HOLD NOTRE DAME TO SCORELESS TIE

Huskies and Hoosiers Finish Thanksgiving Encounter Without a Single Score

Game is Largely a Punting Duel Between Dobson and Gipp

For sixty full minutes of interchanging punts and frequently bucking the line and circling the ends, neither the Notre Dame Hoosiers nor the Nebraska Cornhuskers were able to splutter through the mud for a single touchdown Thanksgiving afternoon, and the fourth annual dispute between the two schools resulted in a scoreless tie.

The gridiron very nearly resembled the pond in which Nebraska gave the Jayhawkers such a severe ducking about two weeks ago, and the Huskers' renowned punter, Paul Dobson, and the far-famed Notre Dame speed demons in the back field could not show their ability to any great advantage.

A light snow had fallen during the night and the crowd, which was not up to the Thanksgiving standard, was disappointed in the rather monotonous, uninteresting exhibition of football.

Huskies on Defensive

Statistics would give the Hoosiers the decision on points but the Cornhuskers played an entirely defensive game, punting out of danger rather than attempting to navigate the mud by smashing the line or to execute a pass with the slippery oval.

As the defensive tactics called for kicking almost entirely, Dobson's work at booting the ball shown out most conspicuously for the Huskers. He sent the oval on long flights on about fifteen occasions and demonstrated his supremacy over left half-back Gipp in the kicking end of the game. Hartley and Dobson did all the ball logging for Nebraska which amounted to only twenty yards.

The Cornhusker line lived up to its reputation as a rocky reef to any attempt to ride it and most of Notre Dame's gains were by way of the aerial route and around the ends. In fact 66 of the Hoosiers' 177 yards were acquired by passes from Gipp to Kiny and Barry.

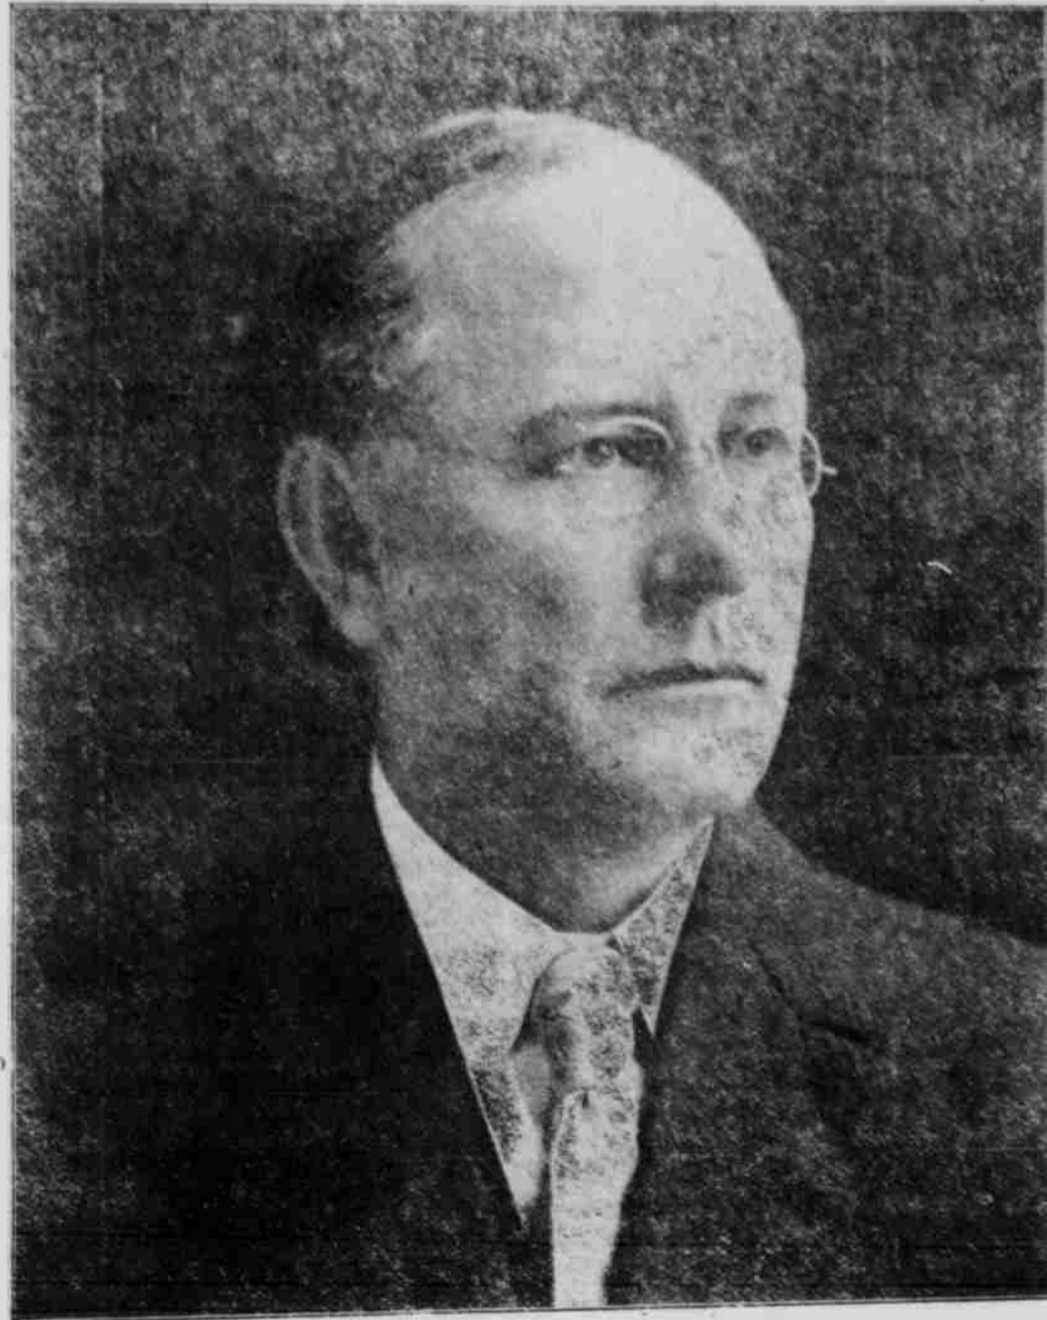

Gipp was the big gun of the opposition. He carried the ball 66 yards on fifteen missions, and did all the punting and forward passing for the Catholics. Lambear, Barry and Kirk drew a share of the honors, although none of them gained as much as 20 yards.

Notre Dame Outplays

The first quarter was Notre Dame's and the Catholics rushed the ball to Nebraska's twelve yard line and thereafter momentarily being set back by penalties and an intercepted pass by Lantz, squeezed Halfback Barry through the Nebraska defense for a touchdown, but the ball was called back and the Hoosiers penalized for holding. The quarter ended before they could get under way again.

The second quarter saw the ball in Notre Dame's territory almost entirely. Dobson's punting kept the enemy out of sight of the Husker goal and near the end of the half the home boys carried the battle as far as the Hoosiers' seven yard line. From here Gipp punted 25 yards to Lantz, who returned 26 yards to the ten yard line. A pass from Dobson to Swanson over the goal line failed just as the whistle blew.

During the third quarter, the Cornhuskers did not have the pigskin in their possession longer than to punt it right back and they kept it far into Hoosier land most of the time. Once

MAJOR SAMUEL AVERY
Nebraska's "War Chancellor"

Major Avery Resumes Duties as Chancellor of University

Head of University Returns to Nebraska After a Year's Absence

Will Direct the Policies of Reconstruction After Disbanding of S. A. T. C.

Major Samuel Avery, who has been in the employ of the government at Washington in the chemical warfare division of the war department since the latter part of February, has returned to Lincoln and will resume his duties this morning as chancellor of the university. He was honorably discharged from the army and is reinstated in his former office, which Dean W. G. Hastings of the college of law, has been filling during his absence.

Returns From Year's Absence

At the beginning of the second semester of last year, the chancellor was granted a leave of absence by the university board of regents to enter the service in the chemical branch of the war department. Chancellor Avery is a chemist of national reputation and he offered his services to the government for the aid he might be able to give. He went to Washington as a "dollar a year" man, receiving no compensation for his work. The board of regents voted that during the time of his absence he would remain in the pay of the university, as his duties at Washington were entirely voluntary. Later on he was commissioned a major, and has been serving in that capacity in the chemical department up till the present time. Since the armistice has been signed he has obtained his discharge in order to return to the university.

Back to Law College

Dean W. G. Hastings, who has been acting chancellor since Chancellor Avery's departure last year, will again take up his work as head of the college of law. Dean Hastings has been supervising the programs begun last year along the lines of construction and in regard to the student army training corps. Chancellor Avery will carry on the work of the university in disbanding the S. A. T. C. and beginning the reconstruction work.

the two teams returned punts on five consecutive plays. The Catholics shot two successful passes which netted them ten and twelve yards respectively.

Nothing at all spectacular took place in the final stanza, the ball remaining near the middle of the field most of the time.

Dana Severely Injured

Right Guard Dana had his right arm broken at the wrist in the first play of the game. Both bones were shattered and he was resting at the Lincoln sanitarium Saturday evening.

WAR AIMS COURSE TO BE CONTINUED

Although the S. A. T. C. will be demobilized, the war aims course will be continued, for those who wish to take it. Next semester the course will be open to the girls also, and regular university credit will be given both semesters.

If the order for demobilization had not come, the governments of the various European countries would have been studied next. As it is, the peace seems will probably be discussed for the next few weeks, so that the boys who will drop out of the course may have the benefit of this discussion. Later the course will probably be carried out as originally planned, and the political ideas of the various nations will be considered then.

As yet no plans have been formulated for the reorganization of the course. The instructors who will continue the course have not been decided upon.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION GIRLS ANNOUNCE PLANS

The normal physical education girls held their first meeting of the year in the Armory Wednesday noon. Eight new girls have joined the department this year and were properly initiated. The new instructors were also made welcome.

Mrs. Clapp announced that the gymnasium was soon to be cleared and the girls received the news with cheers. The influenza vacation having made soccer impossible for this fall, the girls are more than anxious to begin the basketball season.

Inter-schools, rainbow and inter-class tournaments will be held again this year. There are prospects of some very good teams and some close competition.

The following officers of the girls' physical education department were elected for the year: President, Marjorie Barstow; vice-president, Fae Beusse; secretary-treasurer, Ruth and Ruby Swenson.

DEMAND UNIFORMS FOR S. A. T. C. MEN

University Senate Urges That Student Soldiers be Fully Equipped Before Demobilization

Officials Believe it Impossible to Issue Uniforms and Discharge Men at Same Time

The university senate at their meeting held Saturday morning adopted resolutions requesting that uniforms be issued to the men of the student army training corps at the University of Nebraska before the unit is demobilized. University authorities feel that the good name of the university will be jeopardized if the student soldiers are allowed to disband without having first received the uniforms to which they are entitled as members of the regular army.

Change to Semester Plan

At the same time members of the senate voted in favor of re-establishing the former semester plan in place of the term basis which was instated the first of the year. The annual Christmas vacation will be reduced to one week, starting December 21 and closing December 28. The remainder of the schedule will be followed out in its original form with the week for final examinations immediately preceding the opening of the second semester which will be February 3. The senate also decided that S. A. T. C. men who leave school upon the demobilization of the unit will be given proportionate credit for all work which they were carrying satisfactorily at the time of their withdrawal from school.

Appeal to War Department

In view of the unsatisfactory conditions regarding uniforms which have prevailed at the local unit, officials are especially urgent in requesting the war department to stand behind their agreement in this matter. S. A. T. C. men have been forced to wear their civilian clothes while members of the unit and should the corps be disbanded before uniforms are given out they will face the unpleasant necessity of buying clothes which they should have received while in training.

Drake Thinks it Impossible

Captain Leslie G. Drake, commandant of the university troops, when interviewed Saturday evening, said that it would be an impossibility to distribute the uniforms before the men were mustered out, especially in view of the large amount of work incident to the discharge work. "I realize," said Capt. Drake, "that the men have waited patiently for their equipment, but the government would be put to a great expense at this time by their issuance." The captain admitted that the four cars of equipment had been sent back to the quartermaster's depot in Omaha, after their arrival. Thanksgiving day.

Situation Presents Problem

The situation presents a complex problem at this time. Present orders direct the completion of demobilization not later than December 21. The work of discharging the men and issuing uniforms at the same time cannot be completed then, army officials declare, and even should uniforms be given out the short period of time during which they may be worn would not justify the expense of their issuance. The opinion of the S. A. T. C. men is divided. Some think they should be given uniforms, others are too well pleased with prospects of their early discharge to worry about the matter.

The Resolution

The resolution adopted by the senate follows:

Whereas, literature distributed by the United States government and at the sanction of the government prior to the establishment of a unit of Section "A" of the S. A. T. C. in the University of Nebraska promised that
