HUSKERS DETERMINED TO WIN CHAMPIONSHIP

Eyes Of Missouri Valley Conference Fixed on Cornhusker-Tiger Game.

Contest Tonight Makes or Breaks Hopes For The Title of Valley.

The arena is all set and when the opening whistle blows at 7:30 tonight, the two strongest basketball teams in the Missouri Valley will meet in mortal combat. The arrogant, hungry Tiger will then leap around the waxen floor in the desperate attempt to finally and forever slay every Cornhusker hope for a championship. This Tiger has devoured every combination of basket tossers that has tried to stop his victorious march and tonight he will fight with all his cunning to dispose of his strongest contender for the royal title "King of the Valley."

The eyes of the whole Missouri Valley Conference are concentrated anxiously on the Cornhusker-Tiger fight this evening. The two teams are undoubtedly the strongest in the valley and their clash will be decisive. The Cornhuskers need both games to get within fighting distance of the pennant while the Tigers will have a strangle hold on the purple rag if they win the set.

The fight tonight absolutely makes or breaks championship hopes for this season. The "dope" gives the edge to the Tigers. They have won six games and lost none while Dr. Stewart's men have won six and lost two. Missouri leads the conference in the total number of points scored this season with 226. Nebraska is second with 186. Captain Jackson of the Cornhuskers and Vogt of the Tigers are tied for the honor of shooting the most floor goals, each having thirty to his credit. Scott of Missouri leads the conference in individual scoring with 73 points. Captain Jackson is second with 69. The dope therefore shows the Tigers and the Cornhuskers as the two strongest teams in the Valley, Missouri having the advantage.

Whether or not the dope proves to be correct depends largely upon the support given the home team. If every loyal Cornhusker is out in the gym at 7:30 tonight, giving the defenders of the scarlet and cream their every ounce of enthusiasm, the big advantage on the side of the Tigers may be overbalanced.

Social functions need not interfere with the attendance. The game will end at 8:30 sharp, and those who do not care about the mixer may wend their various ways. The game between the freshmen and the Armstrong team will begin at 6:15. The admission has been reduced and 25 cents admits any student to the preliminary, the main event, and the mixer.

Coach Jense of Grinnell will referee.

W. A. ROCKIE RETURNS TO THE UNIVERSITY

Will Take Over the Work of Professor Bengston During His Absence.

Y.W.C.A. SPONSORS KITCHEN SHOWER FOR WOMENS HALL

A kitchen shower, sponsored by the Y. W. C. A. and assisted by all girls' organizations, will be given Saturday afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock at the Woman's Hall. The purpose of this party is to furnish the kitchen of the hall with the necessary articles.

Every girl is expected to bring some utensil which can be used in cooking. At the present there is only an old rusty dishpan and a spoon which can be used. Often an organization wishes to serve refreshments at the Woman's Hall after a meeting, but are hindered by the lack of utensils.

There will be a program, dancing and refreshments. Ruth Welch will be in charge. Every university girl is invited and urged to be present.

WRESTLING TEAM CHOSEN TO REPRESENT NEBRASKA

Grapplers To Undergo Intensive Training Before They Meet Ames

The men who will represent Nebraska in the Ames wrestling meet, February 21, with one or two exceptions have now been picked. Troendly won out easily in the 125-pound class, although there is a possibility of Salter representing this class and moving Troendly into the 135. Burley is the probable representative in the 145 pounders. The 158-pound representative has not yet been chosen. Fuchs won his match with Sandstedt by two straight falls and will meet Gibbs tonight for the final decision. The finals Thursday decided that Hoyt would be the heavyweight man. The 175-pound representative has not been chosen, but it will lie between Dobson and Pickwell.

The above men have a hard contest ahead of them. Dr. Clapp, who refereed the Ames-Iowa meet a week ago, says the Iowa Aggies have an extra strong team. They won from Iowa State, 26-14, and according to Dr. Clapp it was the fastest intercollegiate wrestling tournament he ever witnessed. Four out of the six bouts were won on falls and only two by decision. Every match but one was a fast round of fierce aggressive fighting and clean throughout. The meet showed that the quality and standard of intercollegiate wrestling has undergone a remarkable improvement. Dr. Clapp is trying to schedule a big wrestling tournament for Cornhusker-ville.

The Husker wrestling team will undergo a period of intensive training before the Ames contest next Friday night. The Aggies have four experienced men to pit against the Cornhuskers. Lockling in the 135-pound class, Thompson in the 145, Schalk in the 175, and Breeden in the heavy, have proved their prowess in former contests, while the Huskers will be handicapped by a more or less fresh team. Schalk is the man whom Outpaulk failed to throw and consequently will be a mean man to handle. The contest at Ames next Friday night will give Cornhusker fans a good line-up on wrestling hopes.

Tag Day Slogan

A volume of the 1919 Cornhusker will be given to the contributor of the snappiest slogan for the Daily Nebraskan Tag Day subscription campaign to be held Tuesday, February 18. Contributions should be filed at the student activities' office before noon Saturday.

POSTPONE CHARTER DAY CELEBRATION

University Will Not Hold Public Midwinter Commencement This Year.

Sigma Xi and Phi Beta Kappa Address Scheduled for Later Date.

The Charter Day celebration which was planned for tomorrow has been postponed until the spring commencement next May. Coincident with this occasion, the twenty-third annual midwinter commencement has been cancelled at the decision reached by the Board of Regents some time ago.

Saturday marks the fiftieth anniversary of the granting of the charter by the state to the University of Nebraska. It was the plan of the university officials to celebrate the occasion on an elaborate scale, but due to the various obstacles that have confronted the institution, it was decided to hold the anniversary next May.

The mid-winter graduating class is not as large as those of previous years. Mars with his mighty sword has been responsible for the decrease in the size of the class. A number of prospective graduates are still in the service of Uncle Sam. It is the intention of a number of men to resume their studies as soon as possible with the view of participating in the exercises next spring.

The address before the Sigma Xi and Phi Beta Kappa scheduled for this evening has also been postponed to a later date.

SENIOR GIRLS NOMINATE BLACK MASQUE MEMBERS

The selection of junior girls who will compose the list from which the Black Masque, senior girls' honorary society, will elect the new members for next year will be held Monday and Tuesday. At this time all senior women will be allowed to nominate thirteen junior girls whom they consider the most eligible for membership in Black Masque.

"Y" ENTERTAINS SOLDIERS

Friday is to be made the Returned Soldier and Sailor night at the Y. M. C. A. There will be thirty minutes of violin music and informal singing. Secretary Hiltner, physical director of the city association, will stage a few informal boxing bouts. Gana, the wrestler, will explain the latest holds and demonstrate the advantages of physical prowess. Every man who is either at present in the service or discharged is invited.

TO ADDITIONAL NAMES PLACED ON HONOR ROLL

Fraternity and Sorority Subscriptions Must Be In By Saturday Noon.

Pi Phi Chi and Alpha Omicron Pi have added their names to The Daily Nebraskan Honor Roll by subscribing 100 per cent for the official publication of the university. These make a total of ten sororities and six fraternities reporting Thursday night.

In order to get fraternities on the honor roll it is necessary that subscriptions be in by Saturday noon. This is an opportunity for every fraternity and sorority to show their real Cornhusker spirit.

The following sororities and fraternities are now 100 per cent subject.

TWO CO-EDS ENTER SENIOR CLASS RACE

Mary Helen Allensworth and Katharine Newbranch File For Presidency.

Filings Close at Five O'Clock Today. Eleven Candidates Compete for Honors

The second semester political campaign lost some of its apparent dullness yesterday with the announcement that two co-eds would enter the race for senior presidency. They are Mary Helen Allensworth, of Lincoln, and Katharine Newbranch, of Omaha. Dwight Kirsch, of Lincoln, will not be a candidate. Harvey M. Johnson, of Fremont, has filed for the position of Ivy Day orator.

The registration closes at 5 o'clock this afternoon and all who intend to get into the election scrimmage must file their applications with the registrar before that time. None, other than the original candidates, have made their appearance in the other classes. The only other office contested is the presidency of the freshman class.

The election will be held next Tuesday, the polls being open from 9 to 12 o'clock in the morning and from 2 to 5 o'clock in the afternoon. The west end of the Armory will be used for the voting place and the vote of each student will be carefully checked as usual.

Eleven Candidates File

Eleven candidates have filed so far, with the only competition, which has developed, in the senior and freshman classes. These two races promise to lend interest and excitement to the campaign. Other students may possibly come out for political honors at the last moment, but no names have been mentioned in this connection.

Katharine Newbranch and Mary Helen Allensworth, who are seeking the senior class presidency, have both been prominent in class affairs. The entrance of two co-eds into the same field is an unusual feature of the election this year. The position of Ivy Day orator, one of the honors bestowed by the senior class, also, is seldom handed down without some rivalry. Harvey Johnson, a senior in the Law College, is the only one after the job at present.

In the junior and sophomore classes the race appears to be lifeless with but a single filing for each office which members of these classes vote upon. Floyd Stone is now the only one aspiring to head the junior class and the position of editor-in-chief of the Cornhusker which by precedent goes to the junior managing editor will succeed to Harold Gerhart.

In the sophomore class Jess Patty is alone in the field for class president, George Newton is running for junior managing editor of the Cornhusker and Frank Patty has filed for business manager.

Three candidates are fighting among themselves, in what promises to be an evenly divided contest, for the honors of the freshman class. Kenneth Hawkins, Harry Stephens, and Mary Sheldon are conducting vigorous campaigns.

REGENTS MEET SATURDAY TO DECIDE ON DEGREES

The regents will meet Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Chancellor's office to pass on granting the degrees to the students who graduated last semester.

We Can Have Our Pictures in The Cornhusker, But Shall We?

There is a growing tendency among university students to place their organization before their college. This spirit has been shown to a greater degree than ever this year by the way in which the juniors and seniors have failed to respond to the request of the Cornhusker staff for a complete representation in the regular section of the year-book.

Many men and women have felt that in appearing with their organization they have done all that can be expected of them and for that reason they have failed to have their pictures taken for their class section. Others have not thought upon the matter at all or have been too indifferent to do their part for the annual.

If Nebraska is to be a first-class educational unit every student enrolled should be thoroughly loyal to his college first of all and to each individual unit afterwards. The success of every college movement should call forth the interest and co-operation of all real Cornhuskers. The lack of interest shown by the juniors and seniors in the matter of pictures for the Victory Annual points to a lack of the real spirit of loyalty that should prompt men and women as a whole, where their college is concerned.

The year-book staff has earnestly requested the men who have returned from the service to get their pictures in the proper section of the annual and it is more than certain that those who have answered their country's call will do their duty by their college. This week has been granted these men for the purpose of having their pictures taken and this section of the book will be delayed one more week. It is possible that some of the juniors and seniors who have failed to have their pictures taken will be able to do so this week without inconveniencing these men too much.

It may be of interest to these students to know that out of eight hundred enrolled in these two classes but three hundred and fifty have had their pictures taken for this section.
