering around the zero point, and a piercing wind sweeping down upon them, approximately twenty-five hundred members of the local students' army training corps have become somewhat impatient while awaiting the very tardy arrival of their winter uniforms and overcoats.

Some of the men are still wearing the relics of their summer civilian clothes; other have purchased uniforms and overcoats from Lincoln haberdasheries, and all of Section "B" is clad in light summer khaki.

Men having been home during the week-end report that practically every secondary college in the state having an S. A. T. C. unit has been issued necessary winter equipment. Omaha papers have headed their columns, "Nebraska Boys Freeze at Drill," and have carried glowing reports which do not speak well for the Nebraska unit.

NEBRASKA ALUMNA DIES IN COLORADO

Word was received Saturday of the death of Edith Lyon, '18, a graduate of the home economics department. She was a member of Omicron Nu, and was active in all of the many interests of her department.

She was teaching in Colorado when she contracted influenza, and after her death was brought to her home at Madison, Nebr., for burial. The funeral will be held today.

Long before he was transferred to the eastern school, Dobson participated in the Great Lages-Illinois battle and the only touchdown of the game was credited to the Nebraska boy, who crossed the opponents' goal line after a twenty-five yard run and then kicked goal.

To Bolster the Back Field
With the prodigal sons in the lineup yesterday, prospects took on a more encouraging aspect and the back field, which has been doing so nobly without the assistance of veteran material, will become one of the bulwarks of the Husker attack. Dobson proved himself an all-round performer in the back field last year and starred in the line bucking, punting and forward passing departments.

Notre Dame a Worthy Foe
The Indiana Catholics are touted to be opponents worthy of Nebraska's best mettle and resources. Their 25 to 6 victory over Purdue university last Saturday puts them in high standing in both the east and west. Notre Dame tied with the Great Lakes and the Sailors beat the navy, which is one of the strongest teams in the east. Gipp and Bahan are stars in their class and will give the Cornhuskers no end of trouble.

Coaches Kline and Schissler were using Notre Dame formations and plays against the varsity last night in preparation for the fray next Thursday.

MEN NOT TO BE DISCHARGED NOW

Lieutenant F. J. O'Neil, adjutant, announced yesterday that a telegram had been received from Washington with reference to discharges from the S. A. T. C. According to the official announcement no individual requests would be accepted for resignation from the students' army training corps at this time.

A special request that no person send in his resignation has been made by the adjutant-general of the army, as such requests merely crowd the mails.

Announcement will be made through official channels should there be any change in the ruling.
