1919 CORNHUSKER PLANS ANNOUNCED

Issues Call for Freshman Assistants—Rare Opportunity for First Year Men

Original Sections to Supplant Those of Former Years—Work Has Commenced

Robert Wenger, editor-in-chief of the 1919 Cornhusker, announces that work on the annual has commenced and that the policies and general outlines of the publication are rapidly being formulated. Although no official announcement of the Cornhusker staff will be made until after the holidays, nearly all positions have been filled and the work will begin in earnest directly after students return from the Christmas recess.

The management of the Cornhusker is initiating a new and unique policy this year as regards the manner in which students wishing to work on the Cornhusker, will receive their appointments. Those expecting to work on the Cornhusker with the view of possibly being editor-in-chief in their senior year, will start in their freshman year by learning the details connected with the publication of such a book.

The work of the freshmen will be largely routine, but will give them the necessary foundation to handle the larger problems in the third and fourth year work. At the end of the first year, the editor will select three of the freshmen who have done the best work and recommend them for the position of junior managing editor. This is an elective position, and a member of the sophomore class is chosen each year to serve in that capacity during his junior year. The junior managing editor is then the logical candidate for the editor-in-chief because during his junior year he has had the opportunity to work with the editor, and has learned all the secrets connected with getting out the university annual.

Call for Freshmen

The editor of the Cornhusker has issued a call for freshman assistants for the 1919 year book, and asks that all first year men interested in the work, call at the Cornhusker office this afternoon between one and five o'clock. Six freshmen will be selected for the work, and their names will be announced with the rest of the staff in the first issue of the Daily Nebraskan after vacation. This is an unusual opportunity for freshmen, as they have never had the chance in former years to work on the Cornhusker. The new policy to be adopted is in use in all the larger colleges and universities of the east, where it is a great honor to work on the college annual. Men start in their first year to compete with each other for the more important positions of the junior and senior years.

New Features for Annual

A departure will be made this year

UNIVERSITY STUDENTS CELEBRATE THIS WEEK

University students are getting a few of the joys of Christmas somewhat prematurely this week. Because of the fact that most of the men and women will return to out-of-town homes next week, many university organizations are holding holiday celebrations this week.

Fraternities and sororities are enjoying big dinners at the houses. Most of them are upholding their ancient custom of having a Christmas tree and giving presents from Woolworth's popular stock.

The regular week end parties promise to be crowded to the limit as most of the men wish to have one more good time in a real social way before "hitting the trail back to the little red station" for a nice quiet visit with the home folks.

from some of the time worn policies and precedents of former years, in the make-up of the Cornhusker. Several of the sections that have been the features of bygone days will be omitted, and in their stead will be placed new and original sections. The book will be larger than ever before, and will embody a wealth of interesting and pertinent material. The military feature will take an important place this year, and a section devoted to traditions, will add much to the sentiment of the book, making it all the more dear to the hearts of students, who keep and treasure their Cornhuskers, as a vital part of their university life.

UNIVERSITY NIGHT PLANS UNDER WAY

Stunts Being Arranged for Tenth Annual Affair—Program Completed After Christmas

Y. M. C. A. Probably Not to Manage Event This Year—Promises to be Best Ever Held

University Night, that one time in the whole college year when the student may do exactly as he likes, and say exactly what he pleases, is once more appearing on the horizon. Some time in March, the tenth annual University Night will be held in the city auditorium. This affair which consists of campus impersonations and clever skits is a real tradition of the university and a part of the college life which every student loves to remember in after years.

University Night was originated nine years ago by the University Y. M. C. A. and every year since that time, the student body has lived in anticipation of this relished bit of fun for weeks and weeks in advance of the actual affair. Its popularity has increased with the successive pleasurable evenings.

To Eclipse Former Years

Because it is to eclipse all other years in originality and ingenuity, plans are already under way to prepare a program worthy of the occasion. The committee desires that all organizations who will present skits begin work on them at once. A good plan would be for the time during the holidays to be spent in racking of brains for new and individual ideas, for the working up of some real impersonations. This is the one night in the year when literally speaking, the student has absolute free speech, and some of the faculty are usually given a chance to see themselves as others see them.

Skits Submitted After Holidays

Soon after Christmas the Daily Nebraskan will announce the committee which will have charge of the plans for the program. All skits must be presented for approval some time early in February. The sooner they can be turned over to the committee, the better University Night will be.

"MIKE" SELZER STAR OF AVIATORS' GRID TEAM

Lieutenant "Mike" Selzer, '17, former Cornhusker football star, has returned from Chanute Field, Illinois, where he has been in the aviation service, and is making a short visit at the Phi Kappa Psi house.

Recently, Chanute field football players defeated their brother aviators from Scott field in a peppery game from Illinois field 6 to 0. The lone score of the game came in the last five minutes of play, when Selzer, left half-back in the Chanute lineup, went over for a touchdown. His many friends at the University will be glad to learn that despite his "going up in the air" on many occasions of late, he still knows how to play football and play it well.

WAGE DRIVE FOR RED CROSS TODAY

Committee Sets Goal at $1000 and One Hundred Per Cent Membership

Appeal This Year Greater Than Ever Before—Drive to Close Friday Noon

One hundred per cent and over the top in the annual Red Cross membership drive is the goal of the campaign workers at the university of Nebraska. At eight o'clock this morning the movement to canvass the entire student body of the university was launched on the campus. The campaign will last until Friday noon in order that everyone may be given an opportunity to subscribe. Twenty-five girls will have the buttons for sale. The price of each button is one dollar. The purchase of one of them entitles the wearer to one year's membership in the national organization of Red Cross.

The committee in charge of the campaign has set one thousand dollars as the goal to be reached by Friday noon. As this will be the last time this year that students will be asked for any war subscriptions, that quota should be easily filled. The United War Work Campaign included all other organizations in one big total. The university went on record for an oversubscription then, and will go on another such record at the end of this week.

Call Is Very Urgent

This year more than ever before, there is need for support for this merciful organization. The boys who have gone to France have given their all for the sake of justice and humanity. Some of them, appalling numbers when figured up, are returning to this country badly wounded. These boys must be taken care of, and the money which was raised last year has been nearly exhausted by the continual drain upon it for relief work in France and at the cantonments. So everyone should make it a point to answer ready to the 1919 roll call of Red Cross.

Faculty Committee at Work

The committee members of the faculty division for the various buildings on the campus are as follows:

University Hall—Prof. W. H. Caldwell.
Library Hall—Dr. Winifred Hyde.
Administration and Pharmacy—Max Westerman.
Mechanical Arts Building—Prof. W. C. Brenke.
Mechanical Engineering—Prof. L. F. Seaton.
Bessey Hall—Prof. R. J. Pool.
Chemistry Building—Prof. Fred W. Upson.
Temple—Prof. Staley.
Electrical Engineering—Prof. V. L. Hollister.
Physics Laboratory—Prof. L. B. Tuckerman.
Law Building—Prof. John Senning.
Museum—Prof. E. H. Barbour.
Armory—Dr. R. G. Clapp.

SAILOR'S PAY CHECKS RECEIVED WEDNESDAY

Men Enlisted Oct. 3 to be Paid Fifty Dollars—More Release Certificates Arrive

Pay checks for one hundred and fifty sailors were received yesterday by Ensign Webber and will be distributed at the time of their release. This money is for apprentice-seamen who have been in the service about two and a half months. Further pay will probably be sent the men at a later date.

More release papers also came in this morning. Over half of the papers have now been received and the others are expected today and tomorrow. All necessary data has been collected and nothing but the arrival of all release certificates is awaited.

No uniforms are now expected. The men are receiving fifty dollars for the services to the government and from this amount they are paying for clothes which they have worn since they enlisted, for board and lodging for over two weeks and for blankets that have been stolen from them.

Clothes will probably be issued to the men although no practical use can be made of them. Something less than half of the men are expecting to return to school after vacation.

CHORUS TO PRESENT HANDEL'S "MESSIAH"

Twenty-fourth Annual Presentation of Famous Oratorio Friday Morning

Talented Orchestra to Assist—Classes Excused for Xmas Convocation

The university chorus will present Handel's oratorio, "The Messiah," with strings and organ accompaniment, in Memorial Hall Friday morning at nine. "The Messiah" has been given annually for twenty-four years as the Christmas convocation. This is the first musical program of the school year. Classes will be dismissed from nine to ten o'clock.

Practice on the oratorio has been going on for several weeks and the music promises to be excellent. Several members of the chorus, however, who were in the S. A. T. C. have gone home since its disbanding, thus leaving the male parts of the chorus a little weak.

Talented Orchestra Participates

The orchestra represents a collection of the best talent in Lincoln. Edward J. Walt, first violinist, is the leader.

The soloists are Vera Augusta Upton, soprano; Maud Fender Gutzmer, contralto; Charles H. Bagley, tenor. The orchestra is composed of Edward J. Walt, first violin; Jessie Wilkins, second violin; Wm. Quick, viola; Lillian Elche, cello; Mark Pierce, double bass; Louise Zumwinkle, organ. Mrs. Carrie B. Raymond, director of the chorus, will conduct the music.

The program follows:

Tenor Recitative, "Comfort Ye My People."
Tenor Aria, "Ev'ry Valley Shall Be Exalted"
Chorus, "And the Glory of the Lord Shall Be Revealed"
Pastoral Symphony
Strings and Organ
Soprano Recitative
"There Were Shepherds Abiding in the Field"
"And Lo the Angel of the Lord"
"And the Angel Said Unto Them"
"And Suddenly There Was with the Angel"
Chorus, "Glory to God in the Highest"
Contralto Recitative, "Then Shall the Eyes of the Blind"
Contralto Air, "He Shall Feed His Flock"
Soprano Air, "Come unto Him"
Chorus, "Hallelujah"

Complain of Muddy Walks—Much complaint has been voiced by students, in regard to the muddy condition of the side-walks on both sides of the new social science and teachers' buildings. Recently the dirt, which had accumulated from extensive hauling was removed and the side-walks were made visible again. Since that time, however, excavation has been started for the laying of heating-pipes from the city campus to the new buildings. The result is that the walks are almost completely submerged again in places and since the recent rain pedestrians have been given a real taste of "Flanders mud".

FUNSTON MAY PAY HUSKERS A VISIT

Dr. Stewart Proposes That the Kansas Soldiers Come Up and Stay All Next Week

Ten Candidates Battle for Berths on the Varsity—No New Bookings for Trip

Even before the Cornhuskers make their initial swing into Iowa and Illinois territory next month, the Nebraska basket flippers will probably see some real service here on their own floor, if negotiations between Dr. Stewart and the basketball coach at Camp Funston pan out satisfactorily. The Nebraska athletic director received a telegram from the Funston coach yesterday asking for a couple of games with the Huskers. He stated that they were putting a team in the field again this year and wanted some big games for their schedule in order to keep up the morale of the men around camp.

Doctor Stewart sent a reply last night suggesting that the Funston tossers come up and visit the Cornhusker camp next Monday for a week or so, in which time they would get in a week of solid practice and wind up with a couple of matches before the sporting public.

Huskies Need Practice

The Huskers are in need of a great deal of stiff practice to shape them for the formal opening of the season against the Hawkeyes at Iowa City, January 3, and Doc Stewart was only too willing to snatch up the Funston offer.

Wednesday's drill was devoted mostly to developing team work, shooting baskets and handling the ball on a fast floor. Ten candidates were working on the varsity squad and all were showing up well. Hubka, Jackson and Shellenberg from last year's regulars were tearing things up and Neumann, Howarth, Lanphere, Patty, Gillilan, Gardner and Busch were also performing like regular basket tossers. Gillilan and Neumann exhibited exceptional class but Howarth, Patty and Gardner were not entirely out of the limelight.

Dr. Stewart had no new announcements concerning further bookings for the opening trip starting at Iowa City but the jaunt will probably include games farther north and east.

CHRISTMAS VACATION COMMENCES SATURDAY

Vacation for the holidays will begin Saturday, December 21, at 6 p. m. and last until Saturday, December 21, at 6 p. m. Practically all university students will find it possible to return home for this period of time. School will be held on New Year's day, the same as it was last year.

The week's vacation seems to be very acceptable to the S. A. T. C. men who expected to be in the service at this time and who were promised but one day leave of absence from the post.

The influenza epidemic which for a time threatened the continuance of school for the rest of the semester seems to have subsided a great deal and school conditions are practically normal again.
