TURN OUT FRIDAY NIGHT

Nebraska's basketball team will be opposed Friday night by the quintet that has been picked by Dr. Stewart as the Cornhuskers' most dangerous rival for second place in the Valley. At the present time, Missouri has unquestionably the strongest aggregation in the Missouri Valley conference, and for Nebraska to overtake the already firm lead of this team, would mean that no more games could be lost for the remainder of the season. Nebraska's aim, then, is to become securely entrenched in the second place position. The battle for this position will no doubt be with Washington University.

Washington lost its first two games this season. These defeats, however, were at the hand of Missouri, and the remaining teams on the St. Louis five's schedule will be more easily disposed of. Rutherford is bringing with his team, several Missouri Valley stars. Both Marquard and Stapleton are veterans with long service records to their credit. Last year, the former was unanimously chosen for all-Missouri Valley center. These facts go to prove that the game Friday night will be one of Nebraska's hardest battles. If Nebraska is able to win both games, she will have a good chance to take the lead over Washington in the race, and put the clamps on second place.

Friday has been declared a "closed night," and as there will be no other social functions, the Armory should be packed. It will be a treat to see an enthusiastic delegation at a basketball game once more. The game is planned for a great pep stimulant, and if a new gymnasium can not be obtained in any other way, perhaps, the volume and swell of the cheering on Friday night, and the overflow of Cornhusker spirit that is expected, will burst the walls from the foundation, and raise the roof from its stays, so that no more remembrance may be had of such a disgrace to the University as stands at the "S" street entrance to the campus. There can be no excuses for non-attendance Friday night, so why not pack the old Armory to the rafters?

STUDENT DIRECTORIES?

Has anyone heard recent tidings as to the probable date of publication of the Directories? We are certain that no such rumors have reached us. Some time ago it was reported that the Directories would be placed on sale sometime before the end of the first semester if students would only register their names at certain places about the campus. Vain hope. Such registration was carried out as requested, but WHERE ARE THE DIRECTORIES? If they do not make their appearance before long, we might as well give up hoping, and content ourselves with the happy thought that we can have all next summer to scan its pages.

What a relief it is to have the pressure of exams removed from our minds. Some of the midnight oil, at least, can now be saved for future use, and we can go about the day's work with a somewhat freer feeling from responsibility. The fagged look is disappearing from the faces of our friends, and we notice that they again take a rosy view on life, for, are not examinations nearly four months away?

who will lead the leaders of these countries. In one part of Latin America where there are over 1,000 villages and 2000,000 people, there have been only two missionaries. This is the case in many places. The principle of brotherhood must come first. We must not close our minds and hearts to the call coming to us now. It is our opportunity to serve humanity."

A tea was given Tuesday afternoon from 4 to 5 o'clock in honor of Mrs. Trout. There was a large attendance of girls. Genevieve Addleman, True Jack, Evelyn Black and Helen Doty served.

MUSICAL CONVOCATION GIVEN EVERY THURSDAY

Musical convocations will be given every Thursday morning this semester, beginning this week. With the exception of the "Messiah," which is presented annually, no musical convocations were given last semester.

The string quartet and organ, under the direction of Mrs. Carrie B. Raymond will present Hayden's Symphony in E flat, No. 10, Thursday at eleven in the Armory.

The four movements are:
 Adagio Vivace assia
 Adagio Cantabile
 Minuetto
 Finale Vivace

a college daily should deserve. A close tab will be kept on fraternities and those who have the highest percentages will be given recognition. Delta Upsilon at present leads the fraternities with the largest number of individual subscriptions. Each fraternity and sorority house will be canvassed by solicitors.

UTAH VARSITY PLAYERS GIVE "A DOLL'S HOUSE"

The play, "A Doll's House," is also being staged this week at the University of Utah. The Utah Chronicle says that "this week being 'dark,' intensive rehearsing is under way on Henrik Ibsen's famous play, 'A Doll's House,' which is to be given the week of February 2 by the varsity players. By some renowned critics this three-act drama is considered the eminent Scandinavian's masterpiece. The leading role of Nora will be played by Ellen Von Volkenberg."

Lea Lipsey will play this part in the same play to be given by the Dramatic club at the Temple theatre, Thursday evening. We venture to say that the varsity players at Utah will have to prove themselves more than excellent to surpass the talent of the Dramatic club players.

Alvin C. Smith, who has recently returned from France where he has been an officer with the engineers, leaves soon for Scottsbluff, where he will start a concrete and cement factory. He graduated from the university with the class of 1914, from the engineering college, and later had a position with the Abel Construction company of Lincoln.

Letters received from Herman B. Thompson, former business manager of the Cornhusker, tell us that he has completed his course of study at Annapolis and has been assigned to the U. S. S. Mississippi, a ensign. He was formerly a civil engineer student. The Mississippi is on her way to Cuba.
