Deltas and Betas Struggle

The Delta Taus and the Betas staged the fastest round of the series to date by see-sawing throughout the battle, the Delta Taus finally winning 8 to 7. Three times the score was tied and reversed. The exciting sideliners whooped and yelled like the Valley title was at stake. Dr. Clapp's siren cut in on the struggle while the Betas were trying for the lucky shot that would have put them on top of the pile.

The Lineup

Delta Tau Delta (8) Beta Theta Pi (7)

AGGIES IMPROVE CHANCES FOR M. V. CHAMPIONSHIP

husker mixer that the Tigers may pick them clean. The Valley dope fiends have almost given up predictions, for it seems to grow more certain every day that no team will be able to present championship credentials until the final whistles of the season blow in Lincoln and Columbia on March 15.

AMES PAPERS LAUD WORK OF NEBRASKA GRAPPLERS

closed by the following clippings from the Ames Tribune:

"Birch, local 158-pounder, staged a wonderful comeback in the third period of his bout. Fuchs, his opponent, pinned his shoulders to the mat in the second. After bulling around the mat for the first three or four minutes of the last period, Birch went behind and took the aggressive, thereby piling up points sufficient to give him the match."

Dobson Not Thrown

"For the first time in many matches Captain Schalk was forced to be content with a referee's decision. In Dobson, a veteran from last year, Schalk met a worthy foe and although not a great offensive man is a wonderful defensive wrestler."

Nebraska wrestling fans have a great treat in store for them if Dr. Clapp succeeds in bringing the Western Intercollegiate wrestling tournament to Lincoln. The Nebraska coach is trying hard to bring this about, but may not succeed this year and the Cornhusker wrestling season may reach its climax in the university free-for-all, which will be open to all grapplers in the Cornhusker camp.
