PRICE FIVE CENTS

CAPT FRANKFORTER BEGINS WORK HERE

Three Hundred and Fifty Registered for Military Science Last Week

Captain Drake and Lieut. Murphy Remain—Drill Courses Begin Tonight

Captain C. J. Frankforter, former professor of chemistry of the university, today assumed his duties as commandant of the R. O. T. C. He has just been released from the chemical warfare division of the army.

The new commandant was commissioned a captain in the infantry at the officers' training camp at Fort Snelling. After some time in the infantry, he was transferred to the chemical division because of the great demand for men in this line of work.

phy are still being retained at this post. They have received no instructions regarding their retirement from duty with this unit.

The enrollment in the R. O. T. C. up to Saturday evening at five o'clock, when registration closed, showed 352 men on the city campus had signed up for military work. A large number of students are registering this week and it is expected that the total will be increased by at least one hundred.

Organize Wednesday

Organization of the unit was attempted Monday evening but a large number of men failed to report so that the complete organization was postponed until Wednesday at five o'clock. Every man registered for military science 5, 6, or 8, must report this evening. Those registered in military science 1, 2, 3, or 4, are to report Wednesday evening. Instructions for the semester's work will be given at this time.

Captain Frankforter is hoping that

PUBLIC EXHIBITION OF FAMOUS PICTURES SUNDAY

The art gallery is open every Sunday afternoon from three to six and it is hoped to have a concert by the orchestra each week. Two paintings by Edmond Osthaus, the famous painter of dogs, have just been hung, and will be a leading feature of Sunday's exhibit.

The fine arts school is planning an exhibit of Carroll Beckwith's reproductions of ancient and modern masters, hand copies in oil. The pictures are extraordinary and very instructive to the student of art. They will afterwards be sent to various points of interest in the state, going first to Peru, where they will be shown at the normal school under the auspices of the Fortnightly club.

Patience May Be a Virtue, But It Ceases To Be Such Saturday

Job was patient, or at least he didn't mind waiting; Saint Patrick was a good bluffer for he fooled the Irish, and there never yet was a worm or a lane that didn't at some time turn.

Now the Cornhusker staff has Job looking like a street car motorman and Saint Patrick like a debutante, but the lane and the worm have a closer claim to relationship for their "turns" have come. Long, long ago a call was issued for junior and senior likenesses to proudly display in the Victory Annual. "They must be in by the end of this week," said the staff, while in their hearts they knew that that was just two weeks earlier than was necessary. The juniors and seniors lived up to the fondest expectations of those in charge and but very few pictures were in at the end of the time stated.

Then the staff, with great magnanimity, extended the limit two more weeks—thereby exhausting their reserve fund of "ample time"—and frankly and truthfully told the public that it would be very inconvenient to have the pictures delayed after that. Well, the world progressed as it ever has—at the expense of time and when the two weeks had passed, but one hundred juniors had done their part, though elaborate post-cards were sent to remind the slackers, and most of the senior pictures were in. Then the staff—out of kindness of their hearts and their love for the juniors—granted for a third time—what they could not well afford—a two-week extension. During this time they called up the delinquents and asked for explanations. They were many and varied. The girl who was having trouble with a wisdom tooth and was suffering with a swollen jaw was advised to have a profile taken and the man who couldn't wear a collar on account of the boil on his neck was told to borrow one of the sailors' middies. Any others who are sorely puzzled will find sympathetic help and advice at the Cornhusker office.

When the daylight of next Saturday afternoon fades the gong will sound and all those who have not passed under the wire will not see their faces in the year book. "Breathes there a man with a soul so dead—?" Get busy, juniors and seniors, it's really up to you, you know!

BIG SAVING IN ATHLETIC FINANCES FOR NEXT YEAR

Stewart Secures Substantial Reduction in Guarantees to Visiting Football Teams

Through slashing reductions in the financial guarantees to the visiting teams on next season's football schedule, the board of regents, with the co-operation of Coach Stewart, have saved over $7,000. Moreover, Nebraska has lined up the strongest set of games ever and the gate receipts should be much higher than the average.

In 1917 the visiting teams were given the following financial guarantees:

Notre Dame	$ 4,500
Syracuse	5,000
Iowa	3,500
Missouri	3,000
Wesleyan	250
Total	$16,250

The 1919 contracts are as follows:

Notre Dame	$ 2,500
Syracuse	3,500
Ames	1,000
Kansas	700
Oklahoma	1,500
Total	$ 9,200

These figures make the financial outlook for next season look especially bright. Here is a clear saving of $7,000, but this is only part of the story. The substitution of Oklahoma for Wesleyan strengthens the schedule immensely and should prove a big drawing card. Another advantage from a financial standpoint is the fact that our three foreign games are all big and will draw large. Next season we tackle Minnesota, Missouri and Iowa on their own ground, while in 1917 Michigan and Kansas furnished the only foreign dates. The slicing of the contract guarantees to almost half, coupled with the strongest football schedule in her history, should make Nebraska's 1919 season a sparkling financial success.

MAJOR STOUT EXPECTED TO RETURN IN FEW DAYS

A letter received by the chancellor from Dean O. V. P. Stout, who has been stationed with the 309th engineers near Washington, D. C., announces that he will arrive in Lincoln in a few days and will resume his work in the engineering college.

It was expected that Major Stout would return soon to the university. As soon as the armistice was signed he made an attempt to get a discharge from the army but was not successful until last week.

JONES TO TALK ON PEACE PROBLEMS AT OMAHA HIGH

Professor Guernsey Jones will deliver a series of public lectures in Omaha Central high school on the problems of peace. The lectures are delivered every Tuesday afternoon. Students, teachers and the public attend. Last Tuesday the subject was "The Russian Revolution and the Bolshevik Menace." This week Professor Jones will speak on "The Social Democratic Revolution in Germany."

The subjects for the ensuing lectures are:

- "Austro-Hungaria in Exertmis. Bohemia, Jugo-Slavia the Problem of the Adriatic."
- "The Dissolution of Turkey, Syria and Palestine."
- "Africa and the German Colonies."
- "The Future of India."
- "The Pan-German Madness."
- "The League of Nations."
- "The Orient."
- "What's Up in Ireland?"

Memorial for Col. Roosevelt

In honor of the great American upon whom the university conferred the degree of Doctor of Civil Law in 1917, a memorial convocation will be held next Monday morning at eleven in the Armory. Classes will be dismissed so that all may have the opportunity to pay homage to Theodore Roosevelt.

Governor McKelvie has accepted the invitation of the university to deliver an address. Regent Frank W. Judson will speak and there will be special music.

"A DOLL HOUSE" TO BE GIVEN BY UNI STUDENTS

Dramatic Club Gives Ibsen's Play Thursday Evening at Temple Theatre

The Dramatic club will present Henrik Ibsen's play, "A Doll House," Thursday evening at the Temple theatre. This is the first presentation that the university dramatists have made this year.

Miss Ethel Hartley is directing the play. Leonard Woolen as Torvald and Lea Lipsey as Norma Helmer, play the leading roles. The other characters are these:

Mr. Krogstad	Mark Johnson
Dr. Rank	Alfred Hinze
Mrs. Linden	Irma Wolfe
Anna	Genevieve Addleman
Ellen	Stella Mae Lewellen

The theme of the play is much more serious than the name would indicate. The story of the play runs as follows:

Norma Helmer had never been allowed to live her own life. Her father made a pet of her. To her husband she was merely a doll—a plaything, not a wife. Her three children were something to amuse her. She did not

UNIVERSITY Y. M. C. A. IS READY TO RESUME WORK

Return of Officers and Cabinet Members Gives New Life to Organization

With the return of the many ex-service men to school, the university Y. M. C. A. is beginning to take new life. At the first of the year the university "Y" was supplanted by the army organization. Practically all of the officers and members of the original cabinet were in some branch of the service.

With the return of William F. Urbach, general secretary, from Camp Hancock last Friday, the list of officers is practically complete. The "Y" has already begun work about school. They have charge of university night and work on it is progressing rapidly.

Walter H. Judd, president, is planning the formation of a new cabinet immediately. Meetings will be commenced again as soon as this is done.

Fred Alden, the industrial secretary, has charge of shops and industrial workers. He is making an extended program of work which he intends to carry out in the next few months.

Healy Remains Athletic Director

W. D. Healy, who was very active in arranging athletic carnivals and gym events of all kinds during the existence of the S. A. T. C., is still busy with this work. He has charge of staging all athletic programs outside of university athletics.

Lawrence Slater, employment secretary, has been engaged for the past week in obtaining jobs for men going to school. Any men who need outside employment during the school term can obtain help from Secretary Slater.

BIG TIME PLANNED FOR FRIDAY SCRAP

To Be Closed Night So Everyone Can Help Pack the Armory for Washington Tussle

Admission Lowered to Twenty-five Cents Which Includes Dance After Basketball Game

Standing of the Teams

	W.	L.	Pct.
Missouri	6	0	1.000
Nebraska	4	2	.667
Grinnell	1	1	.500
Ames	2	3	.400
Kansas	1	3	.250
Drake	1	4	.200
Washington	0	2	.000
Kansas Aggies	0	0	.000

With the two Drake games neatly canned and placed on the shelf, one canned sweet and the other canned sour, Doc Stewart's wax floor artists are turning their attention towards the big Washington games on the Armory floor next Friday and Saturday, Feb. 7 and 8.

Washington is touted as one of the strongest aggregations of basket tossers in the Missouri valley conference despite the fact that she is bringing up the rear in the percentage table at this juncture of the season. Her star center, Marqued, who measures clear of the six foot mark, was the main reason for the Huskers' defeats at the hands of the Rutherford quintet last year when they dropped the first game by a score of 44 to 17 and the second by a count of 23 to 9. This man Marqued was the unanimous choice for all-valley center at the end of last season and he is back in full force this year.

Friday Night a Closed Night

Friday night has been declared a closed night in university circles by Dean Amanda Heppner and the authorities want to see the old gymnasium packed to the skylights with effervescent Cornhusker supporters. So far, the crowds at the basketball games haven't been big enough to fill one corner of a ping-pong ball and the management has been forced to add a free dance to the evening's bill in order to draw a crowd of any dimensions.

Friday evening will also contain a finale in the nature of a jazz treat, but it will eclipse any of the barn dances heretofore. The girls' athletic association has promised to boost the attendance and help with the festivities. The fraternity and sorority slates wiped clean will set the student body free to line up at the Armory door and click through the turnstiles at a ten flat clip.

Doc Stewart has flourished the reduction blade and has cut the admission price to twenty-five cents for all which entitled each to the basketball game and the dance.

Complimentaries have been issued to 150 members of the Nebraska legislature and the university students will be on dress parade during the evening.

MEETING OF EXECUTIVES OF SIGMA PHI EPSILON

The executive committee of Sigma Phi Epsilon has been in session at the local chapter house for the last three days. They were entertained by the local chapter at dinner Saturday and Sunday and at an Orpheum party Saturday evening.

The following officers were present: Francis L. Knass, grand president, Denver, Colorado; Wm. L. Phillips, grand secretary, Richmond, Virginia; F. A. Price, grand historian and deputy for this district, Council Grove, Kansas; and Frank G. Louthan, grand guard, Richmond, Virginia.

Tread Straight and Narrow Path Warns Editor of Evening Shun

"Woe be unto those who block my path," warns I. Gifa Damm, as he gathers his force of scandal-mongers about him in preparation of the feared edition of The Evening Shun.

"Conceal nothing from my faithful followers," is his advice. "Crimes and social blunders, in numbers almost inconceivable, have been committed on the campus this year and it is my sacred duty to see that every evil-doer is brought to task," he affirmed in an interview just after a meal of beef-steak last evening. "Nothing but the truth and the whole truth can save the guilty parties. Any attempt at concealment will bring double punishment."

Several members of the Shun reporter staff are experienced hands at the scandal game and I. Gifa Damm is confident that not an item will be overlooked. Only four weeks remain in which criminals may redeem themselves and the editor advises all to confess their sins to him. He will call a meeting of his trusty cohorts in the sacred chamber this week for an accounting.
