VOL. XVIII. NO. 58

UNIVERSITY OF NEBRASKA, LINCOLN, TUESDAY, DECEMBER 17, 1918

PRICE FIVE CENTS

ONE HUNDRED YET TO BE DISCHARGED

All Men Discharged from Service Except Few Cases of Sickness

Authorities Trying to Get Coats for Men Who Were Discharged Without Them

All but one hundred men of the university S. A. T. C. unit, have now been discharged from the service. Those remaining can not be discharged at the present time because of sickness, and will be transferred to some permanent camp if they have not recovered by December 21st. Officials have stated that about half of the men who are sick will be discharged before the end of the week.

Following the dismissal of the privates in the university training corps, the lieutenants are now being discharged. Many of them are from other universities in the middle west, and are returning to their several colleges. Captain Drake, however, will remain at the university for some time, and will be the last member of the S. A. T. C. to leave the post. Many minor details enter into the work of the final windup of military affairs, and it is probable that the captain will be at the university for a month or more.

Some Discharged Without Uniforms

One hundred men at the farm camps have been discharged without their uniforms because of the shortage that was discovered as the last of the uniforms were given out. University authorities are trying to induce the proper government officials to send coats for the men, and if it is within their power, the coats will be forthcoming for the men. Vice-Chancellor Hastings sent a letter to the quartermaster's department in Omaha Monday morning, one to Minneapolis, and one to Secretary Baker at Washington.

A large number of the men who have been demobilized during the past week have returned to their homes, some with the intention of returning the second semester, but many have seen the last of their college days. It is believed that about fifty per cent of the men will return to college, while the other fifty per cent will resume work on farms or accept positions in which they were employed before coming to the university.

FAIR CO-EDS ENDURE TRIALS OF DOUGHBOYS

Six Nebraska co-eds proved that they were capable of enduring any amount of marching that regular hardened doughboys could when they packed their few belongings and a hunk of bacon into a handkerchief and resolutely set out over the salt bottoms west of Lincoln, about 10 o'clock Sunday morning, for Raymond.

We've heard tales of suffragettes trudging miles and miles, but there were always some who fell by the way-side. The plucky Husker girls all stuck it out the whole twenty miles and found their way back to Lincoln before dark, at 5:15 o'clock.

A large number of the Phys Ed girls declared their intention of going on the long, long hike, but when it came to crawling out of their warm beds and dressing for a long tramp, all but the immortal six got cold feet and had to remain in bed to keep them from freezing.

The co-eds who now have a twenty-mile hike to their credit and feel the better for the long stroll, are: Frances Keller, Martha Hoffner, Ruth Hutton, Irene Springer, Mary Shepard and Gertrude Lehr.

HUSKER MAT ARTISTS MEET THIS AFTERNOON

Cornhusker mat artists are summoned to meet at the athletic director's office this afternoon, December 17, at 3 o'clock. According to advance dope, the padded mat and wrestling tights are not going to take a back seat to any other sport personage this winter. Nebraska has developed some wonderful wrestlers in former years, and this announcement opens up the field for the huskies who are inclined to exhibit their skill on the padded mat.

AWGWAN BEGINS DRIVE FOR STUDENT SUPPORT

University Comic Launches Subscription Campaign—Co-eds Compete for Prize

Awgwan, the university's comic magazine, which is this week conducting an extensive subscription campaign, announced a total of 300 new subscriptions for Monday. With a dozen or more co-eds competing for the prize, which is a bound volume of this year's Awgwan with the winner's name embossed, an interesting and lively campaign is booked for the rest of the week.

Harold Weeth, business manager of the Awgwan, is directing the drive with the aim of placing the magazine in the hands of every university student. Girls will solicit the entire campus this week in an effort to secure a subscription list which will assure the management the unvarnished support of the student body, both financially and in the way of appreciation.

The Awgwan is the most striking and most popular humorous college paper in the middle west. It has an individuality quite lacking in other papers and covers a field which is a vital and interesting part of college life. Campus chatter, clever cartoons, snappy editorials—everything which is a reflection of campus life, is here presented in an original and attractive way. The form of the Awgwan is similar to the national magazines, Life and Judge, which in their columns often contain extracts from the university monthly.

The paper is published under the direction of Sigma Delta Chi, journalistic fraternity. Herman Thomas, '20, is editor-in-chief, Dwight Kirsch, '19, is managing editor, and Harold Weeth, '20, is business manager.

The first issue of this year's book will be out on January 1, and will be followed by five others, which will appear monthly. The subscription price of the magazine is 75 cents.

A large circulation outside the university is indicated this year. Many student soldiers who are leaving school are asking to receive the paper as a means of keeping in touch with the brighter side of college life.

RECONSTRUCTION COURSES TO BE GIVEN AT KANSAS

Several new courses are being given in the history department next semester. One course in "War, Peace and Reconstruction" will be given by Prof. E. E. Melvin and other members of the department. Another course will be offered by Prof. H. C. Chubb on "Greater European Governments." This will include a discussion of the governments in the war autocracy on one side and democracy on the other. "There is a movement all over the country to develop courses dealing with problems of war, peace and reconstruction," said Dean Patterson, "and the history department is unanimous in the desire to offer students a course dealing with these fundamental world problems."

BASKET BALL MEET GOES TO SAILORS

Company C Defaults Last Game to Have Been Played Yesterday

Navy and Company C Have Clean Record of Games Actually Played

The call of HOME triumphed over duty yesterday afternoon and the Company C quintet of basket shooters who were billed to engage the Navy "gobs" in the finals of the inter-company basketball tournament, failed to show their faces at the gym door, so the championship of the S. A. T. C. was awarded to the sailors by default.

The tars are still sticking around the barracks, awaiting their releases while the doughboys have nearly all hiked for their homes, and not a vestige of the runners-up could be found on the premises for the battle Monday afternoon.

The inter-company basketball league was inaugurated under the auspices of the "N" club and Secretary Healey of the army Y. M. C. A. last Thursday afternoon, and it was to be completed and the championship be awarded Monday, but on account of the demobilization of the soldiers, which started Friday morning, the plans could not be carried out. The Navy quintet defeated Company A in the opening number of the scramble by a score of 16 to 10, and Company C defeated Company D by a count of 15 to 12, in the second number.

Company A forfeited its game to Company C, and the Navy tars drubbed Company B, Friday afternoon, in the second round of the tourney. This left the sailors and Company C tied for the final honors, and on account of the sickness of Captain Bailey, of the Navy team, the finals were postponed from Saturday until Monday, but when the time came for the initial toss-up only the Jacks were on hand and they copped the pennant.

Final standing of teams:

	Won	Lost	Pct.
Navy	3	0	.1000
Company C	2	1	.666
Company B	0	1	.000
Company D	0	1	.000
Company A	0	2	.000

Chorus Supper

The chorus will meet this afternoon at 5 o'clock for rehearsal in Memorial hall instead of in Art hall. After rehearsal, supper will be served, following which there will be a party.

PAN-HELLENIC COUNCIL UNDECIDED ON FORMALS

Board Postpones Final Settlement of Question Until Thursday Meeting

Probable that Sororities Will Return to Custom of the Annual Formal

Formals and their effects were considered at a meeting of the Pan-Hellenic council Monday afternoon. This was the first time that the question has been brought up before the council since formal parties were discontinued last year, and considerable discussion took place. No definite decision was made, the matter being left for a vote at the next meeting, which will be held Thursday at 5 o'clock.

The question, as it was presented, was whether or not the sororities should return to the custom of having formal parties, which prevailed at the university in former years. Some of the delegates had already talked the matter over with their sororities and had the opinion of part of the girls. But at the meeting was more for the

R. J. SAUNDERS REPORTED AS MISSING IN ACTION

Raymond J. Saunders, '17, of Red Cloud, Nebr., is reported missing in action in France while piloting a scout plane. No official report confirming or denying his death has been made by the war department.

Saunders was a member of the Innocents in school and was very prominent in all branches of activities. He was captain of the band in his senior year and manager of university week. The missing aviator was a member of the Kappa Sigma fraternity and of Kosmet Klub.

NAVAL RELEASES START COMING IN FROM LAKES

All Men Out on Dec. 20—Sailors Ask Further Action on Uniforms Question

Forty-six releases from active duty were received at naval headquarters yesterday and others are expected today. The releases are dated December 20, at which time the men's pay will stop. None of them will be let out of active service until this date.

The release papers state on them that the men are merely put on inactive duty and that they are subject to call at any time that it is found necessary to use them. Men placed on the inactive list are also required to keep the commandant of their district informed of their address.

Ensign Webber, in charge of the company, is doing his best at this time to make the men feel better toward the service in which they are enlisted. He has revised entirely the daily program.

First call in the morning is now at 6:45 a. m. Three formations are held each day at 7 a. m., 11:50 a. m., and 5:50 p. m. Men are given liberty each evening from 6 to 12 p. m. Men are expected to attend classes and work on special details, if necessary.

Guards are being kept at the barracks for the purpose of protecting all property.

The question of obtaining uniforms has again been taken up with university officials and further action is expected on the matter. A petition, signed by all members of the company who have not received uniforms, requests that either financial compensation or uniforms be given to them.

S. A. T. C. MEN SIGN AT COLLEGE BOOK STORE

It is desired that all S. A. T. C. and S. N. T. C. men sign their names on a list at the College Book store before leaving school. These names are for the students' directory and should be gotten in before Thursday of this week.

The committee in charge of the directory are anxious to get the names of all men, regardless of whether they are leaving school or not.

Y. W. C. A. Vespers

Y. W. C. A. vespers will be held at 5 p. m., today at the hostess house in the Temple building. Mrs. Evangeline Long Pope will give a program of Christmas music.

FRATS TO RETURN TO FORMER LIFE

Old Members Plan to Resume Work at University During Second Semester

New Houses Are Rented and Bright Future Is Ahead for College Greeks

The storm of battle is past, the war clouds are rolling off into the dimness of the horizon and the sun of fraternity life is once more rising over the campus of the University of Nebraska. For over a year and a half, the home life of fraternities has been anything but what a freshman is led to expect and what is now past history. In the good old days before the war, when there were no harassing questions to distract the student, and when life rang along like a song, fraternity life was a part of college. But during the past two years, ever since the United States started in to win, the university has been barren of the joys that are a vital thing in the life of the fraternity. But now that a normal condition is settling over the university, with this disbanding of the S. A. T. C. and the return of men from other camps in the United States and from overseas, fraternities will come into their own.

Frat Houses Reopen

Several houses have been reopened and the men have moved in from the barracks. Others who gave up their houses at the beginning of the school year and had club rooms down town will open new houses after the holidays or the first of next semester. The Phi Kappa Psi have rented their house for the rest of the year, and the members will continue next semester, the plan of boarding at the house. Ralph M. Thorpe who is in the coast artillery at Fortress Monroe, will receive his commission before returning to school. Calloway Vandecar from Camp McArthur, will be in school next semester. William Richardson has already returned, and Lyman Meade, and Perry Branch, Floyd Wright, George Stone, and John Fike are expected later.

Sigma Nu will vacate their club rooms in the Liberty building in the next week and are expecting to move into their old house at 2530 Q street. Only about a dozen men will continue in school for the remainder of the semester.

"MESSIAH" TO BE GIVEN AT XMAS CONVOCATION

The university chorus will give its annual presentation of Handel's oratorio, "The Messiah," in Memorial hall, Friday morning, at 9 o'clock. "The Messiah" has been presented every year for twenty-four years as the Christmas convocation, and has become almost a tradition. It is especially welcome this year, as it will be the first musical convocation since the opening of school. Classes will be dismissed from 9 to 10 o'clock.

The singing will be accompanied by strings and organ. The soloists are: Vera Augusta Upton, soprano; Maud Fender Gutzmer, contralto; Charles H. Bagley, tenor. The orchestra is composed of Edward J. Walt, first violin; Jesse Wilkins, second violin; Wm. Quick, viola; Lillian Elche, cello; Mark Pierce, double bass; Louise Zumwinkle, organ. Mrs. Carrie B. Raymond, director of the chorus, will conduct the music.

Some one said that everything would be dated from today. Guess why?
